Lauterwein, 2016-03-03 This book compares the civil and common law approach to analyze the question What sorts of conduct may the state legitimately make criminal Through a comparative focus on an Australian and German context this book utilizes interviews with Australian criminal law experts and contrasts them with the German model based on Rechtsgutstheorie By comparing the largely descriptive criminology based Australian approach with the more sophisticated German legal theory model the author finds the Australian approach to be suffering from a normative flaw illustrated by the distinction of different approaches to the offences of incest bestiality and possession of illicit drugs Carl Constantin Lauterwein discovers that while there is strength in the common law approach of describing the possible reasons for criminalizing certain conduct the approach could be significantly improved by scrutinizing the legitimacy of those reasons
