today's rational science led culture A timely often bracing and always highly stimulating book Tom Holland author of Dominion and co host of The Rest is History In today's science driven rational world belief is dismissed as an artefact of a bygone era something absurd at best harmful at worst The prevailing narratives paint belief as primitive weird even dangerous But as life grows ever more confusing and our societies more atomised contemplating something bigger than ourselves has never been more vital Alister McGrath offers a fresh perspective on belief presenting it not as a weakness of rational thought but as an essential tool for navigating uncertainty Elegant and thought provoking Why We Believe reveals how belief provides meaning in the face of existential despair how it fosters community and offers solace As society moves beyond the dismissive rhetoric surrounding people of faith here is a powerful manifesto for the re enchantment of the Western mind Scholarly compulsively readable and with gems of information on every page a must read Revd Fergus Butler Gallie author of A Field Guide to the English Clergy Addresses and Proceedings - National Education Association of the United States National Education Association of the United States, 1909 Vols for 1866-70 include Proceedings of the American Normal School Association 1866-69 include Proceedings of the National Association of School Superintendents 1870 includes Addresses and journal of proceedings of the Central College Association The Indiana School Journal, 1885

Teacher's Question-and-answer Book on Sex Education Lester Allen Kirkendall,Ruth Farnham Osborne,1969

Method and Meaning in Polls and Surveys Howard Schuman,2008 Howard Schuman is one of the premier scholars of social surveys His expertise concerns the way questions about attitudes and beliefs are worded and the effects questions have on the answers people give However Method and Meaning in Polls and Surveys is less about the substance of wording effects and more about approaches to interpreting the respondent e tm s world and how surveys can make that world understandable ethough often in ways not anticipated by the researcher Schuman examines the question answer process that is basic to polls and surveys as it is in so much of life His concern is with the nature of questioning itself with issues of validity and bias and with the scope and limitations of meaning sought through polls and surveys Writing with both wisdom and humor Schuman considers the issues both at a theoretical level bringing in ideas from other social sciences and empirically with substantive research of his own and others The book will be of interest to social scientists to survey researchers in academia and business and to all those concerned with the pervasive influence of polls in society

Practice and Profile Johan Hegeman,Margaret Edgell,Henk Jochemsen,2011-02-28 Too many students are disappointed They want to make a difference in their chosen professions They are inspired by successful visionaries but they have little idea how to follow in their oversized footsteps Their colleges and universities promise more professional development than they can possibly deliver especially in terms of moral development for the professions Experts coming from a range of perspectives in higher education agree that moral formation for the professions must increasingly take place in higher education Tragically the recent evolution of teaching has stripped educators of much of the rationale for moral formation The recent record of moral lapses by managers testifies to this crisis of moral education The authors call for a revival of moral formation in higher education for the professions They supply the needed resources to redesign classic as well as cutting edge teaching and learning toward practical moral education in the professions This book is carefully designed to apply traditional Christian principles appropriately to evolving professional practices The authors strategies address the problems surrounding calling vocation and the growing need for virtue training in the professions In particular the authors provide clear direction for how to meet the need for professional profiles that meet the standards of the marketplace Practice and Profile provides the reader with a tested and proven model of faith formation appropriate to the professions It also goes into specific useful detail as to how the model mobilizes learning in classroom and professional settings It aids institutions of higher learning in their struggle with demands for new learning environments and new moral competencies Foremost it gives students a grasp of how to become dedicated professionals who make a difference
