Connectionist Models of Musical Thinking Harold E. Fiske, 2004 For the past decade Fiske's music U of Western Ontario has been using neural network models to test his theory that musical thinking can be described as a hierarchy of progressively more intricate pattern comparison activity and that the resulting musical realizations are limited to only three cognitive category types He describes the development of his theory several related experimental studies and the neural network models he uses to test the theory Neural network methodology can seem daunting he admits so he has tried to keep technical descriptions to a minimum in order to highlight his main goal to describe and test a set of principles that appear to represent the foundation of musical understanding Annotation 2004 Book News Inc Portland OR booknews.com

A Comprehensive Biography of Composer Gustav Holst, with Correspondence and Diary Excerpts Jon C. Mitchell, 2001. Based upon and containing many of Holst's own personal letters, diaries, and notebook entries, this study provides an intimate portrait of this larger-than-life personality. Many of Holst's innermost thoughts regarding musical composition, performance, and music education are disclosed here. In addition, there is a significant amount of information concerning Holst's work ethics at all six of his places of employment. It also provides a view of the composer from this side of the Atlantic, shedding considerable light on Holst's plans and activities regarding his three American visits that is not found in the other biographies. A significant number of chapters are devoted to Holst's 1932 semester-long lectureship at Harvard University. The appendices include examples of Holst's manuscripts, thumbnail sketches of persons associated with his career, and unique to this text, a chronological listing of his compositions. Classical Music's Evocation of the Myth of Childhood Ian Sharp, 2000. This work seeks to fill an important gap in the music education literature: the significance of important music by important composers and the essence of the childhood experience. It aims to avoid being yet another teaching methodology. Instead, Ian Sharp links an analysis of childhood qua childhood with music expressly about childhood. Theory and Composition of Percussion Music Geary Larrick, 2004. Larrick shares his knowledge of the theory and composition of percussion music. In the first section, more than a dozen brief entries address such topics as music education's treatment of drummers and the notation of Western music. The third section contains bibliographical references for a wide range of materials relating to percussion. A life-long performer, Larrick is the author of a number of scholarly books on percussion.
