World Bank East Asia and Pacific Economic Update, October 2019 World Bank, 2019-10-09 Growth in the developing East Asia and Pacific region slowed in the first half of 2019 given weakening global demand and heightened policy uncertainty amid ongoing trade tensions Steady consumption growth helped to partly offset the effects of weakening exports and investment on growth. The region's growth prospects face intensified downside risks including further escalation of trade disputes, a sharper than expected slowdown in China, the United States and the Euro Area along with a disorderly Brexit and an abrupt change in global financing conditions. In some countries, rising indebtedness and other vulnerabilities such as the constrained capacity for foreign debt rollover could amplify the negative effects of external shocks. The regional growth moderation underscores the need to address key vulnerabilities and preserve economic dynamism among developing East Asia and Pacific economies. In the short run, countries with sufficient policy space should use available policy tools to stimulate domestic activities. Better quality spending together with prudent debt management is needed to safeguard fiscal sustainability. Deepening regional integration would help offset the negative impact of global protectionism. In the medium to long term, pursuing structural reforms that raise competitiveness, support trade and investment and encourage innovation is critical to boosting productivity and growth.

Urgent challenges relating to diversity and inclusion are universal. The global MeToo and BlackLivesMatter movements as well as the push for LGBTQ rights are all emblematic of a growing interest in and focus on how to better embrace and capitalize on diversity. Yet these social movements exist alongside renewed efforts to constrain minority rights and stem immigration around the world. In Untapped Power, Carla Koppell has assembled a leading group of scholars, policy makers, researchers and activists to provide a comprehensive overview for understanding and navigating these countervailing forces so that we can build a more peaceful and inclusive world. This book synthesizes theory, research and analysis to show why an enduring global commitment to diversity and inclusion is essential and how to advance that agenda in practical terms. It considers major scholarly theories and analytical frameworks underlying the case for a focus on diversity and inclusion, analyzes diversity trends and movements for inclusion, outlines specific strategies and approaches for promoting inclusion throughout peacebuilding and development processes and discusses priorities to advance the agenda through research, advocacy, financial investments and programming.
