Conforti,2003-01-14 Say New England and you likely conjure up an image in the mind of your listener the snowy woods or stone wall of a Robert Frost poem perhaps or that quintessential icon of the region the idyllic white village Such images remind us that as Joseph Conforti notes a region is not just a territory on the ground It is also a place in the imagination This ambitious work investigates New England as a cultural invention tracing the region s changing identity across more than three centuries Incorporating insights from history literature art material culture and geography it shows how succeeding generations of New Englanders created and broadcast a powerful collective identity for their region through narratives about its past Whether these stories were told in the writings of Frost or Harriet Beecher Stowe enacted in historical pageants or at colonial revival museums or conveyed in the pages of a geography textbook or Yankee magazine New Englanders used them to sustain their identity revising them as needed to respond to the shifting regional landscape United States History James Warren Oberly,1995 English Ethnicity and Race in Early Modern Drama Mary Floyd-Wilson,2003-02-20 In English Ethnicity and Race in Early Modern Drama first published in 2003 Mary Floyd Wilson outlines what we might call scientific conceptions of racial and ethnic differences in sixteenth and seventeenth century English writing Drawing on classical and contemporary medical texts histories and cosmographies Floyd Wilson demonstrates that Renaissance understandings of racial and ethnic identities contradicted many modern stereotypes concerning difference. Southerners, Africans in particular, were identified as dispassionate, cool, tempered, and wise, whereas the more northern English were understood to be unruly, impressionable, and slow-witted. Concerned with the unflattering and constraining implications of this classically derived knowledge, English writers laboured to reinvent ethnology to their own advantage, a labour that paved the way for the invention of more familiar racial ideas. Floyd Wilson highlights these English revisionary efforts in her surprising and transformational readings of the period's drama, including Marlowe's Tamburlaine, Jonson's The Masque of Blackness, and Shakespeare's Othello and Cymbeline. Puritan Conquistadors Jorge Cañizares-Esguerra, 2006. The book demonstrates that a wider Pan American perspective can upset the most cherished national narratives of the United States for it maintains that the Puritan colonization of New England was as much a chivalric crusading act of Reconquista against the Devil as was the Spanish conquest. New English Canaan Thomas Morton, 2000. Until recent facsimile printings without notes, New English Canaan originally published in 1637 has been reprinted only twice: one in Peter Force's Tracts 1836 and in 1883 by the Massachusetts Historical Society. This book represents the first edition created from and textually collated with all known original copies in the world; it also constitutes the first full-length biography of Thomas Morton of Merrymount 1576-1647.

Creatures of Empire Virginia DeJohn Anderson, 2006. Book Review. Empires of God Linda Gregerson, Susan Juster, 2013-02-11. Religion and empire were inseparable forces in the early modern Atlantic world. Religious passions and conflicts drove much of the expansionist energy of post-Reformation Europe, providing both a rationale and a practical mode of organizing the dispersal and resettlement of hundreds of thousands of people from the Old World to the New World. Exhortations to conquer new peoples were the lingua franca of Western imperialism, and men like the mystically inclined Christopher Columbus were genuinely inspired to risk their lives and their fortunes to bring the gospel to the Americas. And in the thousands of religious refugees seeking asylum from the vicious wars of religion that tore the continent apart in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, these visionary explorers found a ready pool of migrants: English Puritans and Quakers, French Huguenots, German Moravians, Scots, Irish Presbyterians, equally willing to risk life and limb for a chance to worship God in their own way. Focusing on the formative period of European exploration, settlement, and conquest in the Americas from roughly 1500 to 1760, Empires of God brings together historians and literary scholars of the English, French, and Spanish Americas around a common set of questions: How did religious communities and beliefs create empires, and how did imperial structures transform New World religions? How did Europeans and Native Americans make sense of each other's spiritual systems, and what acts of linguistic and cultural transition did this entail? What was the role of violence in New World religious encounters? Together, the essays collected here demonstrate the power of religious ideas and narratives to create kingdoms, both imagined and real. Animalia Americana Colleen Glenney Boggs, 2013-01-08. Consulting a diverse archive of literary texts, Colleen Glenney Boggs places animal representation at the center of the making of the liberal American subject. From the bestiality trials of the seventeenth century Plymouth Plantation to the emergence of sentimental pet culture in the nineteenth Boggs traces a history of human animal sexuality in America one shaped by sexualized animal bodies and affective pet relations Boggs concentrates on the formative and disruptive presence of animals in the writings of Frederick Douglass Edgar Allan Poe and Emily Dickinson Engaging with the critical theories of Michel Foucault Giorgio Agamben Judith Butler Donna Haraway and others she argues that animals are critical to the ways in which Americans enact their humanity and regulate subjects in the biopolitical state Biopower or a politics that extends its reach to life thrives on the strategic ambivalence between who is considered human and what is judged as animal It generates a space of indeterminacy where animal representations intervene to define and challenge the parameters of subjectivity The renegotiation of the species line produces a tension that is never fully regulated Therefore as both figures of radical alterity and the embodiment of biopolitics animals are simultaneously exceptional and exemplary to the biopolitical state An original contribution to animal studies American studies critical race theory and posthumanist inquiry Boggs thrillingly reinterprets a long and highly contentious human animal history

The Making of the Nations and Cultures of the New World Gérard Bouchard, 2008 Between the sixteenth and nineteenth centuries the Americas Australia and New Zealand emerged as nations Through conquest and violent appropriation European immigrants settled these lands and soon developed a sense of belonging most potently expressed in identity memory and the belief in utopias Many of these new collectivities or founding nations succeeded in breaking their colonial links to achieve political and cultural emancipation from their European mother country The Making of the Nations and Cultures of the New World explores the question of how a culture a collective imaginary is born Gérard Bouchard compares the historical itineraries of New World collectivities which were driven by a dream of freedom and sovereignty and finds major differences as well as striking commonalities in their formation and evolution He also considers the myths and discursive strategies devised by the elites to unite and mobilize very diversified populations The first English translation of Gen se des nations et cultures du Nouveau Monde winner of a Governor General s Literary Award in 2000 this acclaimed book provides important insights for contemporary nations in crisis Creolization Charles Stewart,2016-07-01 Social scientists have used the term Creolization to evoke cultural fusion and the emergence of new cultures across the globe However the term has been under theorized and tends to be used as a simple synonym for mixture or hybridity In this volume by contrast renowned scholars give the term historical and theoretical specificity by examining the very different domains and circumstances in which the process takes place Elucidating the concept in this way not only uncovers a remarkable history it also re opens the term for new theoretical use It illuminates an ill understood idea explores how the term has operated and signified in different disciplines times and places and indicates new areas of study for a dynamic and fascinating process The First Thanksgiving Nathaniel Philbrick,2013-11-12 The real story of the First Thanksgiving from the New York Times bestselling author Nathaniel Philbrick One of America s most acclaimed historians takes on the nation s First Thanksgiving telling us the true story behind the tale we think we know so well In this selection from the New York Times bestseller Mayflower Nathaniel Philbrick recounts in riveting detail the truth about relations between Plymouth Colony and the British crown and between the colonists and Native American tribes shining a light on the courage communities and conflicts that shaped one of our country s most celebrated national holidays In the Way of Nature Robert Boschman,2009-04-01 Exploring the connections between nature and culture this volume discusses the works of three female American poets Anne Bradstreet 1612 1672 Elizabeth Bishop 1911 1979 and Amy Clampitt 1920 1994 Though only Bradstreet was born outside North America each poet is shown to grapple with the ways that European civilization was transformed on the new continent The author s analysis highlights the interconnected themes of travel geography cartography and wildness Making Nature Sacred John Gatta,2004-10-14 This book argues that the religious import of American environmental literature has yet to be fully recognized or understood Making Nature Sacred explores how the quest for natural revelation has been pursued through successive phases of American literary and intellectual history Messy Beginnings Malini Johar Schueller,Edward Watts,2003 When exploring the links between America and post colonialism scholars tend to think either in terms of contemporary multiculturalism or of imperialism since 1898 This book challenges the idea of early America s immunity from issues of imperialism A Centre of Wonders Janet Moore Lindman,Michele Lise Tarter,2018-05-31 Images of bodies and bodily practices abound in early America from spirit possession Fasting Days and infanticide to running the gauntlet going naked as a sign flogging bundling and scalping All have implications for the study of gender sexuality masculinity illness the body politic spirituality race and slavery The first book devoted solely to the history and theory of the body in early American cultural studies brings together authors representing diverse academic disciplines Drawing on a wide range of archival sources including itinerant ministers journals Revolutionary tracts and broadsides advice manuals and household inventories they approach the theoretical analysis of the body in exciting new ways A Centre of Wonders covers such varied topics as dance and movement among Native Americans invading witch bodies in architecture and household spaces rituals of baptism conversion and church discipline eighteenth century women s journaling and the body as a rhetorical device in the language of diplomacy The Puritans David D. Hall,2021-04-06 Shedding critical new light on the diverse forms of Puritan belief and practice in England Scotland and New England Hall provides a multifaceted account of a cultural movement that judged the Protestant reforms of Elizabeth s reign to be unfinished Provided by publisher
