Atonement, Justice, and Peace Darrin W. Snyder Belousek, 2012 In this substantial study Darrin W Snyder Belousek offers a comprehensive and critical examination of penal substitution the most widely accepted evangelical Protestant theory of atonement and presents a biblically grounded theologically orthodox alternative Attending to all of the relevant biblical texts and engaging with the full spectrum of scholarship Belousek systematically develops a biblical theory of atonement that centers on restorative rather than retributive justice He also shows how Christian thinking on atonement correlates with major global concerns such as economic justice capital punishment the war on terror and ethnic and religious conflicts Thorough and clearly structured this book demonstrates how a return to biblical cruciformity can radically transform Christian mission social justice and peacemaking Journal of Moral Theology, Volume 5, Number 2 David M. Justice as a Basic Human Need Antony James William Taylor, 2006 Psychologists in different tributaries of the discipline have long been preoccupied with aspects of Justice but none previously has addressed the essential question raised in this book namely of justice being as vital to the essentials of life and to the flowering of the human spirit as other basic needs The same can be said for academics and practitioners in other disciplines in social science as well as those in mental health and psychiatry Although lawyers might come close to accepting the proposition it seems to me that in the main their professional expertise is directed to the superficial maintenance of systems of justice rather than to the underlying reasons for doing so This book arising from academic clinical empirical and theoretical studies goes the further mile by giving justice its proper place in the hierarchy of basic human needs It is designed in accord with a general systems theory in which contributions are welcomed from international scholars and researchers in different domains of knowledge Above all it is written in the hope of inducing others to share a commitment to justice and do their utmost to prevent injustice

Baptism, Peace and the State in the Reformed and Mennonite Traditions Alan P. F. Sell, 2012-12-04 What are the most significant points at issue between the Reformed and Mennonite communions Baptism peace and church state relations Is there a way forward In the hope that there may be the contributors to this book attempt to clear the way to closer relations between Reformed and Mennonites by careful scholarly discussion of the traditionally disputed questions The papers gathered here were presented at the second phase of the international dialogue between the World Alliance of Reformed Churches Presbyterian and Congregational and the Mennonite World Conference There are Reformed and Mennonite studies of the three topics together with the responses of a philosopher of religion a sociologist a systematic theologian and a church historian In the Introduction the dialogue is set in its historical and contemporary ecumenical context and the Conclusion drafted by the dialogue participants has been forwarded to the two world bodies for their consideration and action This important work will be relevant to all future scholarly research into the growing debate between Reformed and Mennonite communions

Love in a Cauldron of Misery Kirk Blackard, 2012-09-27 Christians are called to minister to people in prison But most know next to nothing about prisons the needs of the people in them or the biblical basis for addressing those needs Love in a Cauldron of Misery fills that void This book provides a brief historical perspective that orients the reader and a discussion mainly in the words of people with real experience of what prisons and prisoners are really like and why the need for ministry is so great It then explores the biblical charge for Christians to meet these needs and discusses ways in which they can do so Love in a Cauldron of Misery is an invaluable resource for any pastor teacher or lay person who is participating in considering or just wants to know more about prison ministry

Razing Hell Sharon L. Baker, 2010-01-01 Seventy percent of Americans believe in hell as do 92 percent of those who attend church every week In her candid and inviting style Baker explores and ultimately refutes many traditional views of hell the missional nature of the church by tracing its role in the biblical story and exploring contemporary outworkings and implications Beyond Retribution Christopher D. Marshall, 2001 Recently a growing number of Christians have actively promoted the concept of restorative justice and attempted to develop programs for dealing with crime based on restorative principles But is this approach truly consistent with the teaching of Scripture To date very little has been done to test this claim Beyond Retribution fills a gap by plumbing the New Testament on the topics of crime justice and punishment Christopher Marshall first explores the problems involved in applying ethical teachings from the New Testament to mainstream society He then surveys the extent to which the New Testament addresses criminal justice issues looking in particular at the concept of the justice of God in the teachings of Paul and Jesus He also examines the topic of punishment reviewing the debate in social thinking over the ethics and purpose of punishment including capital punishment and he advocates a new concept of restorative punishment The result of this engaging work is a biblically based challenge to imitate the way of Christ in dealing with both victims and offenders Publisher The Politics of Discipleship and Discipleship in Politics Jurgen Moltmann, 2006-02-15 The Politics of Discipleship and Discipleship in Politics is a work of dialog and cooperation at every level At the core of this volume are lectures by Jurgen Moltmann originally delivered at two Mennonite seminaries at the height of the Cold War Theologians at those seminaries then responded to each of Moltmann's lectures and those are included as well Added to this collection are a new essay by Moltmann on peacemaking and dragonslaying a new foreword by Willard Swartley and a new preface by Moltmann In this post 9 11 world this dialog has fresh relevance

Mitzvot Ethics and the Jewish Bible Gershom M. H. Ratheiser, 2007-03-01 Ratheiser's study provides the framework for a non-confessional mitzvot ethics centered and historical philological approach to the Jewish bible and deals with the basic steps of an alternative paradigmatic perspective on the biblical text The author seeks to demonstrate the ineptness of confessional and ahistorical approaches to the Jewish bible Based on his observations and his survey of the history of interpretation of the Jewish bible Ratheiser introduces an alternative hermeneutical exegetical approach to the Jewish bible the paradigm of examples His study concludes that the biblical text is a collection of writings designed and formed from a specifically ethical ethnic outlook In other words he regards the Jewish bible to be written as an etiology of ancient instruction by ancient Jews to Jews and for Jews As such it serves as a religious ethical identity marker that provides ancient Jews and their descendants with an etiology of Jewish life Ratheiser regards this religious ethical agenda to have been the driving force in the minds of the final editors/compilers of the biblical text as we have it today Journal of Moral Theology, Volume 11, Issue 1 Jason King, M.  together the insights of ecclesial ethics an approach that emphasizes the distinctive nature of the church as the community that forms its mind and character after its reading of Scripture with the theory and practice of restorative justice a way of conceiving justice making that emerged from the Mennonite Anabaptist tradition this book shows why a theological account of the theory and practice of restorative justice is fruitful for articulating and clarifying the witness of the church especially when faced with conflict or wrongdoing This can help extend the church s imagination as to how it might better become God s community of restoration as it reflects on the ways in which the justice of God is taking shape in its own community How does an ecclesial context shape the theological apprehension and praxis of justice This question orientates the book In particular it asks how in view of its members having been admitted into God s restoring justice in Christ the church might embody in the world this same justice of restoring right relationships While Christian reflection on the nature of justice has tended to favour a judicial and retributive conception of justice it will be argued that the biblical understanding of the justice of God is best understood as a saving liberating and restorative justice It is this restorative conception that ought to guide the community that reads Scripture so that it might be embodied in life Evangelical Dictionary of Theology Daniel J.
