Sudhanshu, 2021-06-15 Geographic Information Science for Land Resource Management is a comprehensive book focusing on managing land resources using innovative techniques of spatial information sciences and satellite remote sensing The enormous stress on the land resources over the years due to anthropogenic activities for commercialization and livelihood needs has increased manifold The only solution to this problem lies in stakeholder awareness which can only be attained through scientific means The awareness is the basis of the sustainable development concept which involves optimal management of natural resources subject to the availability of reliable accurate and timely information from the global to local scales GIScience consists of satellite remote sensing RS Geographical Information System GIS and Global Positioning System GPS technology that is nowadays a backbone of environmental protection natural resource management and sustainable development and planning Being a powerful and proficient tool for mapping monitoring modeling and managing natural resources can help understand the earth surface and its dynamics at different observational scales Through the spatial understanding of land resources policymakers can make prudent decisions to restore and conserve critically endangered resources such as water bodies lakes rivers air forests wildlife biodiversity etc This innovative new volume contains chapters from eminent researchers and experts The primary focus of this book is to replenish the gap in the available literature on the subject by bringing the concepts theories and experiences of the specialists and professionals in this field jointly The editors have worked hard to get the best literature in this field in a book form to help the students researchers and policymakers develop a complete understanding of the land system vulnerabilities and solutions

Introduction To Geographical Information Systems Prithvish Nag And Smita Sengupta, Prithvish Nag, 2008 In Indian context Geographic Information Systems, Spatial Modelling and Policy Evaluation Manfred M. Fischer, Peter Nijkamp, 2012-12-06 Geographical Information Systems GIS provide an enhanced environment for spatial data processing The ability of geographic information systems to handle and analyse spatially referenced data may be seen as a major characteristic which distinguishes GIS from information systems developed to serve the needs of business data processing as well as from CAD systems or other systems whose primary objective is map production This book which contains contributions from a wide ranging group of international scholars demonstrates the progress which has been achieved so far at the interface of GIS technology and spatial analysis and planning The various contributions bring together theoretical and conceptual technical and applied issues Topics covered include the design and use of GIS and spatial models AI tools for spatial modelling in GIS spatial statistical analysis and GIS GIS and dynamic modelling GIS in urban planning and policy making information systems for policy evaluation and spatial decision support systems International Geographic Information Systems (IGIS) Symposium: Applications and implementation, 1988 A Primer on Evaluation and Use of Natural Resource Information for Corporate Data Bases, 1995 GIS Environmental Modelling and Engineering Allan Brimicombe, 2003-08-29 The significance of modeling in managing the environment is well recognized from scientific and engineering perspectives as well as in the political arena Environmental concerns and issues of sustainability have permeated both public and private sectors particularly the need to predict assess and mitigate against adverse impacts that arise from continuing development and use of resources Students need to be made aware of these issues Practitioners should enrich their knowledge and skills in these areas This book focuses on the modeling rather than on
