Out Of Harms Way Moving Cape Hatteras Lighthouse:

Out of Harm's Way Mike Booher, Lin Ezell, 2001 The complete inside story of the 1999 move of the Cape Hatteras Lighthouse which was called the move of the century an engineering feat never before equalled Many said the 200 foot high Cape Hatteras Lighthouse would collapse before it reached its final destination more than half a mile inland Some said the historic lighthouse should be preserved in its original position and not be moved at all but something had to save the lighthouse from the encroaching Atlantic In the end the US Park Service engineers and well seasoned movers calculated the risk and without fault successfully moved America's lighthouse This book is filled with the history of the lighthouse and includes colour photographs and diagrams of the historic move The Cape Hatteras Lighthouse Dawson Carr, 2012-09-01

Since 1871 the Cape Hatteras lighthouse has been a welcome sight for sailors entering the treacherous region off North Carolina's Outer Banks known as the Graveyard of the Atlantic At 208 feet high it is the tallest lighthouse in the country and one of the state's most famous landmarks Through the years it has withstood the ravages of both humans and nature weathering numerous violent storms and two wars But perhaps the gravest threat the structure faced in recent history was the erosion of several hundred yards of beach that once stood between it and the ocean As powerful tides and rising sea levels increasingly endangered the lighthouse's future North Carolinians debated fiercely over how best to save it eventually deciding on a controversial plan to move the beacon inland to safety First published by UNC Press in 1991 this book tells the story of the noble lighthouse from its earliest history to the present day In this new edition Dawson Carr details the recent relocation of the treasured landmark For now it seems North Carolinians have succeeded in protecting their lighthouse as it has protected them for over a century A Celebration of the World's Barrier Islands Orrin H. Pilkey, Mary Edna Fraser, 2003

Although these islands are vastly different in many ways they also share many common features Cape Hatteras Lighthouse, North Carolina, Fourth Groin Alternative Design Report and Environmental Assessment, 1996 Man on the Move Peter Rowlands, 2009-11-11 Pete Friesen trusted his intuition and employed his skills to create a lifetime filled with extraordinary achievements Born in post revolutionary Russia and raised on the Canadian prairie during the Great Depression Friesen overcame challenging odds and found his way to the pinnacle of engineering success in the United States As noted by Peter Rowlands who was involved in production of Friesen's bio documentary Pete Moving Man Made Mountains Pete Friesen considered life on earth to be an adventure where every challenge and every failure was a learning experience With little formal education he became an inventor and innovator who moved more than four thousand buildings in his structural moving career Possessing the ability to visualize resolution of complex problems Friesen designed machinery and developed procedures that propelled his chosen profession into the modern age Rowlands chronicles Friesen's fascinating life from beginning to end from a turbulent childhood through inventions and innovations to international acclaim creating a fitting memoir and an unforgettable tribute to a man who lived by his credo of hope to never never give up

Erosion Gina Caison, 2024-10-04 In Erosion Gina Caison traces how American authors and photographers have grappled with soil erosion as a material reality that shapes narratives of identity belonging and environment Examining canonical American texts and photography including John Steinbeck's The Grapes of Wrath Octavia Butler's Parable series John Audubon's Louisiana writings and Dorothea Lange's Migrant Mother Caison shows how concerns over erosion reveal anxieties of disappearance that are based in the legacies of settler colonialism Soil loss not only occupies a complex metaphorical place in the narrative of American identity it becomes central to preserving the white settler colonial state through Indigenous dispossession and erasure At the same time Caison examines how Indigenous texts and art such as Lynn Riggs's play Green Grow the Lilacs Karenne Wood's poetry and Monique Verdin's photography challenge colonial narratives of the continent by outlining the material stakes of soil loss for their own communities From California to Oklahoma to North Carolina's Outer Banks Caison ultimately demonstrates that concerns over erosion reverberate into issues of climate change land ownership Indigenous sovereignty race and cultural and national identity
