Catullus and the Poetics of Roman Manhood David Wray,2001-09-06 This book applies comparative cultural and literary models to a reading of Catullus poems as social performances of a poetics of manhood a competitively often outrageously self allusive bid for recognition and admiration Earlier readings of Catullus based on Romantic and Modernist notions of lyric poetry have tended to focus on the relationship with Lesbia and to ignore the majority of the shorter poems which are instead directed at other men Professor Wray approaches these poems in the light of more recent models for understanding male social interaction in the premodern Mediterranean placing them in their specifically Roman historical context while bringing out their strikingly postmodern qualities The result is an alternative way of reading the fiercely aggressive and delicately refined agonism performed in Catullus shorter poems All Latin and Greek quoted is supplied with an English translation

Ancient Roman Literary Gardens K. Sara Myers, 2024 Beginning with Cicero and Varro and ending with Statius and Pliny the Younger this chapter offers a chronological investigation of the ways in which real and literary gardens developed from the first century BCE to the first century CE as a means of elite masculine self representation and the reactions of elite Roman men to the increased social and cultural power of villa and horti estates and their grounds Gardens served as powerful symbols of wealth and as creative displays of the cultural aspirations of their owners in ways that challenged traditional definitions of gardens and of Roman manliness Since these large scale gardens are primarily associated with leisure otium authors are concerned with describing and justifying their activities in these sites as befitting Roman masculine ideals We can trace a change in attitude towards leisure and the private display of wealth and consequently gardens largely attributed to changes in the socio political circumstances of the Roman elite in the works of Statius and his contemporary Pliny the Younger who use laudatory descriptions of extensive villas and grounds as a means of expressing social and literary power

Romanising Oriental Gods Jaime Alvar Ezquerro, 2008 The traditional grand narrative correlating the decline of Graeco Roman religion with the rise of Christianity has been under pressure for three decades This book argues that the alternative accounts now emerging significantly underestimate the role of three major cults of Cybele and Attis Isis and Serapis and Mithras Although their differences are plain these cults present sufficient common features to justify their being taken typologically as a group All were selective adaptations of much older cults of the Fertile Crescent It was their relative sophistication their combination of the imaginative power of unfamiliar myth with distinctive ritual performance and ethical seriousness that enabled them both to focus and to articulate a sense of the autonomy of religion from the socio political order a sense they shared with Early Christianity The notion of mystery was central to their ability to navigate the Weberian shift from ritualist to ethical salvation

The Cambridge Companion to Roman Satire Kirk Freudenburg, 2005-05-12 Satire as a distinct genre of writing was first developed by the Romans in the second century BCE Regarded by them as uniquely their own satire held a special place in the Roman imagination as the one genre that could address the problems of city life from the perspective of a real Roman In this Cambridge Companion an international team of scholars provides a stimulating introduction to Roman satire s core practitioners and practices placing them within the contexts of Greco Roman literary and political history Besides addressing basic questions of authors content and form the volume looks to the question of what satire does within the world of Greco Roman social exchanges and goes on to treat the genre's further development reception and translation in Elizabethan England and beyond Included are studies of the prosimetric Menippean satires that would become the models of Rabelais Erasmus More and narrative satire's crowning jewel Swift Eros at Dusk Katherine Wasdin, 2018-05-25 Eros at Dusk analyses the relationship between wedding poetry and love poetry in the ancient world These two genres share and borrow themes to seduce brides as if they were beloveds and to praise mistresses as if they were brides demonstrating deep seated ancient notions about legitimate and illegitimate sexual relationships
