Newman, Sylvia A.

Rosenfield, 2024-01-22 Building Competence in School Consultation Second Edition directly addresses the need for practical comprehensive consultation training including support materials for school psychologists counselors and other professionals working in schools School psychologists consistently indicate that consultation is a crucial component of their duties but that they lack sufficient opportunities to develop their corresponding knowledge skills and confidence during graduate training Drawing from evidence based approaches as well as experienced instructors real world toolkits these essential perspectives and activities approach the standard and less common challenges of the school consultant role Written by two leading experts in consultation this book brings school psychology research directly to graduate students and both novice and experienced practitioners providing invaluable context reflection activities videos from fellow consultation experts and resources that translate academic findings into skills ready for immediate use This revised and expanded second edition includes two new chapters one on collaboration and consultation on teams and another on teleconsultation along with thoroughly updated content related to socially just and culturally responsive consultation practices refreshed practice materials including rubrics and videos references to newly published research and the latest professional standards and updated activities for readers all of which are freely downloadable Becoming a School Consultant Sylvia

Rosenfield, 2012-05-22 Most consultation courses in school psychology focus heavily on theoretical models of consultation and associated intervention procedures Little time is devoted to developing communication and process skills Yet these process skills are key to properly identifying student problems and selecting appropriate interventions Without skillfully conducted consultations implementation and evaluation of an intervention can be minimal This book is designed to help students develop the process skills needed to become effective school consultants in consultee centered consultation with special emphasis on the instructional consultation model The authors address specific skills and issues faced by novice consultants and documents how they worked through particular issues that are likely to occur in school consultation practice

Handbook of Multicultural School Psychology Emilia C. Lopez, Sara G. Nahari, Sherrie Proctor, 2017-03-16 The second edition of the Handbook of Multicultural School Psychology continues the mission of its predecessor offering a comprehensive interdisciplinary view of the field of multicultural school psychology and addressing the needs of children and families from diverse cultural backgrounds. The revised organizational structure includes the following: History and Professional Issues; Consultation and Collaboration; Interventions Focused on Academic and Mental Health Issues; Data-based Decision Making; Systems-based Issues; Training and Research; and Future Perspectives. Nineteen of the volume's twenty-three chapters are completely new to this edition while the rest have been effectively revised and updated. Comprehensive in seven sections, this book covers theoretical research and practical concerns in a wide range of areas that include multicultural and bilingual issues, second language acquisition, acculturation, parent collaboration, research, and systemic issues. Chapter Structure: Chapter authors follow a uniform structure that includes theoretical and research issues and implications for practice. Recent practice and training guidelines including Blueprint for Training and Practice III 2006 NASP Model for Comprehensive and Integrated School Psychological Services 2010 and APA Multicultural Guidelines 2003 are covered. Interdisciplinary Perspective: Contributing authors are from a wide range of related fields that include school psychology, special education, general education, early childhood education, educational psychology, clinical psychology, counseling, and mental health, thus exposing readers to theory and research from various approaches. Changes New to this edition: a section focusing on systemic issues such as overrepresentation of culturally and linguistically diverse CLD students in special education, prejudice response to intervention, RTI for CLD students, and English Language Learners (ELL) and end-of-chapter discussion questions. This book is ideal for graduate courses and seminars on multicultural school psychology. It is also a useful reference for researchers and practicing school psychologists and the libraries that serve them.

Entry Strategies for School Consultation Edward S. Marks, 1995-03-17 Using a holistic approach to take intervention from an individual to a systemic level, this book focuses on the front-line practical issues faced by the consultant attempting to gain entry into a school. Opening with a review of consultation and its purposes, this unusually practical volume describes in detail how to: Define consultant functions; Make decisions about where to enter the system; Build support among key school system staff who are in a position to facilitate initial entry; Garner information on the school's lines of authority, communication networks, missions, values, goals, and traditions; Determine how practical the project is to the school; Ascertain whether financial, personnel, and other resources are available so the project can work. Chapters also cover logistical planning, especially the day-to-day steps needed to facilitate consultation, including time management, utilization of existing school resources, sources of information, and practical ways to turn obstacles into assets. A comprehensive guide to entering the school system as a consultant, the book comes complete with prototype forms, questionnaires for examining consultant competency, and rating sheets for tracking the consultation process. Veteran consultants and newcomers will find this book an invaluable resource for gaining initial entry and also for expanding the consultant's role within the system. School
