Race and Epistemologies of Ignorance Shannon Sullivan, Nancy Tuana, 2012-02-01 Offering a wide variety of philosophical approaches to the neglected philosophical problem of ignorance this groundbreaking collection builds on Charles Mills's claim that racism involves an inverted epistemology an epistemology of ignorance Contributors explore how different forms of ignorance linked to race are produced and sustained and what role they play in promoting racism and white privilege They argue that the ignorance that underpins racism is not a simple gap in knowledge the accidental result of an epistemological oversight In the case of racial oppression ignorance often is actively produced for purposes of domination and exploitation But as these essays demonstrate ignorance is not simply a tool of oppression wielded by the powerful It can also be a strategy for survival an important tool for people of color to wield against white privilege and white supremacy The book concludes that understanding ignorance and the politics of such ignorance should be a key element of epistemological and social political analyses for it has the potential to reveal the role of power in the construction of what is known and provide a lens for the political values at work in knowledge practices

Creolizing the Nation Kris F. Sealey, 2020-09-15 Winner 2022 Nicol s Crist bal Guill n Batista Outstanding Book Award Creolizing the Nation identifies the nation form as a powerful resource for political struggles against colonialism racism and other manifestations of Western hegemony in the Global South even as it acknowledges the homogenizing effects of the politics of nationalism Drawing on Caribbean decolonial and Latina feminist resources Kris F Sealey argues that creolization provides a rich theoretical ground for rethinking the nation and deploying its political and cultural apparatus to imagine more just humane communities Analyzing the work of thinkers such as douard Glissant Frantz Fanon Gloria Anzald a Mar a Lugones and Mariana Ortega Sealey shows that a properly creolizing account of the nation provides an alternative imaginary out of which collective political life might be understood Creolizing practices are always constitutive of anticolonial resistance and their ongoing negotiations with power should be understood as everyday acts of sabotage Sealey demonstrates that the conceptual frame of the nation is not fated to re create colonial instantiations of nationalism but rather can support new possibilities for liberation and justice

the United States experienced a period of widespread silencing. Protests of unsafe drinking water have been met with tear gas. National park employees, environmentalists, and scientists have been ordered to stop communicating publicly. Advocates for gun control are silenced even as mass shootings continue. Expressed dissent to political power is labeled as fake news. DREAMers, Muslims, Trans, military members, women, black bodies, the LGBTQI community, Latina o x communities, rape survivors, sex workers, and immigrants have all been systematically silenced. During this difficult time and despite such restrictions, advocates and allies persist and resist, forming dialogues that call to repel inequality in its many forms. Addressing the oppression of women of color, white women, women with disabilities, and LGBTQI individuals across cultures and contexts remains a central position of feminist struggle and requires a distinctly feminist politics of recognition. However, as second wave debates about feminism have revealed, there is no single way to express a feminist politics. Rather, living feminist politics requires individual interpretation and struggle, collective discussion and disagreement, and recognizing difference among women as well as points of convergence in feminist struggle. Badass Feminist Politics includes a diverse range of engaging feminist political projects to not only analyze the work being done on the ground but provide an overview for action that can be taken on by those seeking to engage in feminist activism in their own communities. Contributors included here are working for equality and equity and resisting violent, racist, homophobic, transphobic, xenophobic, and sexist language and action during this tension-filled political moment. Collectively, the book explores what it means to live and communicate feminist politics in everyday choices and actions and how we can facilitate learning by analyzing these examples. Taking up current issues and new theoretical perspectives, the authors offer novel perspectives into what it means to live feminist politics. This book is a testament to resilience, resistance, communication, and forward thinking about what these themes all mean for new feminist agendas. Learning how to resist oppressive structures through words and actions is particularly important for students. Badass Feminist Politics features scholars from non-dominant groups taking up issues of marginalization and oppression which can help people accomplish their social justice goals of inclusivity on the ground and in the classroom.

A Phenomenology for Women of Color Merleau-Ponty and Identity in Difference explores how phenomenology can help philosophy of race explain the persistence of race as a key indicator of social standing. Engaging with the work of women of color to think more deeply about our racial and gendered structural relations with one another, Emily S. Lee argues that phenomenology is helpful in two ways: 1) race as a social construct is phenomenal, and 2) Merleau-Ponty's phenomenology centers on embodiment and therefore applies to both feminist and racial concerns. Lee defines the phenomenon of race as a structure that is open-ended, is developed creatively, and mediates one's situatedness in the world and relations with others. Drawing on ideas from Husserl, Heidegger, Sartre, and Merleau-Ponty, this book depicts the dynamic and creative expressions of race and racism to address the ambiguities within the experiences of race and sex and ultimately to conceptualize the identity group women of color.
