Proceedings, 2008 Handbook of Theories of Aging Vern L. Bengtson, Vern L. Bengtson, PhD, Richard Settersten, 2016-05-28 This state of the art handbook will keep researchers and practitioners in gerontology abreast of the newest theories and models of aging With virtually all new contributors and content this edition contains 35 chapters by the most highly respected luminaries in the field It addresses theories and concepts built on cumulative knowledge in four disciplinary areas biology psychology social sciences and policy and practice as well as landmark advances in trans disciplinary science With its explicit focus on theory the handbook is unique in providing essential knowledge about primary explanations for aging spanning from cells to societies The chapters in the third edition place a strong emphasis on the future of theory development assessing the current state of theories and providing a roadmap for how theory can shape research and vice versa in years to come Many chapters also address connections between theories and policy or practice Each set of authors has been asked to consider how theories in their area address matters of diversity and inequalities in aging and how theories might be revised or tested with these matters in mind The third edition also contains a new section Standing on the Shoulders of Giants which includes personal essays by senior gerontologists who share their perspectives on the history of ideas in their fields and on their experiences with the process and prospects of developing good theory Hallmarks of the Third Edition Highlights important gains in trans disciplinary theories of aging Emphasizes the future of theory development

Provides insightson theory development from living legends in gerontology Examines what human diversity and inequality mean for aging theories Emphasizes interconnections between theory research intervention and policy Underscores international issues with greater representation of international authors Includes section introductions by the editors and associate editors that summarize theoretical developments Key Features Highlightsvariability and diversity in aging processes from the cellular level of biological aging to the societal level of public policy Provides insightson theory development from living legends in gerontology Offers intergenerational interdisciplinary and international perspectives Disseminates a forward thinking future oriented focus in theory development

Animal Signaling and Function Duncan J. Irschick,Mark Briffa,Jeffrey Podos,2015-01-20 The diversity of animal signals has been widely documented and the generality of animal signals also tantalizingly suggests that there are common mechanisms that have selected for their origin However while much progress has been made on some fronts we still lack a general theory about why the diversity of signaling structures exist Our compilation will directly address this gap by focusing on an exciting new arena of sexual selection namely using functional approaches to understand signaling This approach is rooted in the idea that many signals are designed to transmit important functional information that is both important for issues of male quality and hence male competition and female choice The increasing use of technology in sexual selection studies has enabled researchers to test whether signaling is either constrained by or accurately transmits information about functional capacities Further in animals that fight vigorously functional capacities such as endurance or strength may make the difference between winning and losing This volume brings together a diverse collection of researchers who are actively investigating how function and signaling are related These researchers use both a variety of methods and taxa to study animal signaling and we believe that this integrative view is important to open up fresh vistas for why animal signals have evolved

Alternative Reproductive Tactics Rui F. Oliveira,Michael Taborsky,H. Jane Brockmann,2008-03-13 The study of alternative reproductive tactics the behavioural strategies used by individuals to increase their reproductive success is an evolutionary puzzle and one of great interest to researchers For instance why do some males guard both nest and eggs while others sneak into nests while pairs are spawning and fertilise those eggs The field offers a special opportunity to study the evolution and functional causes of phenotypic variation which is a general problem in the field of evolutionary biology By integrating both mechanistic psychological and evolutionary behavioural ecology perspectives and by covering a great diversity of species Alternative Reproductive Tactics addresses this integrated topic of longstanding interest bringing together a multitude of otherwise scattered information in an accessible form that is ideal for graduate students and researchers

Testosterone Research Trends L. I. Ardis,2007 Testosterone is a steroid hormone from the androgen group Testosterone is primarily secreted in the testes of males and the ovaries of females although small amounts are secreted by the adrenal glands It is the principal male sex hormone and an anabolic steroid In both males and females it plays key roles in health and well being Examples include enhanced libido energy immune function and protection against osteoporosis On average the adult male body produces about twenty times the amount of testosterone that an adult female s body does This book presents new and important research in this field from around the world Mechanisms of Life History Evolution Thomas Flatt,Andreas Heyland,2011-05-12 This interdisciplinary volume unites evolutionary and molecular biologists from various fields life history theory molecular biology developmental biology aging phenotypic plasticity social behaviour and endocrinology who use studies of molecular mechanisms to solve fundamental questions in life history evolution in a variety of organisms Ecology and Evolution of
