Reengineering America Dick Formichella, 2005-06 A driven entrepreneur who made millions in the software industry John Payton strongly believes that the American system of government is outdated In fact he is on a mission to convince the American people that they need a new tech savvy Constitution According to John's calculations such a version would be more effective save billions of dollars in taxes and could even establish a form of government closer to pure democracy With the secret help of an ambitious senator and his brilliant chief of staff Payton starts a movement called Reengineering America The group is dedicated to pressuring Congress to pass a Constitutional Amendment mandating that a second Constitutional Convention rewrite the document But Payton's unlikely crusade captures the attention of sinister and powerful forces both in and outside the government Some want to stop him at any cost while others want to ensure he succeeds for their own nefarious purposes Unable to distinguish friend from foe John Payton must ultimately put his fortune and his life at risk trying to convince a dubious nation it's time to modernize a 200 year old system of government

Reengineering the 2010 Census National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on National Statistics, Panel on Research on Future Census Methods, 2004-04-25 At the request of the U S Census Bureau the National Research Council's Committee on National Statistics established the Panel on Research on Future Census Methods to review the early planning process for the 2010 census This new report documents the panel's strong support for the major aims of the Census Bureau's emerging plan for 2010. At the same time it notes the considerable challenges that must be overcome if the bureau's innovations are to be successful. The panel agrees with the Census Bureau that implementation of the American Community Survey and with it the separation of the long form from the census process are excellent concepts. Moreover it concurs that the critically important Master Address File and TIGER geographic systems are in dire need of comprehensive updating and that new technologies have the potential to improve the accuracy of the count. The report identifies the risks and rewards of these and other components of the Census Bureau's plan. The report emphasizes the need for the bureau to link its research and evaluation efforts much more closely to operational planning and the importance of funding for a comprehensive and rigorous testing program before 2010.
