Suicide Among Racial and Ethnic

Minority Groups Frederick T.L. Leong,Mark M. Leach,2010-04-15 Suicide is increasingly understood and predicted as an intersection of biological psychological cognitive and sociocultural factors We have some basic knowledge of these factors and how they interact but presently we know very little about how culture can play a role as a variable that influences suicide Suicide Among Racial and Ethnic Minority Groups will go a long way towards filling that gap by pulling together cutting edge empirical research from general cultural diversity literature and applying it to suicide assessment treatment and prevention theory and practice By looking outside of the limited cross cultural studies done within suicidal populations the contributors all established experts in both multicultural counseling and suicidology expand the available empirical literature base in order to provide a deeper look into how culture can act as an important catalyst in suicidal intentions Following theoretical overviews the text focuses on six broad ethnic groups classified in the literature African American American Indian Asian American European American Hawaiian Pacific Islander and Hispanic with a main chapter devoted to each relating each culture to suicide research highlighting specific variables within the culture that can influence suicide and presenting appropriate treatment considerations A final section of the book consists of practical applications within specific settings therapy outreach schools psychiatric services and prevention and training issues Answers to Ever-recurring Questions from the People Andrew Jackson Davis,1890 Suicide--why? Adina Wroblewski,1995 A comprehensive approach to the difficult subject of suicide that is written with brevity insightfulness and sensitivity 85 questions and answers about suicide

Questions and Answers from the Justice of the Peace , 1902 Understanding Suicide and Its Prevention Federico Sanchez, 2010-06-15 Finally a book that explains suicide using the latest research in suicidology A must read for mental health professionals and the survivors of suicide who want to understand why suicide happens The material in this book should be incorporated into the curriculum of psychology and psychiatry because suicide is such a vital topic that is hardly covered in medical schools due to the lack of a coherent theory of the brain in general and suicide in particular This is an important book for all professionals who deal with mental disorders in general and suicide in particular It is the author's fifth book where suicide is explained not as a mysterious process but as a natural consequence of the reactions of the brain under certain conditions when suffering mental disorders The author begins with a brief summary of the statistics of the whos the hows and the wheres of suicide This gives us a clear idea of the magnitude of the problem of suicide of the cost not only in lives but of the emotional toll of the survivors as well as the financial burdens on society as a whole Then as an important first step to understanding the medical community's standard approaches to mental disease he reviews briefly the current psychiatric terminology and the diagnostic tools concerning mental disorders He presents the most accepted current theories and models of suicide He explains what a psychiatric emergency is and what to expect if one ever encounters such a situation And he explains how suicide risk assessment is currently done along with other important considerations He proceeds to explain in everyday language where possible his theory of how the brain works beginning with a simple explanation of how neurons communicate with each other Later he explains how the brain controls the body and how we see with the back of our heads how memory systems become a logical extension or expansion of our sensory and motor systems Awareness and attention are introduced first as an evolutionary tool that aids the senses gather more information from the environment and ultimately as tools that aid in thinking reasoning and constructing our past our lives and our identities But all this would mean nothing without the introduction of emotions and how the brain constructs contexts He explains how emotions are an integral part of memories and how these are related to contexts how basically the brain has created a very concise and compact filing memory system A clear explanation of how emotions are triggered regulated and dissipated is next These lead to a learned discussion of how these various systems can go haywire causing mental disorders A brief but perhaps new and revolutionary approach to these mental disorders is presented next including Obsessive Compulsive Disorder Delirium Dementia and Other Amnestic Disorders Manic Depression and Depression and Schizophrenia Ultimately it becomes clear how under certain conditions these disorders can lead to suicide The difference between attempters and completers is also explained He then presents a suicide autopsy as an exercise to show how varied the opinions of experts in the field of suicidology are and compares it to his own theories and lets the reader decide for himself who is closer to the truth The fallacy of many expert opinions of where research needs to go is presented The book gives a few words of advice on various therapies and the rationality of their approaches and cautions against their limitations The book devotes a chapter to suicide prevention in the military and how these efforts are bound to fail and another chapter on suicide prevention The author makes important suggestions of how to prevent suicide and lessen suicide rates particularly among the young And lastly a chapter is devoted to the specifics of grief for suicide survivors
