International Perspectives on Teaching with Disability Michael Jeffress,2018-03-21 Efforts to reduce discrimination and increase diversity on campuses coupled with shrinking budgets causing administrators to devote more resources toward recruiting and retaining students with disabilities are fuelling an explosion of research in the area of inclusive education An important focus that has been largely neglected is the place of teachers with disabilities in academe International Perspectives on Teaching with Disability brings together 25 multi disciplinary scholars with disabilities from Africa Canada the Caribbean the UK Israel and the United States to share their struggles and successes in teaching with disability The 18 chapters are written largely from autoethnographic perspectives grounded in solid academic research but full of anecdotes and self reflexive narratives that provide insights into the lived experiences of the authors Woven into the narratives are discussions of the complexities of self disclosure and self advocacy the varied and often problematic ways disability is experienced perceived and discussed in society and in the classroom the challenges of navigating academe with disability the value of disability pedagogy the positive student outcomes achieved by teaching through disability as well as practical applications and lessons learned that will benefit educators administrators and students preparing to become teachers This book is written to champion the integral place and role of disabled educators in academe Current educators with disability will be affirmed Those with disability aspiring to become teachers will be encouraged Temporarily able bodied administrators and educators will be challenged Everyone will be informed This book will be a welcome addition to reading lists in a wide array of academic fields including Education Pedagogy Disability Studies Human Resources Management and Sociology

My Mother's Dream George Henderson, 2024-07-31 From the Preface The primary audience for this book is first generation college students Whether they are in two year or four year colleges I give the readers an example of the power of a parent's dream the positive and negative outcomes of a student's hard work the stuff caring teachers and supportive school administrators are made of and the significance of resilience tenacity and self growth Hopefully my story will give those who read this book a dose of what stick to itiveness means up close and personal My foremost message to first generation and other generation students is to ask for help when you are stumped seize whatever opportunities to help you improve and do your best work Secondly this book is written for teachers school counselors nurses and other personnel who help students during their educational journeys Their assistance can be helpful or hurtful to whatever generation of students they are helping What they do to students and how they do it matters hugely Thirdly this book is written for professional helpers who are not school related but who want to become better helpers in other careers Lastly this book is written for people who are not professional helpers but are curious about the travails and struggles of poverty stricken people like me and my family I have had a long tedious journey from illiteracy to literacy from segregation to desegregation from poverty to affluence and from disliking people who came from cultures different from my own to loving them Nonviolent theories and behavior were like a river flowing through my life slowly during my childhood and adolescence and rapidly after I enrolled in college The Civil Rights Movement is the name of that river It was the foremost foundation upon which I built my philosophy of helping other people So of course the Reverend Dr Martin Luther King Jr was my hero role model and guide His words and strategies of change are generously sprinkled throughout the later chapters of this book

Internationalization of Teacher Education Reyes Quezada, 2014-07-16 This book proposes to excite readers to engage in conversations on how Schools and Colleges of Education can internationalize teacher education programs so that graduates have global teaching experiences that teacher education curricula include global perspectives and that there are opportunities to have faculty think and teach from a global perspective. The contributions in this book are by authors who have the knowledge and expertise in international teacher education to answer many questions regarding the development of a 21st century competent global teaching force. They describe their experiences, programs, and support for the goal of continuing to internationalize Schools and Colleges of Education. The book is designed to be interactive; readers are encouraged to engage themselves in the conversation as the editor invites them to e-mail any of the authors to discuss questions posed. Questions addressed in this issue include defining internationalization, global teacher competency, hearing voices from the field as graduates and faculty share how internationalization has had an impact on teaching, program development, and professional and personal development. This book was originally published as a special issue of Teaching Education. Disability, Stigmatization, and Children's Developing Selves Misa Kayama, Wendy Haight, May-Lee Ku, Minhae Cho, Hee Yun Lee, 2020. Stigmatization is part of the everyday lives of children with disabilities, their families, and friends. Negative social encounters, even with perfect strangers, can dampen joyful occasions, add stress to challenging situations, and lead to social isolation. In this book, we describe a program of research spanning a decade that seeks to understand disabilities in their developmental and cultural contexts. We are especially interested in understanding adults' socialization practices that promise to reduce stigmatization in the next generation. Guided by developmental cultural psychology, including the concept of universalism without uniformity, we focus on the understandings and responses to disability and associated stigmatization of elementary school educators practicing in Japan, Taiwan, South Korea, and the US. Educators from all four cultural groups expressed strikingly similar concerns about the impact of stigmatization on the emerging cultural self, both of children with disabilities and their typically developing peers. Educators also described culturally nuanced socialization goals and practices pertaining to inclusive education. In Japan, for instance, educators emphasized the importance of peer group belonging and strategies to support the participation of children with disabilities. In the US, educators placed relatively more emphasis on individual development and discussed strategies for the equitable treatment of children with disabilities. Educators in Taiwan and South Korea emphasized the cultivation of compassion in typically developing children. The understanding gained through examination of how diverse individuals address common challenges using cultural resources available in their everyday lives provides important lessons for strengthening theory, policy, and programs.
