biology Giambattista Vico and the New Psychological Science Luca Tateo, 2017-01-31 Giambattista Vico 1668-1744 was an Italian philosopher, rhetorician, and historian. As one of the great thinkers of the Enlightenment, he exerted tremendous influence on the social sciences. He was the first to stress cultural and linguistic dimensions in the development of both the human mind and social institutions. Although his ideas on the relationship between mind and culture and his epistemology have inspired the work of many scholars in psychology, his sizeable influence has been scarcely acknowledged. The volume is organized in two sections. The first locates Vico in his historical context and in the landscape of contemporary human and social sciences. The second part presents those of Vico's concepts that seem promising for the development of a new way of looking at psychological phenomena. In the book's conclusion, Luca Tateo gathers the ideas of the volume's contributors to suggest future development of the psychological sciences. This book aims to show how Vico's insights can inspire future research in the psychological sciences. It collects multidisciplinary contributions of leading international scholars that draw upon the thought of this original thinker. Collectively, the contributors remind us of the legacy and continuing influence of this inspiring historical figure.

Wisdom and Humanness in Psychology C. Stephen Evans, 1997-12 This book discusses psychology and Christianity and makes the argument that Christian psychology is a possibility.

Perspectives On Psychology Michael W. Eysenck, 2013-10-23 This is a title in the modular Principles in Psychology Series designed for A level and other introductory courses aiming to provide students embarking on psychology courses with the necessary background and context. One aspect of this is to consider contemporary psychology in the light of its historical development. Another aspect is to examine some of the major controversies which have dominated psychology over the centuries. Yet another aspect is to consider some of the major areas of psychology, e.g. social, developmental, cognitive, in terms of what they have to offer in the quest for an understanding of human behaviour. The book also addresses key issues which need to be considered as psychology matures into a fully fledged experimental and scientific discipline. For example, how much do laboratory experiments tell us about how people behave in the real world? And how far is it ethically permissible for psychologists to go in their pursuit of knowledge?

Free Associations ,1988 Science Without God? Peter Harrison,Jon H. Roberts,2019-01-03 Can scientific explanation ever make reference to God or the supernatural The present consensus is no indeed a naturalistic stance is usually taken to be a distinguishing feature of modern science Some would go further still maintaining that the success of scientific explanation actually provides compelling evidence that there are no supernatural entities and that true science from the very beginning was opposed to religious thinking Science without God Rethinking the History of Scientific Naturalism shows that the history of Western science presents us with a more nuanced picture Beginning with the naturalists of ancient Greece and proceeding through the middle ages the scientific revolution and into the nineteenth century the contributors examine past ideas about nature and the supernatural Ranging over different scientific disciplines and historical periods they show how past thinkers often relied upon theological ideas and presuppositions in their systematic investigations of the world In addition to providing material that contributes to a history of nature and naturalism this collection challenges a number of widely held misconceptions about the history of scientific naturalism

The Shape of the Past John Warwick Montgomery,2008-02-05 Dr Montgomery contends that no one can sit in a house by the side of the road and watch the world go by Everyone is caught up in the flux of human life and there is no naturalistic resting place within human history from which one can gain a universal absolute perspective on man s life Christianity is the only answer to this basic human predicament for it claims and by the resurrection backs up its claim that there is a God and that He entered human history and revealed its essential nature
