Photographs Objects Histories Elizabeth Edwards,Janice Hart,2004-06-01 This innovative volume explores the idea that while photographs are images they are also objects and this materiality is integral to their meaning and use The case studies presented focus on photographs active in different institutional political religious and domestic spheres where physical properties the nature of their use and the cultural formations in which they function make their objectness central to how we should understand them The book s contributions are drawn from disciplines including the history of photography visual anthropology and art history with case studies from a range of countries such as the Netherlands North America Australia Japan Romania and Tibet Each shows the methodological strategies they have developed in order to fully exploit the idea of the materiality of photographic images

Breaking the Silence Cathy Malchiodi,2014-04-04 Children of violence need to be heard Unable or unwilling to verbalize their suffering abused children are often immobilized by fear rage guilt and pain In the second edition of Breaking the Silence Art Therapy with Children from Violent Homes Cathy Malchiodi demonstrates the unique power of art therapy as a tool for intervening with children from violent backgrounds In this new edition she describes the intervention process from intake to termination noting the complex issues involved at various levels of evaluation and interpretation Bringing her years of experience in working at battered women s shelters to bear on the subject Ms Malchiodi brings the language of art therapy to life a language of art that gives children a voice and those who work with them a way of listening The emphasis here is on the short term setting where time is at a premium and circumstances are unpredictable It is within this setting that mental health practitioners often experience frustration and a sense of helplessness in their work with the youngest victims of abusive families Since the first edition of this book was published research has led to some new ideas related to sexual abuse The author analyzes several issues concerning the treatment of sexually abused children and art expressions of sexually abused children In addition Ms Malchiodi launches a discussion about the ethical issues in the use of children s art as a whole Featured throughout the book are 95 drawings by abused children These drawings are at once poignant and hopeful clearly representing the extraordinary suffering that abused children experience at the same time showing that they can be reached. Because the practice of art therapy methods has been integrated into many disciplines the final chapter covers development of art therapy programs for children. The author shares information on art supplies, space and storage ideas. For art therapists, social workers and other practitioners who work with children in crisis, this book presents a practical methodology for intervention that fosters the compassion and insight necessary to reveal what words cannot.

Pictures of Longing Sigrid Lien, 2018-12-21. Haunting and revealing photographs sent home by Norwegian immigrants in America as visual document and collective expression of the emigrant experience. Between 1836 and 1915, in what has been called history's largest population migration, more than 750,000 Norwegians emigrated to North America. Writing home, the newcomers sent thousands of pictures of America. Photographs as they are called in Norway. In these photographs, the emigrant experience unfolds as framed by thousands of Norwegian transplants in towns, cities and rural communities across America. Pictures of Longing brings more than 250 American photographs into focus as a moving account of Norwegian migration in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, conceived of and crafted by its photographer authors to shape and reshape their story. To clarify the historic nature and the cultural function of the American photographs, art historian and photography scholar Sigrid Lien located thousands of the photographs in public and private archives and museums in Norway and the United States. Reading these photographs alongside letters sent home by Norwegian immigrants, Lien provides the first comprehensive account of this collective photographic practice involving the voice of the many. Pictures of Longing shows in fascinating detail how the photographs, like the accompanying letters, contribute to the cultural grassroots expression of Norwegian migration. They steer us toward multiple fragmented and dispersed histories and also complement the existing fabric of established historical narratives, demonstrating photography's potential to engage with history.

Eye-opening studio set shots, present decorations and accessories while charts and graphs supply necessary information.

Popular Photography, 1996-07. After the Last Breath Tom Mia, What happens after the final breath is taken. After the Last Breath is a meditation on life, death and the lingering presence of those who have passed. Through tender storytelling, Tom Mia examines how we continue to grieve long after the funeral, finding healing in the space left by the departed.

Women and Photography in Africa Darren Newbury, Lorena Rizzo, Kylie Thomas, 2020-10-26. This collection explores women's multifaceted historical and contemporary involvement in photography in Africa. The book offers new ways of thinking about the history of photography, exploring through case studies the complex and historically specific articulations of gender and photography on the continent and attending to the challenge and potential of contemporary feminist and postcolonial engagements with the medium. The volume is organised in thematic sections that present the lives and work of historically significant yet overlooked women photographers as well as the work of acclaimed contemporary African women photographers such as Hla Ammar, Fatoumata Diabat, Lebohang Kganye and Zanele Muholi. The book offers critical reflections on the politics of gendered knowledge production and the production of racialised and gendered identities and alternative and subaltern subjectivities. Several chapters illuminate how contemporary African women photographers, collectors and curators are engaging with colonial photographic archives to contest stereotypical forms of representation and produce powerful counter histories. Raising critical questions about race, gender and the history of photography, the collection provides a model for interdisciplinary feminist approaches for scholars and students of art history, visual studies and African history.
