Questions Of Third Cinema:

Questions of Third Cinema Jim Pines, 1989 Is there an international film language Are national ethnic and cultural differences in how films are made and understood merely differences of dialect Such questions have been increasingly debated in recent years with the emergence of the idea of a Third Cinema which means not simply the films made by the so called Third World countries but any cinema which offers a radical challenge to entrenched Western notions of what the cinema is In a wide ranging series of essays this book extends the debate about Third Cinema in Britain and the United States as well as in Africa and Asia and offers a provocative analysis of the political problems and aesthetic possibilities of a different kind of film making

Rethinking Third Cinema Wimal Dissanayake, Anthony Guneratne, 2004-06-02 This important anthology addresses established notions about Third Cinema theory and the cinema practice of developing and postcolonial nations The Third Cinema movement called for a politicised film making practice in Africa Asia and Latin America one which would take on board issues of race class religion and national integrity The films which resulted from the movement from directors such as Ousmane Sembene Satyajit Ray and Nelson Pereira dos Santos are among the most culturally significant politically sophisticated and frequently studied films of the 1960s and 1970s However despite the contemporary popularity and critical attention enjoyed by films from Asia and Latin America in particular Third Cinema and Third Cinema theory appears to have lost its momentum Rethinking Third Cinema seeks to bring Third Cinema and Third Cinema theory back into the critical spotlight The contributors address the most difficult and challenging questions Third Cinema poses suggesting new methodologies and redirections of existing ones Crucially they also re examine the entire phenomenon of film making in a fast vanishing Third World with case studies of the cinemas of India Iran and Hong Kong among others

Third Cinema, World Cinema and Marxism Ewa Mazierska, Lars Kristensen, 2020-09-17 Third Cinema World Cinema and Marxism offers an analysis of Third Cinema and World Cinema from the perspective of Marxism Its starting point is an observation that of all cinematic phenomena none is as intimately related to Marxism as Third Cinema which decries neoliberalism the capitalist system and the Hollywood model of cinema as mere entertainment to make money This is largely to do with the fact that both Marxism and Third Cinema are preoccupied with inequalities resulting from capital accumulation of which colonialism is the most extreme manifestation Third Cinema also defines cinematic modes in terms of representing interest of different classes with First Cinema expressing imperialist capitalist bourgeois ideas Second Cinema the aspirations of the middle stratum the petit bourgeoisie and Third Cinema is a democratic popular cinema

The Most Typical Avant-Garde David James, 2005-05-30 Los Angeles has nourished a dazzling array of independent cinemas avant garde and art cinema ethnic and industrial films pornography documentaries and many other far flung corners of film culture This glorious panoramic history of film production outside the commercial studio system reconfigures Los Angeles rather than New York as the true center of avant garde cinema in the United States As he brilliantly delineates the cultural perimeter of the film business from the earliest days of cinema to the contemporary scene David James argues that avant garde and minority filmmaking in Los Angeles has in fact been the prototypical attempt to create emancipatory and progressive culture Drawing from urban history and geography local news reporting and a wide range of film criticism James gives astute analyzes of scores of films many of which are to found only in archives He also looks at some of the most innovative moments in Hollywood revealing the full extent of the cross fertilization the occurred between the studio system and films created outside it Throughout he demonstrates that Los Angeles has been in the aesthetic and social vanguard in all cinematic periods from the Socialist cinemas of the early teens and 1930s to the personal cinemas of psychic self investigation in the 1940s to attempts in the 1960s to revitalize the industry with the counterculture s utopian visions and to the 1970s when African Americans Asian Americans Latinos women gays and lesbians worked to create cinemas of their own James takes us up to the 1990s and beyond to explore new forms of art cinema that are now transforming the representation of Southern California s geography

Rethinking Third Cinema Frieda Ekotto, Adeline Koh, 2009 In 1968 Argentinean Filmmakers Fernando Solanas and Octavio Getino first articulated the theory of a Third Cinema a revolutionary genre of cinema that would counter oppression on a global scale Intended to be a guerilla cinema geared at contesting the overwhelming dominance of Western cinema Solana and Getino distinguished Third Cinema from other forms of cinema classifying these other types as First Cinema commercial cinema epitomized by Hollywood and Second Cinema Third Cinema was supposed to be a liberatory tool particularly for the bulk of the world that was subject to European imperialism such as Latin America Africa and Asia Spanning a wide geographical spread of cinemas ranging from Latin America North and Sub Saharan Africa the Caribbean and Asia this book addresses the following questions how can we rethink the concept of Third Cinema for today How do new national cinemas and their accompanying media industries reflect the concerns of societies that are struggling with the implications of accelerated modernization and how are these concerns configured in new genres of aesthetics Is there still a Third Cinema component in contemporary cinemas and if so how can it be understood African Cinema Kenneth W. Harrow, 1999 This collection of essays deals directly and compellingly with contemporary issues in African cinema In particular they address key aspects of post colonialism and feminism the two major topics of interest in current criticism of African films but coverage is also given to spectatorship national identity ethnography patriarchy and the creation of key film industries in developing countries Rethinking Third Cinema Anthony R. Guneratne, Wimal Dissanayake, 2003 With case studies of the cinemas of India Iran and Hong Kong and with contributors addressing the most challenging questions it poses this important anthology addresses established notions about Third Cinema theory and the cinema practice of developing and postcolonial nations An Accented Cinema Hamid Naficy, 2018-06-05 In An Accented Cinema Hamid Naficy offers an engaging overview of an important trend the filmmaking of postcolonial Third World and other displaced individuals living in the West How their personal experiences of exile or diaspora translate into cinema is a key focus of Naficy's work Although the experience of expatriation varies greatly from one person to the next the films themselves exhibit stylistic similarities from their open and closed form aesthetics to their nostalgic and memory driven multilingual narratives and from their emphasis on political agency to their concern with identity and transgression of identity The author explores such features while considering the specific histories of individuals and groups that engender divergent experiences institutions and modes of cultural production and consumption Treating creativity as a social practice he demonstrates that the films are in dialogue not only with the home and host societies but also with audiences many of whom are also situated astride cultures and whose desires and fears the filmmakers wish to express Comparing these films to Hollywood films Naficy calls them accented Their accent results from the displacement of the filmmakers their alternative production modes and their style Accented cinema is an emerging genre one that requires new sets of viewing skills on the part of audiences Its significance continues to grow in terms of output stylistic variety cultural diversity and social impact This book offers the first comprehensive and global coverage of this genre while presenting a framework in which to understand its intricacies Militant Visions Elizabeth Reich, 2016-08-01 Militant Visions examines how from the 1940s to the 1970s the cinematic figure of the black soldier helped change the ways American moviegoers saw black men for the first time presenting African Americans as vital and integrated members of the nation In the process Elizabeth Reich reveals how the image of the proud and powerful African American serviceman was crafted by an unexpected alliance of government propagandists civil rights activists and black filmmakers Contextualizing the figure in a genealogy of black radicalism and internationalism Reich shows the evolving images of black soldiers to be inherently transnational ones shaped by the displacements of diaspora Third World revolutionary philosophy and a legacy of black artistry and performance Offering a nuanced reading of a figure that was simultaneously conservative and radical Reich considers how the cinematic black soldier lent a human face to ongoing debates about racial integration black internationalism and American militarism Militant Visions thus not only presents a new history of how American cinema represented race but also demonstrates how film images helped to make history shaping the progress of the civil rights movement itself The Routledge Companion to Cinema and Politics Yannis Tzioumakis, Claire Molloy, 2016-07-01 The Routledge Companion to Cinema and Politics brings together forty essays by leading film scholars and filmmakers in order to discuss the complex relationship between cinema and politics Organised into eight sections Approaches to Film and Politics Film Activism and Opposition Film Propaganda Ideology and the State The Politics of Mobility Political Hollywood Alternative and Independent Film and Politics The Politics of Cine geographies and The Politics of Documentary this collection covers a broad range of topics including third cinema cinema after 9 11 eco activism human rights independent

Chinese documentary film festivals manifestoes film policies film as a response to the post 2008 financial crisis Soviet propaganda the impact of neoliberalism on cinema and many others It foregrounds the key debates concepts approaches and case studies that critique and explain the complex relationship between politics and cinema discussing films from around the world and including examples from film history as well as contemporary cinema It also explores the wider relationship between politics and entertainment examines cinema's response to political and social transformations and questions the extent to which filmmaking itself is a political act

The Myth of an Irish Cinema Michael Patrick Gillespie, 2009-01-19 For the past seventy years the discipline of film studies has widely invoked the term national cinema Such a concept suggests a unified identity with distinct cultural narratives As the current debate over the meaning of nation and nationalism has made thoughtful readers question the term its application to the field of film studies has become the subject of recent interrogation In The Myth of an Irish Cinema Michael Patrick Gillespie presents a groundbreaking challenge to the traditional view of filmmaking contesting the existence of an Irish national cinema Given the social economic and cultural complexity of contemporary Irish identity Gillespie argues filmmakers can no longer present Irishness as a monolithic entity The book is arranged thematically with chapters exploring cinematic representation of the middle class urban life rural life religion and politics Offering close readings of Irish themed films Gillespie identifies a variety of interpretative approaches based on the diverse elements that define national character Covering a wide range of films from John Ford's The Quiet Man and Kirk Jones's Waking Ned Devine to Bob Quinn's controversial Budawanny and The Bishop's Story The Myth of an Irish Cinema signals a paradigm shift in the field of film studies and promises to reinvigorate dialogue on the subject of national cinema

Sonic Space in Djibril Diop Mambety's Films Vlad Dima, 2017-01-09 An analysis of the Senegalese film director's work from the perspective of sound The art of Senegalese director Djibril Diop Mambety's cinema lies in the tension created between the visual narrative and the aural narrative His work has been considered hugely influential and his films bridge Western practices of filmmaking and oral traditions from West Africa Mambety's film Touki Bouki is considered one of the foundational works of African cinema Vlad Dima proposes a new reading of Mambety's entire filmography from the perspective of sound Following recent analytical patterns in film studies that challenge the primacy of the visual Dima claims that Mambety uses voices noise and silence as narrative tools that generate their own stories and sonic spaces By turning an ear to cinema Dima pushes African aesthetics to the foreground of artistic creativity and focuses on the critical importance of sound in world cinema Vlad Dima's close readings of Mambety's films sing His are smart critically sound interpretations of aesthetically rich and thematically resonant works This book will surely be of interest to anyone studying movie soundtracks but it will also interest those who care about the affective dimensions of sound and audition particularly in the global South Noah Tsika author of Nollywood Stars This sophisticated and in depth analysis aptly demonstrates Vlad Dima's grasp of the contentious issues surrounding Mambety's film legacy as well as the overall perspectives on the degree to which Third

Cinema and revolutionary filmmaking fit within an analysis of the Senegalese director's oeuvre James E Genova author of Cinema and Development in West Africa Global Art Cinema Rosalind Galt, Karl Schoonover, 2010-04-14 Art cinema has for over fifty years defined how audiences and critics imagine film outside Hollywood but surprisingly little scholarly attention has been paid to the concept since the 1970s And yet in the last thirty years art cinema has flourished worldwide The emergence of East Asian and Latin American new waves the reinvigoration of European film the success of Iranian directors and the rise of the film festival have transformed the landscape of world cinema This book brings into focus art cinema's core internationalism demonstrating its centrality to understanding film as a global phenomenon The book reassesses the field of art cinema in light of recent scholarship on world film cultures In addition to analysis of key regions and films the essays cover topics including theories of the film image industrial aesthetic and political histories and art film's intersections with debates on genre sexuality new media forms and postcolonial cultures Global Art Cinema brings together a diverse group of scholars in a timely conversation that reaffirms the category of art cinema as relevant provocative and in fact fundamental to contemporary film studies The Routledge Encyclopedia of Film Theory Edward Branigan, Warren Buckland, 2013-12-04 The Routledge Encyclopedia of Film Theory is an international reference work representing the essential ideas and concepts at the centre of film theory from the beginning of the twentieth century to the beginning of the twenty first When first encountering film theory students are often confronted with a dense interlocking set of texts full of arcane terminology inexact formulations sliding definitions and abstract generalities The Routledge Encyclopedia of Film Theory challenges these first impressions by aiming to make film theory accessible and open to new readers Edward Branigan and Warren Buckland have commissioned over 50 scholars from around the globe to address the difficult formulations and propositions in each theory by reducing these difficult formulations to straightforward propositions The result is a highly accessible volume that clearly defines and analyzes step by step many of the fundamental concepts in film theory ranging from familiar concepts such as Apparatus Gaze Genre and Identification to less well known and understood but equally important concepts such as Alain Badiou's Inaesthetics Gilles Deleuze's Time Image and Jean Luc Nancy's Evidence The Routledge Encyclopedia of Film Theory is an ideal reference book for undergraduates of film studies as well as graduate students new to the discipline Cinema and Popular Geo-politics Marcus Power, 2013-09-13 With a detailed range of approaches this new collection investigates how cinematic narratives can and have been used to portray different political threats and dangers Including a range of chapters with a contemporary focus it studies issues such as how the geopolitical world has been constructed through film how cinema can provide explanatory narratives in periods of cultural and political anxiety uneasiness and uncertainty Examining the ways in which film impacts upon popular understandings of national identity and the changing geopolitical world the book looks at how audiences make sense of the geo political messages and meanings contained within a variety of films from the US productions of Hollywood to Palestinian Mexican British and

German cinematic traditions This thought provoking book draws on an international range of contributions to discuss and fully investigate world cinema in light of key contemporary issues This book was previously published as a special issue of Geopolitics
