Newsletter for Research in Mental Health and Behavioral Sciences, 1973 Understanding the Adult-Child Relationship William Lyman Camp FACAPP, 2022-02-09 Is there really more of a generation gap today than there was in the past We believe there is There has always been a struggle between the generations just there has always been a struggle between the sexes In the past however in an autocratic society this rebellion could not come out into the open With the advent of the state of equality which we have reached in the United States since World War II however this evolution has begun to change or emerge more rapidly We now see a low level rebellion of all those persons who were earlier in an inferior position Said more generally we cannot understand this change including a rebellion of youth if we consider it as an isolated phenomenon This quiet struggle of youth is part of a general sometimes not so quiet rebellion of the disenfranchised in our society Many women no longer let themselves be controlled by men children no longer allow it by adults labor no longer allow it by management and minorities especially Blacks and Hispanics no longer accept the supremacy of Whites Caucasians So we have to understand that this struggle on all fronts is part of the same rebellion The goal of this book is to outline the dynamics and processes involved The author's intent is to highlight the evolving relationship between adults and children as part of this process Understanding and Managing the Difficult Child William Lyman Camp FACAPP, 2021-12-15 While working with parents and children for nearly half a century it has become increasingly evident that the Adlerian child psychology methods as outlined in this book are effective when applied to family conflicts They have been tested by numerous teachers counselors and others in many locations over many years Many parents have discovered for themselves that these strategies engage their children and win their cooperation Still parents often do not know why children act as they do or why they succeed or fail The information and recommendations in this book are based on a philosophy of life and concept of human nature and behavior first presented by Alfred Adler Rudolph Dreikurs and others The parenting methods they recommended have become increasingly accepted and used during recent decades in Europe and North America They do not suggest either permissiveness or punishment but instead methods for use by parents which emphasize wise guidance of children without either overcontrolling them or stifling their creative spirit With more secure knowledge of what to do parents can improve their parenting using techniques and strategies that work Parents are too often faced with child raising challenges for which they are not prepared Just as the child needs training so do parents Ideas presented in the pages of this book suggest new ways to respond to a child's provocations that can lead to new attitudes and parental behaviors These can and often do lead in turn to new and productive approaches and methods that allow more harmonious relationships to develop But why do children act as they do And why do these methods enable parents to succeed The information included in this volume was designed to answer these and related questions as well as to present a set of principles in a form readily usable by parents in the home teachers in the classroom and other adults in other circumstances and situations

Parenting Our Children in a Changing World William L. Camp FACAPP,2021-09-09 During the last several generations developments in the field of education and child guidance have begun to corroborate a set of ideas and observations presented here which were first presented in Europe during the first third of the last century and refined during the last third Many of these concepts which were controversial when first suggested are now being further developed and are becoming generally accepted by modern psychologists and educators The focal point for corrective child raising procedures has shifted toward changing the interaction between parent and child as the fact that parents often need specific instruction in child raising has found wider acceptance Today we need and are developing new traditions for raising children which will better conform to the democratic principles for family living which now define and give meaning to the location we now all occupy in the process of democratic evolution in our society Although many parents may realize that children cannot be treated as they were in the past they do not know what else to do when children misbehave Following the specific suggestions which are summarized in this book many parents have discovered for themselves that these ways to reach children and win their cooperation do indeed work well As this information which includes specific methods has been used and tested by parents for the solution of family problems it has become evident that the system and procedures are effective But why do children act as they do And why do these methods enable parents to succeed The information included in this book was designed to answer these and related questions as well as to present a set of principles in a form readily usable by parents in the home teachers in the classroom and other adults in other circumstances and situations Rudolf Dreikurs, M.D.-Adlerian Psychology William L. Camp Ph.D. FACAPP, 2022-07-25 Rudolf Dreikurs MD was an Australian born American psychiatrist and educator who lived from 1897 to 1972 He originally helped to develop the Australian psychologist Alfred Adler s ideas called individual psychology into a pragmatic method for understanding the purposes of inappropriate childhood behavior without punishment or reward He worked with Dr Adler both in Europe and in the United States and later organized and refined Dr Adler s and his own ideas into an effective treatment system These insights and treatment methods were then further refined by Dr Dreikurs during the remainder of his life to become a highly usable theory of personality and psychological treatment not only for use with children but also with families counselors teachers and others including groups The content of this book summarizes the results of his commitment and mission in doing this work as he created tested refined and applied these concepts in creation of methods for understanding and treatment of a wide variety of behavior problems and disorders common in families worldwide He also trained people to use these methods in various countries throughout the world In doing so he adapted and applied his knowledge in work with business industry and government including the military The ideas and methods contained in this volume are easily understood and may be applied immediately by parents and their families by teachers in classrooms and by others now today with valuable positive results The chapters in this book provide a distillation of logical techniques and procedures for productive application of his original insights including those originated by Dr Adler and others Dr Camp had the honor to meet Dr Dreikurs in 1970 two years before his death At that time Dr Dreikurs told him and a few others that if he had their youth he would write another book or books to further update and share his insights with new upcoming generations This volume is part of an attempt to do exactly that
