challenge Western gender conventions These disruptive effects are sustained in Reed s analysis which undermines conventional scholarly investments in the heroism of avant garde accomplishment and ideals of cultural authenticity

Preservation and the Imagined West Judy Mattivi Morley,2006-09-12 Stroll through Larimer Square in Denver or through Pioneer Square in Seattle and you feel that you re stepping into history while browsing the expensive boutiques and tourist shops But are you In this intriguing study of some of America s favorite places Judy Morley takes a fresh look at adaptive reuse efforts in cities of the former frontier Focusing on urban preservation resulting from the competing interests of architectural preservationists city planners chambers of commerce and boosters she shows how developers have often taken artistic license to refashion the western past into shopping centers and tourist traps in ways that privilege an imagined heritage over a more complex history Examining Old Town Albuquerque Larimer Square and LoDo in Denver and Pioneer Square and Pike Place Market in Seattle Morley describes the creation and marketing of western heritage under the guise of historic preservation She draws on extensive interviews city council proceedings and historic plats and photographs to construct a detailed picture of how these districts originally looked and were used how they were renovated and to what ends they were marketed This is the first book to systematically address issues of historic preservation and western urban growth examining the interplay of identity preservation and tourism It identifies the economic political and social issues that transformed each historic district into a place that resonated with the popular imagination Along the way Morley exposes the ironies that have attracted criticism to historic districts such as Old Town Albuquerque s celebration of Hispanic heritage even though Hispanic residents were displaced during the renovation or Larimer Square s hiding of its actual skid row past beneath a veneer of more tourist friendly history But while critics charge that historic preservation often celebrates a sanitized past Morley suggests that these locales offer both residents and visitors a window on a shared romantic history and a sense of belonging serving as vital locations for community festivals holiday events and even public gatherings in times of tragedy Historic Preservation and the Imagined West argues that although these districts did not so much preserve history as create mythic identities for their cities they have in their way reconciled the past with the needs of the future

Seattle and the Roots of Urban Sustainability Jeffrey Craig Sanders, 2010-08-29 Seattle often called the Emerald City did not achieve its green clean and sustainable environment easily This thriving ecotopia is the byproduct of continuing efforts by residents businesses and civic leaders alike In Seattle and the Roots of Urban Sustainability Jeffrey Craig Sanders examines the rise of environmental activism in Seattle amidst the urban crisis of the 1960s and its aftermath Like much activism during this period the environmental movement began at the grassroots level in local neighborhoods over local issues Sanders links the rise of local environmentalism to larger movements for economic racial and gender equality and to a counterculture that changed the social and political landscape He examines emblematic battles that erupted over the planned demolition of Pike Place Market a local landmark and environmental organizing in the Central District during the War on Poverty Sanders also relates the story of Fort Lawton a decommissioned army base where Audubon Society members and Native American activists feuded over future land use The rise and popularity of environmental consciousness among Seattle's residents came to influence everything from industry to politics planning and global environmental movements Yet as Sanders reveals it was in the small local struggles that urban environmental activism began

Stirring Up Seattle R. M. Campbell, 2014-11-01 In the 1950s the city of Seattle began a transformation from an insular provincial outpost to a vibrant and cosmopolitan cultural center As veteran Seattle journalist R M Campbell illustrates in Stirring Up Seattle Allied Arts in the Civic Landscape this transformation was catalyzed in part by the efforts of a group of civic arts boosters originally known as The Beer and Culture Society This merry band of lawyers architects writers designers and university professors eventually known as Allied Arts of Seattle lobbied for public funding for the arts helped avert the demolition of Pike Place Market and were involved in a wide range of crusades and campaigns in support of historic preservation cultural institutions and urban livability
