Role of Plantation Crops in Agriculture Development Somu Giriappa, 2022 Plantation crops have been traditional export earners but their importance declined when industrial and engineering goods become major export products Interest in them was revived through new technology and marketing methods Plantation crop development is another way of containing the environmental deterioration caused by the modern agro systems Plantation and forestry could go hand in hand and could develop what is called a forestry plantation system Plantation development if it is in wasteland could propagate mixed crop species along with soil conservation and linkage with other sectors thus improving the role of plantation crops Thous coconut and arecanut are classified as palms an attempt is made in this study to include them and study some other plantation crops like cashewnut to the development of agricultural and the rural sector in the particular region The study is divided into two parts Part I comprising coconut arecanut and Part II Cashewnut

Soil Fertility

Decline in the Tropics Alfred E. Hartemink, 2003 Wide coverage of soils and perennial cropping systems in the tropics Synthesis of decades of research Challenges assumptions on the benefits of plantations for soil fertility It is generally assumed that soil fertility decline is widespread in the tropics and that this is largely associated with annual cropping and subsistence farming In contrast perennial plant cover as in plantation agriculture provides better protection for the soil This book reviews these concepts focusing on soil chemical changes under different land use systems in the tropics These include perennial crops annual crops and forest plantations Two case studies on sisal plantations in Tanzania and sugar cane in

Papua New Guinea are presented for detailed analysis The author demonstrates that soil fertility decline is also a problem on plantations

Arecanut Production and Marketing in India S. Giriappa,1994 One such crop is arecanut in the west coast and in the north east An attempt is made in this book to study the cultivation and marketing of arecanut in the producing and consuming centers This book will be of great value for those interested in the marketing of agricultural commodities especially with regard to arecanut

Agricultural Development in Asia and Africa Jonna P. Estudillo,Yoko Kijima,Tetsushi Sonobe,2022-12-01 This Open Access book explores the multifaceted nature of agricultural and rural development in Asia and examines the extent to which the Asian experience is being replicated in contemporary Africa This volume compiles the works of top scholars who provided analyses and evidences from household level surveys collected for many years in several parts of Asia and Africa The most important finding presented in this book is that African agricultural development has evolved following the pathways of Asian agricultural development The common pathways are borrowed technology from abroad and adaptive research in rice farming secured property rights on natural resources adoption of ICTs investments in human capital including training and launching of the high value agriculture In both continents agricultural development started in the crop sector which had a strong tendency to induce the dynamic development of other sectors in rural areas

The Geography of Tropical African Development A. M. O'Connor,2014-06-28 This best selling textbook focuses on the changes in geographical patterns that have taken place in recent years i e on the geographical pattern of recent and current economic change The area covered includes the countries lying between the limits of the Tropic of Cancer and the Tropic of Capricorn In this second edition substantial changes have been made in every chapter in order to keep up to date in respect of both the geographical pattern of development and prevailing attitudes towards it The discussion is still largely confined to the twenty year period between 1956 and 1976 and to the economic component of development

Changing sources of growth in Indian agriculture: Implications for regional priorities for accelerating agricultural growth Birthal, Pratap Singh, Joshi, Pramod Kumar, Negi, Digvijay S., Agarwal, Shaily, 2014 Indian agriculture was transforming from a cereal based production system toward high value crops HVC during the 1990s However food security concerns resurfaced during the first decade of the 21st century and the policy environment tilted in favor of cereal based production systems especially rice and wheat This paper revisits an earlier study to evaluate how the policy shift influences the patterns and the sources of agricultural growth in India and assesses their implications for regional priorities for higher more sustainable and more inclusive agricultural growth

CLIMATE CHANGE AND AGRICULTURE OVER INDIA G.S.L.H.V. PRASADA, V.U.M. RAO, G.G.S.N. RAO, 2010-04-17 Global warming has led to climate change which in turn has led to frequent occurrence of floods droughts and cold and heat waves affecting the productivity of food grain in a large measure This book studies the effects of regional climate change on the agriculture sector in different states of India The book also discusses the impact of global warming on the agriculture sector across the world and describes in particular how climate change variability is affecting rainfall temperature and land in various states of India It also suggests adaptation techniques which can be evolved to neutralize the adverse effects of climate change Besides the text explains the need for weather risk management agromet advisory services weather insurance and the principles and practices of integrated watershed management through a consortium of approaches for mitigating the adverse impact of climate change in the semi arid tropics This book with contributions from experts in the field and edited by academics who are authority on the subject should prove to be extremely useful to undergraduate and postgraduate students of Agriculture planners policy makers and administrators

Climate Change Adaptation Strategies in Agriculture and Allied Sectors GSLHV Prasad Rao, 2011-03-01 Weather related disasters like occurrence of floods droughts heat wave and cold waves is not uncommon across the Country It is true world over Increase in sea surface temperature and sea level has potential impact on monsoon uncertainties water resources shift in coastal population and marine products Vulnerability to extreme weather events is higher than vulnerability to changing average climatic conditions The society linked sectors like agriculture biodiversity fisheries forestry water resources human and animal health and infrastructure are the worst sufferers in the event of weather uncertainties As a result it is realized that food security is under threat due to global warming The book deals with climate change impacts and adaptation strategies in agriculture horticulture plantation crops in the humid tropics livestock fisheries forestry water resources and biodiversity The invited and research papers included in the book provide clues for developing adaptation and mitigation strategies in coping up with the expected climate change in future Although global foodgrains production is likely to increase in tune with rising population and demand in ensuing decades it may suffer unless new approaches to adapt crop plants to climate change are adopted Therefore Research and education policy in climate change adaptation and mitigation is the need of the hour to address the climate issues in various sectors as the frequency of occurrence of floods and droughts cold and heat waves are likely to increase under projected climate change scenarios and a threat to food security
