Flavius Josephus' Self-Characterisation in First-Century Rome Eelco Glas,2024-06-03 The Jewish War describes the history of the First Jewish Revolt against Rome 66 70 CE This study deals with one of this work s most intriguing features why and how Flavius Josephus its author describes his own actions in the context of this conflict in such detail Glas traces the thematic and rhetorical aspects of autobiographical discourse in War and uses contextual evidence to situate Josephus self characterisation in a Flavian Roman setting In doing so he sheds new light on this Jewish writer s historiographical methods and his deep knowledge and creative use of Graeco Roman culture

Henry Miller and Narrative Form James Decker,2006-06-01 In this bold study James M Decker argues against the commonly held opinion that Henry Miller s narratives suffer from formlessness He instead positions Miller as a stylistic pioneer whose place must be assured in the American literary canon From Moloch to Nexus through such widely read texts as Tropic of Cancer and Tropic of Capricorn Decker examines what Miller calls his spiral form a radically digressive style that shifts wildly between realism and the fantastic Drawing on a variety of narratological and critical sources as well as Miller s own aesthetic theories he highlights that this fragmented narrative style formed part of a sustained critique of modern spiritual decay A deliberate move rather than a compositional weakness then Miller s style finds a wide variety of antecedents in the work of such figures as Nietzsche Rabelais Joyce Bergson and Whitman and is viewed by Decker as an attempt to chart the journey of the self through the modern city Henry Miller and Narrative Form affords readers new insights into some of the most challenging writings of the twentieth century and provides a template for understanding the significance of an extraordinary and inventive narrative form

Narrating the Dragoman's Self in the Veneto-Ottoman Balkans, c. 1550-1650 Stefan Hanß,2023-04-18 This microhistory of the Salvagos an Istanbul family of Venetian interpreters and spies travelling the sixteenth and seventeenth century Mediterranean is a remarkable feat of the historian s craft of storytelling With his father having been killed by secret order of Venice and his nephew to be publicly assassinated by Ottoman authorities Genesino Salvago and his brothers started writing self narratives When crossing the borders of words and worlds the Salvagos self narratives helped navigate at times beneficial other times unsettling entanglements of empire family and translation The discovery of an autobiographical text with rich information on Southeastern Europe edited here for the first time is the starting point of this extraordinary microbiography of a family s intense struggle for manoeuvring a changing world disrupted by competition betrayal and colonialism This volume recovers the Venetian life stories of Ottoman subjects and the crucial role of translation in negotiating a shared but fragile Mediterranean Stefan Han examines an interpreter s translational practices of the self and recovers the wider Mediterranean significance of the early modern Balkan contact zone Offering a novel conversation between translation studies Mediterranean studies and the history of life writing this volume argues that dragomans practices of translation border crossing and mobility were key to their experiences and performances of the self This book is an indispensable reading for the history of the early modern Mediterranean self narratives Venice the Ottoman Empire and Southeastern Europe as well as the history of translation Han presents a truly fascinating narrative a microhistory full of insights and rich perspectives

Refiguring Minds in Narrative Media David Ciccoricco, 2015-12 How do writers represent cognition and what can these representations tell us about how our own minds work Refiguring Minds in Narrative Media is the first single author book to explore these questions across media moving from analyses of literary narratives in print to those found where so much cultural and artistic production occurs today computer screens Expanding the domain of literary studies from a focus on representations to the kind of simulations that characterize narratives in digital media such as those found in interactive web based digital fictions and story driven video games David Ciccoricco draws on new research in the cognitive sciences to illustrate how the cybernetic and ludic qualities characterizing narratives in new literary media have significant implications for how we understand the workings of actual minds in an increasingly media saturated culture Amid continued concern about the impact of digital media on the minds of readers and players today and the alarming philosophical questions generated by the communion of minds and machines Ciccoricco provides detailed examples illustrating how stories in virtually any medium can still nourish creative imagination and cultivate critical and ethical reflection Contributing new insights on attention perception memory and emotion Refiguring Minds in Narrative Media is a book at the forefront of a new wave of media conscious cognitive literary studies
