Russian Symbolism A Study Of Vyacheslav:

Russian Symbolism James D. West, 1970 Russian Symbolism James West, 1972 A History of Russian Symbolism Ronald E. Peterson, 1993-07-09 The era of Russian Symbolism 1892 1917 has been called the Silver Age of Russian culture and even the Second Golden Age Symbolist authors are among the greatest Russian authors of this century and their activities helped to foster one of the most significant advances in cultural life in poetry prose music theater and painting that has ever been seen there This book is designed to serve as an introduction to Symbolism in Russia as a movement an artistic method and a world view The primary emphasis is on the history of the movement itself Attention is devoted to what the Symbolists wrote said and thought and on how they interacted In this context the main actors are the authors of poetry prose drama and criticism but space is also devoted to the important connections between literary figures and artists philosophers and the intelligentsia in general This broad detailed and balanced account of this period will serve as a standard reference work an encourage further research among scholars and students of literature Russian Literary Criticism R. H. Stacy, 1974-04-01 Russian Literary Criticism is a survey of the various ways in which representative Russian critics from the eighteenth century to the twentieth century have viewed not only the literary works of other Russian and non Russian writers but also the problems of literature in general Primarily intended for readers who do not know Russian this book discusses the major Russian critics and critical movements The author provides sufficient historical and political background to enable the reader to understand both the literary situation and the problems facing Russian critics at any given time whether the influx of various ideologies official Soviet views or dissident opinion form the Decembrists to Solzhenitsyn A History of Russian Philosophy 1830-1930 G. M. Hamburg, Randall A. Poole, 2010-04-22 The great age of Russian philosophy spans the century between 1830 and 1930 from the famous Slavophile Westernizer controversy of the 1830s and 1840s through the Silver Age of Russian culture at the beginning of the twentieth century to the formation of a Russian philosophical emigration in the wake of the Russian Revolution This volume is a major history and interpretation of Russian philosophy in this period Eighteen chapters plus a substantial introduction and afterword discuss Russian philosophy s main figures schools and controversies while simultaneously pursuing a common central theme the development of a distinctive Russian tradition of philosophical humanism focused on the defence of human dignity As this volume shows the century long debate over the meaning and grounds of human dignity freedom and the just society involved thinkers of all backgrounds and positions transcending easy classification as religious or secular The debate still resonates strongly today Russian Dramatic Theory from Pushkin to the Symbolists Laurence P. Senelick, 2014-09-10 Although younger than most European theatrical traditions the Russian professional theater has generated an exciting body of criticism and theory which until recently has remained unknown or nearly inaccessible in the West This anthology presents a selection of important Russian writing on the aesthetics of drama and the theater from 1828 to 1914 The focus of these essays most published here for the first time in English is on the so called Crisis in the Theater of 1904 to 1914 a lively debate between the symbolists and the naturalists that evoked brilliant polemic writing from Meyerhold Bely Bryusov and others Along with Chekhov s amusing critique of Sarah Bernhardt monstrously facile and Ivanov s abstruse analysis of the essence of tragedy the essays form a running commentary on the development of the Russian theater Pushkin on his predecessors Gogol on his own work Belinsky on Gogol Sleptsov on Ostrovsky and Leskov Bely on Chekhov s The Cherry Orchard enervated people trying to forget the terror of life the symbolists on one another Each selection is printed in its entirety with extensive notes and a lengthy introduction places all the pieces within their historical and cultural contexts to comprise a brief history of Russian dramatic theory before the revolution This volume is essential reading for all who wish to extend their knowledge of the Russian contribution to theatrical history theory and criticism

A Semiotic Analysis of the Short Stories of Leonid Andreev, 1900-1909 Stephen Hutchings, 1990 This book applies the techniques of semiotic analysis to a selection of short stories by Leonid Andreev in an attempt to offer one answer to the problems of categorizing Andreev s unique art and placing it within a literary evolutionary perspective Drawing on a range of literary theory from early Russian Formalism onwards the study proceeds from one level to another according to a principle of degree of abstraction so that each level constitutes firstly an independent account of Andreev s texts in itself and secondly one stage in an overall analysis

Deification in Russian Religious Thought Ruth Coates, 2019-09-12 Deification in Russian Religious Thought considers the reception of the Eastern Christian Orthodox doctrine of deification by Russian religious thinkers of the immediate pre revolutionary period Deification is the metaphor that the Greek patristic tradition came to privilege in its articulation of the Christian concept of salvation to be saved is to be deified that is to share in the divine attribute of immortality In the Christian narrative of the Orthodox Church God became human so that humans might become gods Ruth Coates shows that between the revolutions of 1905 and 1917 Russian religious thinkers turned to deification in their search for a commensurate response to the apocalyptic dimension of the universally anticipated destruction of the Russian autocracy and the social and religious order that supported it Focusing on major works by four prominent thinkers of the Russian Religious Renaissance Dmitry Merezhkovsky Nikolai Berdiaev Sergei Bulgakov and Pavel Florensky Coates demonstrates the salience of the deification theme and explores the variety of forms of its expression She argues that the reception of deification in this period is shaped by the discourse of early Russian cultural modernism and informed not only by theology but also by nineteenth century currents in Russian religious culture and German philosophy particularly as these are received by the novelist Fedor Dostoevsky and the philosopher Vladimir Soloviev In the works that are analysed deification is taken out of its original theological context and applied respectively to politics creativity economics and asceticism At the same time all the thinkers represented in the book view deification as a project a practice that should deliver the total transformation and immortalisation of human beings society culture and the material universe and this is what connects them to deification's theological source A Coat of Many Colors Gregory Freidin, 2010-05-13 Freidin writes just the kind of criticism Mandelstam wrote and which he would have loved grounded in careful reading but never timid quirky but never merely eccentric the product of a mind and sensibility keenly alive to the times both historical and critical Nothing I have read on Mandelstam has so provoked my own thinking as has Freidin's work It is stimulating in every sense of the word and will move the study of Mandelstam off the point at which it has been stuck for far too long John E Malmstad Harvard University Combining as it does sensitive close readings of the Mandelstam texts with an uncommonly wide range of literary and sociocultural reference A Coat of Many Colors is a welcome and significant addition to the body of scholarship bearing on one of our century's finest poets Victor Erlich Yale University
