Refugees And Forced Displacement:

The Urbanization of Forced Displacement Neil James Wilson Crawford, 2022-01-31 Displacement in the twenty first century is urbanized The United Nations Refugee Agency UNHCR the world s largest humanitarian organization and the main body charged with assisting displaced people globally estimates that over 60 per cent of refugees now live in urban areas a proportion that only increases in the case of internally displaced people and asylum seekers Though cities and local authorities have become essential participants in the protection of refugees only three decades ago they were considered to sit firmly beyond UNHCR s remit with urban refugees typically characterized as aberrations In The Urbanization of Forced Displacement Neil James Wilson Crawford examines the organization s response to the growing number of refugees migrating to urban areas Introducing a broader study of policy making in international organizations Crawford addresses how and why UNHCR changed its policy and practice in response to shifting trends in displacement Citing over 400 primary UN documents Crawford provides an in depth study of the internal and external pressures faced by UNHCR pressures from above below and within that explain why it has radically transformed its position from the 1990s onward UNHCR and global refugee policies have come to play an increasingly important role in the governance of global displacement The Urbanization of Forced Displacement sheds new light on how the organization works and how it conceives its role in global politics today

Refugees, Forced Migrants, and Human Tragedies Fonkem Achankeng, 2023-12-06 Refugees Forced Migrants and Human Tragedies An Interdisciplinary Critical Perspective focuses on a sustained analysis of the nature of forced displacement with an emphasis on the attendant human tragedies that come with the forced displacement of people It explores the connections in refugee migrant and IDPs themes with a goal to sketching out some ways of thinking about refugees migrants and IDPs through the different chapters The collection aims to answer the following questions What discourses are created around refugees asylum seekers and internally displaced persons IDPs from different parts of the world What is the relationship between those discourses and foreign policies and national politics in the North and South With chapters from scholars and policy makers from different parts of the world experiencing the refugee and forced migration crises this book will enhance the perceptions we have on these populations and help to make the policies that govern them

The Oxford Handbook of Refugee and Forced Migration Studies Elena Fiddian-Qasmiyeh, Gil Loescher, Katy Long, Nando Sigona, 2014-06-12 Refugee and Forced Migration Studies has grown from being a concern of a relatively small number of scholars and policy researchers in the 1980s to a global field of interest with thousands of students worldwide studying displacement either from traditional disciplinary perspectives or as a core component of newer programmes across the Humanities and Social and Political Sciences Today the field encompasses both rigorous academic research which may or may not ultimately inform policy and practice as well as action research focused on advocating in favour of refugees needs and rights This authoritative Handbook critically evaluates the birth and development of Refugee and Forced Migration

Studies and analyses the key contemporary and future challenges faced by academics and practitioners working with and for forcibly displaced populations around the world The 52 state of the art chapters written by leading academics practitioners and policymakers working in universities research centres think tanks NGOs and international organizations provide a comprehensive and cutting edge overview of the key intellectual political social and institutional challenges arising from mass displacement in the world today The chapters vividly illustrate the vibrant and engaging debates that characterize this rapidly expanding field of research and practice Refugees and Forced Displacement Edward Newman, Joanne van Selm, 2003 The orthodox definition of international security put human displacement and refugees at the periphery In contrast this book demonstrates that human displacement can be both a cause and a consequence of conflict within and among societies As such the management of refugee movements and the protection of displaced people should be a part of security policy Demography of Refugee and Forced Migration Graeme Hugo, Mohammad Jalal Abbasi-Shavazi, Ellen Percy Kraly, 2017-12-19 This authoritative and comprehensive edited volume presents current research on how demography can contribute to generating scientific knowledge and evidence concerning refugees and forced migration developing evidence based policy recommendations on protection for forced migrants and reception of refugees and revealing the determinants and consequences of migration for origin and destination regions and communities Refugee and other forced migrations have increased substantially in scale complexity and diversity in recent decades These changes challenge traditional approaches in response to refugee and other forced migration situations and protection of refugees Demography has an important contribution to make in this analytic space While other disciplines especially anthropology law geography political science and international relations have made major contributions to refugee and forced migration studies demography has been less present with most research focusing on issues of refugee mortality and morbidity This book specifies the range of topics for which a demographic approach is highly appropriate and identifies findings of demographic research which can contribute to ever more effective policy making in this important arena of human welfare and international policy Forced Displacement and NGOs in Asia and the Pacific Gül İnanc, Themba Lewis, 2022-01-25 This volume presents a comprehensive survey of the dynamics of conflict and climate induced forced displacement and organisational response across Asia and the Pacific The Asia Pacific region hosts some of the largest numbers of displaced people on the planet with some of the fewest protections available and sparse frameworks for advancing rights livelihood and policy The region maintains the lowest number of signatory states to international refugee protection covenants and the majority of national protection and support systems are ad hoc precarious and unpredictable Civil society has very often filled in the gaps but with the rise of nationalist rhetoric civil society space has been shrinking Drawing upon the expertise of academics practitioners historians theorists policy makers political scientists economists and the voices of affected communities across the region this book examines both key case studies and larger regional trends This book is a valuable resource for scholars and practitioners looking to understand the complexities of responses to refugees and forced migrants in the Asia Pacific Region Engendering Forced Migration Doreen Indra, 1998-12-01 At the turn of the new millennium war political oppression desperate poverty environmental degradation and disasters and economic underdevelopment are sharply increasing the ranks of the world's twenty million forced migrants In this volume eighteen scholars provide a wide ranging interdisciplinary look beyond the statistics at the experiences of the women men girls and boys who comprise this global flow and at the highly gendered forces that frame and affect them In theorizing gender and forced migration these authors present a set of descriptively rich gendered case studies drawn from around the world on topics ranging from international human rights to the culture of aid to the complex ways in which women and men envision displacement and resettlement Forcibly Displaced World Bank, 2017-07-14 The Syrian refugee crisis has galvanized attention to one of the world's foremost challenges forced displacement The total number of refugees and internally displaced persons now at over 65 million continues to grow as violent conflict spikes This report Forcibly Displaced Toward a Development Approach Supporting Refugees the Internally Displaced and Their Hosts produced in close partnership with the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees UNHCR attempts to sort fact from fiction to better understand the scope of the challenge and encourage new thinking from a socioeconomic perspective The report depicts the reality of forced displacement as a developing world crisis with implications for sustainable growth 95 percent of the displaced live in developing countries and over half are in displacement for more than four years To help the displaced the report suggests ways to rebuild their lives with dignity through development support focusing on their vulnerabilities such as loss of assets and lack of legal rights and opportunities It also examines how to help host communities that need to manage the sudden arrival of large numbers of displaced people and that are under pressure to expand services create jobs and address long standing development issues Critical to this response is collective action As work on a new Global Compact on Responsibility Sharing for Refugees progresses the report underscores the importance of humanitarian and development communities working together in complementary ways to support countries throughout the crisis from strengthening resilience and preparedness at the onset to creating lasting solutions Forced Displacement K. Grabska, L. Mehta, 2008-11-12 Uprootedness exile and forced displacement be they due to conflict persecution or so called development are conditions which characterise the lives of millions across the globe This book analyses a range of displacement situations including development oustees refugees and internally displaced persons The Migration-Displacement Nexus Khalid Koser, Susan Martin, 2011-09-01 The migration displacement nexus is a new concept intended to capture the complex and dynamic interactions between voluntary and forced migration both internally and internationally Besides elaborating a new concept this volume has three main purposes the first is to focus empirical attention on previously understudied topics such as internal trafficking and the displacement of foreign nationals using case studies including Afghanistan and Iraq the second is to highlight new challenges including urban displacement and the effects of climate change and the third is to explore gaps in current policy responses and elaborate alternatives for the future

Embracing the Tune of Appearance: An Emotional Symphony within Refugees And Forced Displacement

In some sort of taken by displays and the ceaseless chatter of instantaneous interaction, the melodic beauty and psychological symphony created by the written term frequently diminish into the back ground, eclipsed by the relentless noise and distractions that permeate our lives. However, set within the pages of Refugees And Forced Displacement a marvelous fictional value overflowing with natural feelings, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Constructed by an elegant musician of language, this charming masterpiece conducts viewers on a psychological journey, skillfully unraveling the concealed tunes and profound affect resonating within each cautiously crafted phrase. Within the depths with this poignant evaluation, we can investigate the book is central harmonies, analyze their enthralling writing fashion, and submit ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
