Ornamental English Gardens

Roddy Llewellyn,1990 Melbourne Hall Garden Jodie Jones,2025-09-23 Explore the famous historical gardens of Melbourne Hall widely considered one of the most treasured historical gardens in England The garden is admired for its natural tunnel made up of the sweeping branches of an ancient yew tree as well as its wrought iron arbour created by Robert Bakewell known as the Birdcage which made Bakewell famous but also left him penniless There have been few radical alterations to the gardens since the early 18th century However in the earlier part of the 20th century extensive restoration was carried out Now home to Lord and Lady Ralph Kerr the garden remains a beautifully kept treasure Lady Kerr has developed the garden and her eye for colour and detail means that the Melbourne Garden is a haven of delightful and unusual specimen trees shrubs and herbaceous borders Although still very much an 18th century garden the new planting schemes have introduced greater botanical interest Covering both the early history and more recent developments under its current owners this stunning book contains numerous specially commissioned images by renowned garden photographer Andrea Jones which show this spectacular garden through the seasons English Garden Cities Mervyn Miller,2015-04-01 The Garden City Movement provided a radical new model for the design and layout of housing at the turn of the nineteenth century and set standards for the twentieth century which were of international significance The vision of the movement s founder Ebenezer Howard drew on many strands of political and utopian thought and initially aimed at addressing the problems of an increasingly urban and dysfunctional society along the peaceful path to real reform It took only five years from 1898 to 1903 for the idea to take root in the open fields of North Hertfordshire when Earl Grey proclaimed the Letchworth Garden City Estate open Letchworth was followed by Hampstead Garden Suburb Welwyn Garden City and numerous smaller developments and Garden City ideas informed both inter war housing policy and New Town planning after the Second World War Present day issues such as sustainable development and eco settlements have their roots in the

Garden City Written by the leading authority in the field this book tells the story of a major development in England's urban and planning history and provides a timely popular survey of the achievements of the Garden City Movement and the challenge of change This will not only appeal to planners and conservation professionals but also residents of the garden cities

England's Magnificent Gardens Roderick Floud, 2021-06-15 An altogether different kind of book on English gardens the first of its kind a look at the history of England's magnificent gardens as a history of Britain itself from the seventeenth century gardens of Charles II to those of Prince Charles today In this rich revelatory history Sir Roderick Floud one of Britain's preeminent economic historians writes that gardens have been created in Britain since Roman times but that their true growth began in the seventeenth century by the eighteenth century nurseries in London took up 100 acres with ten million plants that were worth more than all of the nurseries in France combined Floud's book takes us through more than three centuries of English history as he writes of the kings queens and princes whose garden obsessions changed the landscape of England itself from Stuart Georgian and Victorian England to today's Windsors Here are William and Mary who brought Dutch gardens and bulbs to Britain William who twice had his entire garden lowered in order to see the river from his apartments and his successor Queen Anne who like many others since vowed to spend little on her gardens and instead spent millions Floud also writes of Frederick Prince of Wales the founder of Kew Gardens who spent more than 40 000 on a single twenty five foot tulip tree for Carlton House Queen Victoria who built the largest most advanced and most efficient kitchen garden in Britain and Prince Charles who created and designed the gardens of Highgrove inspired by his boyhood memories of his grandmother's gardens We see Sarah Duchess of Marlborough who created a magnificent garden at Blenheim Palace only to tear it apart and build a greater one Deborah Duchess of Devonshire the savior of Chatsworth's 100 acre garden in the midst of its 35 000 acres and the gardens of lesser mortals among them Gertrude Jekyll and Vita Sackville West both notable garden designers and writers We see the designers of royal estates among them Henry Wise William Kent Humphrey Repton and the greatest of all English gardeners Capability Brown who created the 150 acre lake of Blenheim Palace earned millions annually and designed more than 170 parks many still in existence today We learn how gardening became a major catalyst for innovation central heating came from experiments to heat greenhouses with hot water pipes how the new iron industry of industrializing Britain supplied a myriad of tools mowers pumps and the boilers that heated the greenhouses and finally Floud explores how gardening became an enormous industry as well as an art form in Britain and by the nineteenth century was unrivaled anywhere in the world

The British Country House in the Eighteenth Century Christopher Christie, 2000 This work explores the British country house between 1700 1830 and looks at the lives of the noblemen and the servants who inhabited them Reference is made to the whole of the British Isles and there is a discussion of their political significance

,1984 England 2010 Fodor's,2009-11 Provides information on hotels and country inns restaurants and pubs driving and walking tours nightlife shopping sightseeing and seasonal activities and events The English Garden Charles

Quest-Ritson,2001 Gardening is all about lifestyles money and class Among the rich gardens are symbols of social and economic success among the poor they are an aid to survival Most commentators have concentrated on the development of garden styles and fashions but no history can properly be told without reference to the social and economic conditions which accompanied it Charles Quest Ritson sets out to put gardening in its context He shows how gardens have altered through the generations in direct response to changes in English society itself and he explains the social and financial reasons why gardening evolved as it did Plants and Gardens as Artefacts in Transcultural Contexts Minna Törmä,2025-09-30

This edited volume explores the ways in which the object biography or object itinerary approach could be adapted to frame research on animate objects such as plants and gardens in transcultural contexts By treating these animate elements as objects in the manner of artefacts and looking at their individual histories we gain a more nuanced sense of how data accumulated how new knowledge developed through printed texts and specimen collections and how the creators of gardens or landscapes formed their collections Chapters explore the shifts in meanings when objects from diverse origins meet in new cultural contexts where their new owners create assemblages based on their perception of the world The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history material culture and cultural geography The British Country House Revival Ben Cowell,2024 British country houses have experienced a renaissance since the early 1970s A new accord is needed today recognising the increasingly contested contribution of country houses to British cultural life Fifty years ago the future for country houses in Britain looked bleak The Victoria Albert Museum s exhibition The Destruction of the Country House which opened in October 1974 charted the loss of over a thousand country houses in the preceding century The makers of the exhibition warned that history could be about to repeat itself because of the threats besetting mansion properties principally from higher taxation Houses faced the prospect of having to be stripped of their collections and sold for use as offices hotels or hospitals with their parks and gardens turned into golf clubs Government might afford to save just a handful of the most significant of these places working in tandem with charities such as the National Trust The rest would be consigned to history This book traces the history of country houses in Britain from the Destruction exhibition to the present day The wave of country house losses anticipated in 1974 never actually happened Instead over the next five decades Britain s country houses experienced a renaissance Fiscal rules changed in the mid 1970s to make it easier for owners to hold on to their assets Economic improvements in the 1980s and 1990s allowed many houses and estates to develop profitable commercial businesses All of this was achieved only after dedicated campaigning from heritage organisations in support of the country house cause The book argues that a new accord is needed today to recognise and value the ongoing if increasingly contested contribution of country houses to British life and culture in the twenty first century Gardens of the Arts and Crafts

Movement Judith B. Tankard,2018-11-27 The ever alluring Arts and Crafts garden is profoundly relevant to our 21st century needs Sam Watters author of Gardens for a Beautiful America In Gardens of the Arts and Crafts Movement landscape scholar Judith B Tankard surveys the inspirations characteristics and development of garden design during this iconic movement Tankard presents a selection of houses and gardens of the era from Great Britain and North America With almost 300 illustrations and photographs and an emphasis on the diversity of designers who helped forge the movement Gardens of the Arts and Crafts Movement is an essential resource for this truly distinct approach to garden design Unforgettable
