

Econ Chapter 1: First Principles (11)

- What is economics?

- The study of how human beings coordinate their wants and desires, given the decision-making mechanisms, social customs, and political realities of society.
  - We make decisions on what we want (consumption), and what we will do (production).
  - These decisions are affected by social customs, where we live, etc.

- 4 Principles of Individual Decision Making:

- What and how much to consume?
- What, how much, and for whom to produce.
- (example of microeconomics)
  - 1) We have to make choices because resources are scarce.
    - Scarcity: not enough of a resource exists to satisfy everyone's desire for that resource.
  - 2) The actual cost of consuming a resource is its opportunity cost.
    - Opportunity Cost: the benefit forgone of your next best alternative.
      - Every decision that you make has an opportunity cost.
  - 3) How much is a decision at the margins?
