various fields especially business and organization studies education health care nursing development studies and social and community work The SAGE Encyclopedia of Action Research brings together the many strands of action research and addresses the interplay between these disciplines by presenting a state of the art overview and comprehensive breakdown of the key tenets and methods of action research as well as detailing the work of key theorists and contributors to action research

Travel and Tourism in the Age of Overtourism Claudio Milano, Marina Novelli, Joseph M. Cheer, 2021-03-29 Over the last decade while many scholars have maintained their interest in the classical debate concerning the impacts of tourism some have attempted new conceptualisations while others have converged towards critical narratives promoted by a number of social movements and have become involved in subsequent discussions on overtourism and tourismphobia The terms overtourism and tourismphobia have their genesis in the rapid unfolding of unsustainable mass tourism practices and the responses that these have generated amongst academics practitioners social movements and grassroots organizations concerned with the detrimental use of urban rural and coastal spaces among others for tourism purposes The renewed interest in the study of the adverse impacts of tourism as implied in the term overtourism is related to a variety of well established causes Travel and Tourism in the Age of Overtourism builds on existing knowledge and makes a theoretical and practical contribution the overtourism debate and the system dynamics underlining it This collection suggests ways to address this from a tourism and planning perspective It offers critical reflections on the contemporary evolution of tourism development and the implication of such processes on people places and spaces The chapters in this book were originally published as a Special Issue of the journal Tourism Planning Development

Handbook of Methods in Cultural Anthropology H. Russell Bernard, Clarence C. Gravlee, 2014-07-08 The Handbook of Methods in Cultural Anthropology now in its second edition maintains a strong benchmark for understanding the scope of contemporary anthropological field methods Avoiding divisive debates over science and humanism the contributors draw upon both traditions to explore fieldwork in practice The second edition also reflects major developments of the past decade including the rising prominence of mixed methods the emergence of new technologies and evolving views on ethnographic writing Spanning the chain of research from designing a project through methods of data collection and interpretive analysis the Handbook features new chapters on ethnography of online communities social survey research and network and geospatial analysis Considered discussion of ethics epistemology and the presentation of research results to diverse audiences round out the volume The result is an essential guide for all scholars professionals and advanced students who employ fieldwork

Rapid Ethnographies Cecilia Vindrola-Padros, 2021-01-21 Rapid ethnographies are used in a wide range of fields to speed up research quickly and effectively This book is the first practical guide to rapid ethnographies helping readers to improve skills in the design implementation dissemination and use of findings generated through rapid ethnographic research It gives advice and guidelines for carrying out rapid and rigorous research and provides details of tools used in the field Vignettes reflecting on the author's research are included throughout including observations on research carried out during the COVID 19 pandemic to highlight how challenges of conducting rapid ethnographies can be overcome. Love and Technology Fabian Broeker, 2023-12-22 Love and Technology: An Ethnography of Dating App Users in Berlin explores how dating apps fit into Berlin's unique dating culture and form a tangible nucleus around which users navigate dating rituals, romantic biographies, and digitally mediated intimacies within city space. Drawing on the field of digital anthropology, this book takes the form of an immersive ethnography resulting from 13 months of fieldwork with young dating app users across Tinder, Bumble, and OkCupid in Berlin. It argues that dating apps offer or impose, depending on their context of use, a series of affordances. These affordances and the technological devices they rely upon exist through the relation between users and their environment, both in terms of physical spaces and cultural frameworks. The book posits that dating apps are woven into spatial practices and self-narrativisation, constituting imagined communities for their users as well as a canvas alongside the city of Berlin against which to characterise romantic experiences. Scholars interested in digital anthropology, ethnography, dating, and regional Berlin will find that Love and Technology offers a vibrant springboard for thinking through both theoretical and methodological concerns.

Sociopolitics of Migrant Death and Repatriation Krista E. Latham, Alyson J. O'Daniel, 2017-10-03 As scholars have by now long contended, global neoliberalism and the violence associated with state restructuring provide key frameworks for understanding flows of people across national boundaries and eventually into the treacherous terrains of the United States borderlands. The proposed volume builds on this tradition of situating migration and migrant death within broad systems-level frameworks of analysis but contends that there is another, perhaps somewhat less tidy but no less important, sociopolitical story to be told here. Through examination of how forensic scientists define, navigate, and enact their work at the frontiers of US policy and economics, this book joins a robust body of literature dedicated to bridging social theory with bioarchaeological applications to modern-day problems. This volume is based on deeply and critically reflective analyses submitted by individual scholars wherein they navigate and position themselves as social actors embedded within and perhaps partially constituted by relations of power, cultural ideologies, and the social structures characterizing this moment in history. Each contribution addresses a different variation on themes of power, relations, production of knowledge, and reflexivity in practice. In sum, however, the chapters of this book trace relationships between institutions, entities, and individuals comprising the landscapes of migrant death and repatriation and consider their articulation with sociopolitical dynamics of the neoliberal state.
