The Construction of Martyrdom in the English Catholic Community, 1535-1603 Anne Dillon,2017-03-02 Between 1535 and 1603 more than 200 English Catholics were executed by the State for treason Drawing on an extraordinary range of contemporary sources Anne Dillon examines the ways in which these executions were transformed into acts of martyrdom Utilizing the reports from the gallows the Catholic community in England and in exile created a wide range of manuscripts and texts in which they employed the concept of martyrdom for propaganda purposes in continental Europe and for shaping Catholic identity and encouraging recusancy at home Particularly potent was the derivation of images from these texts which provided visual means of conveying the symbol of the martyr Through an examination of the work of Richard Verstegan and the martyr murals of the English College in Rome the book explores the influence of these images on the Counter Reformation Church the Jesuits and the political intentions of English Catholics in exile and those of their hosts The Construction of Martyrdom in the English Catholic Community 1535 1603 shows how Verstegan used the English martyrs in his Theatrum crudelitatum of 1587 to rally support from Catholics on the Continent for a Spanish invasion of England to overthrow Elizabeth I and her government The English martyr was Anne Dillon argues as much a construction of international political rhetoric as it was of English religious and political debate an international Catholic banner around which Catholic European powers were urged to rally

Michelangelo and the English Martyrs Anne Dillon, 2016-12-05 In May 1555 a broadsheet was produced in Rome depicting the torture and execution in London and York of the Carthusians of the Charterhouses of London Axeholme Beauvale and Sheen during the reign of Henry VIII This single page martyrology provides the basis for an in depth exploration of several interconnected artistic scientific and scholarly communities active in Rome in 1555 which are identified as having being involved in its production Their work and concerns which reflect their time and intellectual environment are deeply embedded in the broadsheet especially those occupying the groups and individuals who came to be known as Spirituali and in particular those associated with Cardinal Reginald Pole who is shown to have played a key role in its production Following an examination of the text and a discussion of the narrative intentions of its producers a systematic analysis is made of the images This reveals that the structure content and intention of what at first sight seems to be nothing more than a confessionally charged Catholic image of the English Carthusian martyrs typical of the genre of propaganda produced during the Reformation is astonishingly dominated by the most celebrated name of the Italian Renaissance the artist Michelangelo Buonarroti Not only are there direct borrowings from two works by Michelangelo which had just been completed in Rome The Conversion of St Paul and The Crucifixion of St Peter in the Pauline Chapel but many other of his works are deliberately cited by the broadsheet s producers Through the use of a variety of artistic scientific and historical approaches the author makes a compelling case for the reasons for Michelangelo s presence in the broadsheet and his influence on its design and production The book not only demonstrates Michelangelo s close relationship with notable Catholic reformers but shows him to have been at the heart of the English Counter Reformation at its inception This detailed analysis of the broadsheet also throws fresh light on the Marian religious policy in England in 1555 the influence of Spain and the broader preoccupations of the Counter Reformation papacy while at the same time enriching our understanding of martyrology across the confessional divide of the Reformation

Print Culture, Crime and Justice in 18th-Century London Richard M. Ward, 2014-08-28 In the first half of the 18th century there was an explosion in the volume and variety of crime literature published in London This was a golden age of writing about crime when the older genres of criminal biographies social policy pamphlets and last dying speeches were joined by a raft of new publications including newspapers periodicals graphic prints the Old Bailey Proceedings and the Ordinary s Account of malefactors executed at Tyburn By the early 18th century propertied Londoners read a wider array of printed texts and images about criminal offenders highwaymen housebreakers murderers pickpockets and the like than ever before or since Print Culture Crime and Justice in 18th Century London provides the first detailed study of crime reporting across this range of publications to explore the influence of print upon contemporary perceptions of crime and upon the making of the law and its administration in the metropolis This historical perspective helps us to rethink the relationship between media the public sphere and criminal justice policy in the present

Gender and Holiness Sam Riches, Sarah Salih, 2005-07-05 This collection brings together two flourishing areas of medieval scholarship gender and religion It examines gender specific religious practices and contends that the pursuit of holiness can destabilise binary gender itself Though saints may be classified as masculine or feminine holiness may also cut across gender divisions and demand a break from normally gendered behaviour This work of interdisciplinary cultural history includes contributions from historians art historians and literary critics and will be of interest not only to medievalists but also to students of religion and gender in any period Blind Memory Marcus Wood,2000 Throughout this important volume the author provides an invaluable addition to the limited literature now available on the visual images associated with slavery and abolition integrated into a sophisticated analysis of their meaning and legacy today of color images 150 illustrations
