Designed for would-be filmmakers of all experience levels, this book explains how to make a good commercially successful low budget movie in the current multi-million dollar Hollywood climate. The purpose is not only to show how to get movies made and distributed but also how to maximize a film's potential for significant profit. Written in practical understandable terms, the book covers everything from commercially viable genres to the most efficient film and video formats along with tips on hiring stars, pursuing investors, distributing and marketing a film, and keeping track of expenses. Movie Moguls Speak Steven Priggé, 2004-01-01 In the film world today, there is extraordinary attention paid to actors, actresses, and directors, yet the producers who gave many of them their first breaks and helped mold their careers have managed to remain outside the limelight. This work covers producers who gave early breaks to actors and actresses like Al Pacino and Demi Moore, directors like Steven Spielberg and Todd Haynes, and writers like Aaron Sorkin. These legends may never have become known if not for their producers behind the scenes. Insight and ability to recognize talent. In an accessible and relatable tone, the book covers the filmmaking process from plot ideation to film distribution without getting bogged down in the complicated details. Written by an experienced writer and filmmaker, the book shows you how to create content from script to screen that can connect with an audience. It does so by considering classic storytelling templates like Aristotle's Three Act Structure and Joseph Campbell's The Hero's Journey, as well as examining a variety of successful short films, analyzing what makes them work or not, and why. To support learning, it also provides a list of recommended short films to study, with brief background information on each. This is supplemented with the author's personal experiences of writing and making films, along with exclusive insights from successful Hollywood and independent writers and producers. There are also questions and prompts at the end of each chapter, uniquely designed to guide the reader through the step-by-step profiles Cobb's writing captures the crises, characters, movements and art of an era and helps readers understand what might be coming next. Cobb has added new material to this collection: retrospective pieces that bring these stories up to date and tie them together, shaping these powerful short dispatches into a cohesive epic narrative of one of the most consequential periods in recent American history. Boys' Life, 1971-12: Boys' Life is the official youth magazine for the Boy Scouts of America. Published since 1911, it contains a proven mix of news, nature, sports, history, fiction, science, comics, and Scouting.

Regional Horror Films, 1958-1990 Brian Albright, 2012-11-08: During the second half of the 20th century, landmark works of the horror film genre were as much the product of enterprising regional filmmakers as of the major studios. From backwoods Utah to the Louisiana bayous to the outer boroughs of New York, independent regional films like Night of the Living Dead, Last House on the Left, I Spit on Your Grave, The Texas Chain Saw Massacre, and The Evil Dead stood at the vanguard of horror cinema. This overview of regionally produced horror and science fiction films includes interviews with 13 directors and producers who operated far from mainstream Hollywood, along with a state-by-state listing of regionally produced genre films made between 1958 and 1990. Highlighting some of the most influential horror films of the past 50 years, this work celebrates not only regional filmmaking but also a cultural regionalism that is in danger of vanishing.
