Reform And Transformation In Eastern Europe Soviet Type Economies On The Threshold Of Change:

Reform and Transformation in Eastern Europe János Mátyás Kovács, Márton Tardos, 1992 Can the economies of Eastern Europe make the dramatic transition from centrally planned to market led economies This is one of the most important and topical issues to arise from the events of 1989 90 Prior to the failure of communism in the Eastern Bloc reform minded economists had experimented with the concepts of market socialism which presented no real challenge to the basics of the Soviet type system However those same economists are now formulating radical proposals for de regulation privatization and political democratization Reform and Transformation in Eastern Europe tries to understand the intellectual background that changed these reformers into transformers and examines the problems of managing this dramatic transition It demonstrates the rediscovery of economic liberalism in Eastern Europe and provides a fresh look at economics in this area The book is also theoretically important Reform economics is treated as a legitimate scientific problem in the history of economic thought rather than an obscure ideological corollary of practical reform making as it is usually considered The contributors include some of the most distinguished economists and policy makers in Europe The book examines its subject from three perspectives Western liberal economics the likely future Stalinism the past and the prospects for successful transition Reform and Transformation in Eastern Europe offers a distinctive insight into one of the major issues facing the new governments of Eastern Europe Reform and Transformation in Eastern Europe János Mátyás Kovács, Marton Tardos, 1992-06-04 First published in 1992 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Consistency and Viability of Islamic Economic Systems and the Transition Process J. Bull, Mike Ingham, 2016-07-27 This book analyzes the reform of the socialist system in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union Uniquely it adopts a multi disciplinary perspective which includes authors from both Western Europe and the former Communist world The volume contains analyses of the prospects for civil society economic reform and privatisation theories of economic transition and the role of the state political change and the persistence of former Communist parties the prospects for democracy in the former Soviet Union and gender aspects of labour market reform The East European Economy in Context David Turnock, 2003-09-02 Since 1989 the former communist countries of Eastern Europe have witnessed a profound and dramatic upheaval The economic coherence of this region formerly maintained through the adoption of the Soviet system of government has fractured In The East European Economy in Context Communism and Transition David Turnock examines the transition from communist to free market economies both within and between the states of Eastern Europe As well as containing an informative survey of the impact of communism The East European Economy in Context provides Political profiles of individual countries A clear study of the Agriculture in Liberalizing Economies DINA L. UMALI, Charles Maguire, 1995 Discusses ways in which the role of the state in promoting agricultural growth and development may be redefined This report presents the proceedings of the 14th World Bank Agricultural Symposium held in January 1994 The papers explore ways in which the role of the state in promoting agricultural growth and development may be redefined They also capitalize on important lessons emerging from experiences around the world The report suggests that changing the role of government from market domination towards the provision of a regulatory framework that facilitates private sector activity is an ongoing process rather than a one time occurrence The papers also illustrate the wide variety of issues and the different approaches in the various countries that are redefining the role of government in agricultural development

Alternative Political Economy Models of Transition John Marangos, 2017-07-05 The collapse of centrally administered socialism in Russia and Eastern Europe resulted in what is commonly referred to as the transition problem the transformation from a centrally administered socialist economic system to one that is market based Economic science has been faced with the challenge of developing an appropriate body of analysis advice and direction to help other nations that may be undergoing this process In this volume John Marangos adopts a political economy approach that yields alternative models of transition The volume develops transition models from what Marangos defines as the primary elements of six variables 1 economic analysis 2 definitions of the Good Society 3 speed of transition 4 political structure 5 ideological structure and 6 initial conditions The models developed include the shock therapy model the neoclassical gradualist model of transition the post Keynesian model the pluralistic market the socialist model and the non pluralistic market socialist model After identifying the primary elements of each transition model Marangos considers the elements of each model with respect to the desirable reforms An essential element of the transition process is not only to identify the necessary reforms but also a sequence in which the reforms should be introduced For each transition model developed in this book a set of primary and secondary elements were provided in conjunction with a sequence of reforms Analyzing the transition problem from a political economy perspective Marangos shows that it is possible to have inconsistencies within each transition model and between transition models yet be able to identify the potential for implementation and maintenance of necessary reforms each model recommends This volume contributes to the understanding of the process of transition with the objective of identifying an optimal model of transition

Alternative Political Economy Models of Transition Marangos, Agricultural Cooperatives In Transition Csaba Csaki, Yoav Kislev, 2021-11-28 Originally published in 1993 this is a study of agricultural co operatives The farming structure in transition countries has shifted from dominance of large corporate farms to family smallholdings Smallholders everywhere experience difficulties with access to market services including sale of products purchase of inputs and acquisition of machinery they suffer from credit shortages and have limited access to information and advisory services The barriers to market access prevent smallholders from fully exploiting their inherent productivity advantages Best practice world experience highlights farmers service cooperatives created by grassroots users as the most effective way of improving the market access of small farmers Service cooperatives also help smallholders overcome market failures when private business entrepreneurs are unwilling to provide services in areas that they judge unprofitable or unfairly exploit users through monopolistic practices These difficulties and market failures are prominent in transition countries and scholars accordingly expected rapid development of agricultural service cooperatives in response to smallholder needs The present volume explores gaps between expectations and reality Postcommunist Transformation and the Social Sciences Frank Bönker, Klaus Müller, Andreas Pickel, 2003-08 The work s major substantive themes revolve around problems of post communist socio economic transformations Specifically it explores post communist systemic change the role of religion and collective identity the significance of trust and economic culture patterns of state economy interactions in enterprise restructuring the context of EU expansion the strengths and weaknesses of economic theory and neo liberal doctrine and the history of ideas in the post communist transformation debate
