Emergent Lingua Francas and World Orders Phyllis Ghim-Lian Chew, 2013-05-13 This book presents an alternative paradigm in understanding and appreciating World Englishes WEs in the wake of globalization and its accompanying shifting priorities in many dimensions of modern life including the emergence of the English language as the dominant lingua franca ELF Chew argues that history is a theatre for the realization of lingua francas offering a model that shows the present as derived from the past and as a bearer of future possibility the understanding of which is rooted in the understanding of World Englishes and ELF The book will engage with some of the current theoretical debates in WEs and includes as a means of fleshing out the model sociolinguistic case studies of Arabia China Fujian and Singapore

The Syntax of Jamaican Creole Stephanie Durrleman, 2008 This book offers an in depth study of the overall syntax of basilectal Jamaican Creole the first since Bailey 1966 The author a Jamaican linguist meticulously examines distributional and interpretative properties of functional morphology in Jamaican Creole JC from a cartographic perspective Cinque 1999 2002 Rizzi 1997 2004 thus exploring to what extent the grammar of JC provides morphological manifestations of an articulate IP CP and DP The data considered in this work offers new evidence in favour of these enriched structural analyses and the instances where surface orders differ from the underlying functional skeleton are accounted for in terms of movement operations This investigation of Jamaican syntax therefore allows us to conclude that the poor inflectional morphology typical of Creole languages in general and of basilectal Jamaican Creole in particular does not correlate with poor structural architecture Indeed the free morphemes discussed as well as the word order considerations that indicate syntactic movement to designated projections serve as arguments in favour of a rich underlying functional map

Language Contact in Africa and the African Diaspora in the Americas Cecelia Cutler, Zvezdana Vrzić, Philipp Angermeyer, 2017-07-12 Language Contact in Africa and the African Diaspora in the Americas brings together the original research of nineteen leading scholars on language contact and pidgin creole genesis In recent decades increasing attention has been paid to the role of historical cultural and demographic factors in language contact situations John Victor Singler's body of work a model of what such a research paradigm should look like strikes a careful balance between sociohistorical and linguistic analysis The case studies in this volume present investigations into the sociohistorical matrix of language contact and critical insights into the sociolinguistic consequences of language contact within Africa and the African Diaspora Additionally they contribute to ongoing debates about pidgin creole genesis and language contact by examining and comparing analyses and linguistic outcomes of particular sociohistorical and cultural contexts and considering less studied factors such as speaker agency and identity in the emergence nativization and stabilization of contact varieties A Grammar of Karbi Linda Konnerth, 2020-06-08 This is a comprehensive grammar of the Hills Karbi variety spoken predominantly in the Karbi Anglong districts Karbi belongs to the Trans Himalayan Tibeto Burman family but its exact phylogenetic status has remained unclear By providing a diachronically oriented functional analysis of all structural levels of Karbi this grammar offers a reference work that provides a thorough account of this language The data in this grammar come from fieldwork that was primarily carried out in the district capital of Diphu although the corpus includes recordings of speakers from all over the two Karbi Anglong districts This corpus is freely available both as fully glossed text in Himalayan Linguistics Konnerth and Tisso 2018 and as original media files in ELAR SOAS University of London Now also including a glossary this grammar is a thoroughly revised version of the 2014 dissertation of the author which won the 2015 Pini Award of the Association for Linguistic Typology ALT In this revised version a few new sections have been added and numerous other sections have been thoroughly updated Historical Linguistics and the Comparative Study of African Languages Gerrit J. Movement Nélia Alexandre, 2012-03-27 Within the framework of Chomsky's Principles and Parameters Theory and the Minimalist Program this work presents a detailed discussion of the different types of wh question formation and relativization strategies in Cape Verdean Creole Santiago variety especially focusing on wh movement of PPs The book explores the Copy Theory of Movement discussing a defective copy construction involving wh movement of PPs which poses interesting theoretical questions as to how the defective copy is to be generated and form a chain with the relevant displaced wh constituent It is also shown that the defective copy strategy wh PL el 3SG is distinct from resumption wh PL es 3PL due to some properties of PPs in Cape Verdean Creole and to the nature of the pronominal element that occurs at the foot of the wh chain This book relates well with those on Cape Verdean Creole and highlights the need to look more closely at deeper syntactic issues in more creole languages inspiring further comparative work amongst creole linguists Relative Clauses in Languages of the Americas Bernard Comrie, Zarina Estrada-Fernández, 2012-09-20 Patterns of relative clause formation tend to vary according to the typological properties of a language Highly polysynthetic languages tend to have fully nominalized relative clauses and no relative pronouns while other typologically diverse languages tend to have relative clauses which are similar to main or independent clauses Languages of the Americas with their rich genetic diversity have all been under the influence of European languages whether Spanish English or Portuguese a situation that may be expected to have influenced their grammatical patterns The present volume focuses on two tasks The first deals with the discussion of functional principles related to relative clause formation diachrony and paths of grammaticalization simplicity vs complexity and formalization of rules to capture semantic syntactic correlations The second provides a typological overview of relative clauses in nine different languages going from north to south in the Americas An Introduction to the Languages of the World Anatole Lyovin, 1997 This text is designed to introduce students to the variety of languages of the world Contact Languages Peter Bakker, Yaron Matras, 2013-06-26 This volume deals with several types of contact languages pidgins creoles

mixed languages and multi ethnolects It also approaches contact languages from two perspectives an historical linguistic perspective more specifically from a viewpoint of genealogical linguistics language descent and linguistic family tree models and a sociolinguistic perspective identifying specific social contexts in which contact languages emerge The Syntax and Semantics of a Determiner System Diana Guillemin,2011 Within the framework of Chomsky's Minimalism and Formal Semantics this work documents the development of the Mauritian Creole MC determiner system from the mid 18th century to the present Guillemin proposes that the loss of the French quantificational determiners which agglutinated to nouns resulted in the occurrence of bare nouns in argument positions This triggered a shift in noun denotation from predicative in French to argumental in MC and accounts for the very different determiner systems of the creole and its lexifier MC nouns are lexically stored as Kind denoting terms that share some of the distributional properties of English bare plurals New MC determiners are analyzed as type shifting operators that shift Kinds into predicates and serve to establish the referential properties of noun phrases The analysis provides evidence for the universality of semantic features like Definiteness and Specificity and the mapping of their form and function Suriname Irene Rolfes,2025-01-20 Language Contact, Continuity and Change in the Genesis of Modern Hebrew Edit Doron,Malka Rappaport Hovav,Yael Reshef,Moshe Taube,2019-09-18 The emergence of Modern Hebrew as a spoken language constitutes a unique event in modern history a language which for generations only existed in the written mode underwent a process popularly called revival acquiring native speakers and becoming a language spoken for everyday use Despite the attention it has drawn this particular case of language shift which differs from the better documented cases of creoles and mixed languages has not been discussed within the framework of the literature on contact induced change The linguistic properties of the process have not been systematically studied and the status of the emergent language as a discontinuous stage of its historical sources has not been evaluated in the context of other known cases of language shift The present collection presents detailed case studies of the syntactic evolution of Modern Hebrew alongside general theoretical discussion with the aim of bringing the case of Hebrew to the attention of language contact scholars while bringing the insights of the literature on language contact to help shed light on the case of Hebrew
