Gateways to the Southwest Jay M. Price, 2016-05-26 Arizona is home to some of the region's most stunning national parks and monuments and has had a long tradition of strong federal agencies along with effective local governments developing and managing parklands. Before World War II protecting sites from development seemed counterproductive to a state government dominated by extractive industries. By the late 1950s this state that prided itself on being a tourist destination found its lack of state parks to be an embarrassment. Gateways to the Southwest is a history of the creation of state parks in Arizona examining the ways in which different types of parks were created in the face of changing social values. Jay Price tells how Arizona's parks emerged from the recreation and tourism boom of the 1950s and 1960s, were shaped by the environmental movement of the 1970s and 1980s, and have been affected by the financial challenges that arose in the 1990s. He also explains how changing political realities led to different methods of creating parks like Catalina, Homolovi Ruins, and Kartchner Caverns. In addition, places that did not become state parks have as much to tell us as those that did. By the time the need for state parks was recognized in Arizona, most choice sites had already been developed, and Price reveals how acquiring land often proved difficult and expensive. State parks were of necessity developed in cooperation with the federal government, other state agencies, community leaders, and private organizations. As a result, parks born from land exchanges, partnerships, conservation easements, and other cooperative ventures are more complicated entities than the state park designation might suggest. Price's study shows that the key issue for parks has not been who owns a place but who manages it, and today Arizona's state parks are a network of lake-based recreation, historic sites, and environmental education areas reflecting issues just as complex as those of the region's better-known national parks. Gateways to the Southwest is a case study of resource stewardship in the Intermountain West that offers new insights into environmental history as it illustrates the challenges and opportunities facing public lands all over America.

A Pack of Predators S. I. Soper, 2020-06-02 At age thirty-five Federal Marshal Buck Fyffe had eleven years experience as a lawman. When he and Deputy Steve Larson were charged with taking the outlaw Luther Gibbs to the newly established Yuma Territorial Prison, he wasn't expecting any problems. Gibbs and his gang had stolen 25,000 from Southwestern. When Larson gets snakebit and dies, Fyffe finds himself almost three days away from the Yuma prison with no one to spell him while he sleeps. It doesn't take long for Gibbs's gang, who had been looking for their leader, to find them when Fyffe fires a shot as Gibbs tries to get away. Fyffe is overtaken by the gang and suffers at their hands. The gang hatches a plan for Gibbs to pose as Fyffe and one of his men to pose as Larson and to deliver Fyffe to Yuma prison claiming he is Luther Gibbs. In spite of Fyffe's insistence that he is in fact the federal marshal, he finds himself as prisoner number 109. In addition to fearing that Gibbs will get to the money and get away, Fyffe must survive in a prison where he'll surely be recognized by someone he sent there.

Adams, 2016-04-15 By any measure the battles of Bataan and Corregidor were among the most intensely fought and devastating episodes in the World War II Pacific theater Beginning in early 1942 the Japanese Imperial Army invaded the Philippines in an attempt to control the Pacific region and expand its sphere of influence The defense and last stand of Filipino and American allied forces marked the largest surrender in their respective military histories Their efforts slowed the Japanese advance but only at great cost John A Adams Jr provides a new and compelling exploration of these pivotal events by recounting the history of Bataan and Corregidor through the eyes of 89 soldiers and officers who were former students and citizen soldiers from the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas All were products of the Corps of Cadets and indeed no other institution could boast of such a large deployment in the opening of the war While many words have been written on Bataan and Corregidor none have taken the approach of collective biography as The Fightin Texas Aggie Defenders of Bataan and Corregidor does here As a result this book is not only a new contribution to the history of World War II but also stands to be a landmark publication on the history of Texas A M University Subject Catalog, 1976 Library of Congress, 1976 The Westerners Brandbook Westerners. Cooper, John A. Adams, Henry C. Dethloff, 2016-11-01 The Aggie tradition of Muster stretches back to the earliest days of the college But an extraordinary Muster took place during World War II that would change and further hallow the service thereafter In the spring of 1942 with Japanese forces poised to overrun the Allies on the Philippine island of Corregidor Maj Thomas Dooley class of 1935 and Maj Gen George F Moore class of 1908 compiled a list of twenty five other Aggies under their command which constituted a roll call in the midst of the bombardment Dooley later told a journalist about the list and the resulting article spread rapidly throughout the United States forever connecting Dooley to this enduring Aggie tradition The breadth of Dooley s wartime experiences however goes far beyond this single Muster On the day of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor

Dooley began the first of six handwritten journals more than 500 pages that he continued to update throughout the war As aide de camp to Gen Jonathan Wainwright the new commander of the Allied forces after Gen Douglas MacArthur was ordered to Australia Dooley had regular contact with various commanders and headquarters throughout Bataan and Corregidor His journals reveal the inside story of the battles of Bataan and Corregidor and with it the capture imprisonment and struggle for survival of tens of thousands of American prisoners of war Dooley s journals dutifully maintained even as he was a prisoner are at once witty articulate stark and often reflective Dooley died in 2006 and his journals now reside in the Texas A M University archives Jerry C Cooper has painstakingly transcribed edited and annotated these remarkable documents shedding new light on daily life in the storied history of the war in the Pacific Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress,1978 Catalog of Copyright Entries.
