Related in Her Letters and Journals George Eliot, John Walter Cross, 1890 Best known for his brief marriage to George Eliot John Walter Cross 1840 1924 compiled this three volume autobiography of 1885 from his late wife's journals and letters Eliot was never married to her long term partner G H Lewes and she courted further scandal when she married Cross twenty years her junior in the spring of 1880 While these volumes offer a valuable insight into Eliot's private reflections what is perhaps most telling is the material left out or rewritten in Cross efforts to lend his wife's unconventional life some respectability which he does at the expense of what one reviewer described as Eliot's salt and spice George Eliot's Life will be of particular interest to scholars of nineteenth century biography and literature Volume 3 focuses on Eliot's final years including her later literary success travels in Spain the death of G H Lewes and her marriage to Cross George Eliot's Life, Complete George Eliot, 2016-01-15 Chapter I In the foregoing introductory sketch I have endeavored to present the influences to which George Eliot was subjected in her youth and the environment in which she grew up I am now able to begin the fulfilment of the promise on the titlepage that the life will be related in her own letters or rather in extracts from her own letters for no single letter is printed entire from the beginning to the end I have not succeeded in obtaining any between 6th January 1836 and 18th August 1838 but from the latter date the correspondence becomes regular and I have arranged it as a continuous narrative with the names of the persons to whom the letters are addressed in the margin The slight thread of narrative or explanation which I have written to elucidate the letters where necessary will hereafter occupy an inside margin so that the reader will see at a glance what is narrative and what is correspondence and will be troubled as little as possible with marks of quotation or changes of type The following opening letter of the series to Miss Lewis describes a first visit to London with her brother Sidenote Letter to Miss Lewis 18th Aug 1838 Let me tell you though that I was not at all delighted with the stir of the great Babel and the less so probably owing to the circumstances attending my visit thither

the author written from extracts from her letters and journals The Transferred Life of George Eliot Philip Davis, 2017-03-09 Reading George Eliot's work was described by one Victorian critic as like the feeling of entering the confessional in which the novelist sees and hears all the secrets of human psychology that roar which lies on the other side of silence This new biography of George Eliot goes beyond the much told story of her life It gives an account of what it means to become a novelist and to think like a novelist in particular a realist novelist for whom art exists not for art's sake but in the exploration and service of human life It shows the formation and the workings of George Eliot's mind as it plays into her creation of some of the greatest novels of the Victorian era When at the age of 37 Marian Evans became George Eliot this change followed long mental preparation and personal suffering During this time she related her power of intelligence to her capacity for feeling discovering that her thinking and her art had to combine both That was the great ambition of her novels not to be mere pastimes or fictions but experiments in life and helps in living through the deepest account of human complexity available Philip Davis's illuminating new biography will enable you both to see through George Eliot's eyes and to feel what it is like to be seen by her in the imaginative involvement of her readers with her characters George Eliot (Marian Evans) Kerry McSweeney, 1991-01-01 George Eliot's Life George Eliot, 2018-09-17 Mary Anne Evans 22 November 1819 22 December 1880 alternatively Mary Ann or Marian known by her pen name George Eliot was an English novelist poet journalist translator and one of the leading writers of the Victorian era She authored seven novels including Adam Bede 1859 The Mill on the Floss 1860 Silas Marner 1861 Middlemarch 1871 72 and Daniel Deronda 1876 most of which are set in provincial England and known for their realism and psychological insight George Eliot Brenda Maddox, 2009 In this wonderful addition to the Eminent Lives series widely acclaimed biographer Brenda Maddox sheds a fascinating new light on the life of legendary novelist George Eliot On 22 November 1819 Mary Ann Evans was born on a farm in rural Warwickshire In 1880 she died in London as George Eliot one of the most famous authors of her generation Today she is celebrated as one of the greatest novelists in history a woman who not only captured her readers' imaginations but won their hearts Her many novels are as appreciated now as they were in the nineteenth century but her unconventional and intriguing personal life a story in itself is less well known Raised in obscurity Mary Ann Evans was fiercely intellectual from an early age She moved from one school to the next a bright fervent child with a nervous disposition As a young and conspicuously plain woman without prospect of romance by the time she was in her twenties Mary Ann had resigned herself to a life alone But a move to London in pursuit of journalistic work proved fateful For it was there that she met the married George Henry Lewes an author and scientist whose intellect and nervous energy matched her own When Mary Ann took him as a partner defying the crippling social censure that followed her life changed forever Taking Lewes's name in her private life Mary Ann as George Eliot produced novel after novel redefining English literature as she did so In this revealing biography Brenda Maddox explores the woman behind the books a troubled child an ambitious young career woman and an
