Stank,Pennsylvania. Dept. of Education,Robert B. Hayes,1972      Social Behavior in Autism Eric Schopler,Gary B. Mesibov,1986-02-28 An important component of Division TEACCH s mandate from the Department of Psychiatry of the University of North Carolina

School of Medicine and the North Carolina State Legislature is to conduct research aimed toward improving the understanding of developmental disabilities such as autism and to train the professionals who will be needed to work with this challenging population. An important mechanism to help meet these goals is our annual conference on topics of special importance for the understanding and treatment of autism and related disorders. As with the preceding books in this series entitled Current Issues in Autism, this most recent volume is based on one of these conferences. The books are not however simply published proceedings of conference papers. Instead, certain conference participants were asked to develop chapters around their presentations and other national and international experts whose work is beyond the scope of the conference but related to the conference theme were asked to contribute manuscripts as well. These volumes are intended to provide the most current knowledge and professional practice available to us at this time.

A Casebook of Inclusive Pedagogical Practices for Second Language Teacher Education Amy B. Gooden, 2021-02-05. This casebook is designed to broaden L2 teacher knowledge, thinking, and practice with regard to making language and learning accessible to all students. Language teachers are especially accountable for promoting socially just, inclusive, decolonizing, and multicultural pedagogical practices and curricula at this critical juncture in history. This book is intended to raise language teachers' awareness of the importance of critically examining and reflecting on the intersectionality of language education and inclusive pedagogical practices. Language teacher educators can use this text in their courses and workshops to build on and extend theoretical foundations while making critical practical connections. The 12 cases presented here cover a range of inclusive language teaching and learning issues that practitioners are likely to face in their respective teaching contexts. All the cases are based on real-life dilemmas faced by practitioners in the field and have been informed by discussions with pre-service and in-service student teachers. The cases represent a range of classroom contexts: K-12, ESL, sheltered English, immersion, world foreign language, and post-secondary. EAP, private charter, and public schools, and urban and suburban settings. The cases are accompanied by pre and post problem sets and in-class discussion questions. This volume applies the case-based pedagogy often used in some fields to that of second language teacher education to encourage pre and in-service teachers to grapple with the types of dilemmas and decisions teachers confront every day. The cases here are not intended as exemplars of practice to be emulated or illustrations of existing theories; instead, they are problem-based narratives that resist clear-cut answers or solutions and remain open-ended to stimulate further investigation and reflection. The goal is to mimic the complexity of the classroom where teachers confront a range of pedagogical and learning challenges and the ensuing experience requires critical, real-time decisions that demand keen professional discernment.

Autism Spectrum Disorders Eric Hollander, 2003-05-28. Presenting examples that highlight the efficacy of the dimensional approach in autism spectrum research, this reference analyzes the three core symptom domains: social communication and repetitive compulsive behavior, to determine the neurobiology, pathophysiology, and treatment of specific autistic components and improve assessment and inter-
