Back to the Future of the Body Dominic Janes, 2013-02-14 What can the past tell us about the future of the body The origins of this collection of papers lie in the work of the Birkbeck Institute for the Humanities which has been involved in presenting a series of international workshops and conferences on the theme of the cultural life of the body The rationale for these events was that in concepts as diverse as the cyborg the questioning of mind/body dualism the contemporary image of the suicide bomber and the patenting of human genes we can identify ways in which the future of the human body is at stake This volume represents an attempt not so much to speculate about what might happen but to develop strategies for bodily empowerment so as to get back to the future of the body The body it is contended is not to be thought of as an object or a sign but as an active participant in the shaping of cultural formations And this is emphatically not an exercise in digging corpses out of the historical archive The question is rather what can past lived and thought experiences of the body tell us about what the body can become The continuing vitality of debate around the body was proven by the range and depth of the papers presented at the workshop on which this volume is based does the body have a future Our overall theme required contributors to think through embodiment in the past This they did with considerable interdisciplinary vigour rigorousness and imagination Prof Donna Dickenson Director Birkbeck Institute of the Humanities     Spaces of Masculinities Kathrin Hörschmann, Bettina van Hoven, 2013-03-07 Changing circumstances in Western and global societies have introduced new constraints and opportunities for men and the formation of male identities Meanwhile the emerging diversity of atypical identities atypical when compared with traditional conceptions of middle class white heterosexual men poses new challenges for the production and use of spaces Spaces of Masculinities provides a comprehensive introduction to the innovative and diverse research on spaces of masculinity Drawing on a variety of geographical research projects the central concern of the book is to highlight the significance of research on masculinity in sociological and geographical work dealing with constructions of gender     Forensic Analysis of Tattoos and Tattoo Inks Michelle D. People and Place in Linguistic Landscapes Amiena Peck, Christopher Stroud, Quentin Williams, 2018-10-18 This volume offers comprehensive analyses of how we live continuously in a multiplicity and simultaneity of places It explores what it means to be in place the variety of ways in which meanings of place are made and how relationships to others are mediated through the linguistic and material semiotics of place Drawing on examples of linguistic landscapes LL over the world such as gentrified landscapes in Johannesburg and Brunswick Mozambican memorializations volatile train graffiti in Stockholm Brazilian protest marches Guadeloupian Creole signs microscapes of souvenirs in Guinea Bissau and old landscapes of apartheid in South Africa in contemporary time this book explores how we are what we are through how we are emplaced Across these examples world leading contributors explore how LLs contribute to the re imagining of different selves in the living past living the past in the present alternative presents and imagined futures It focuses particularly on how the LL in all of these mediations is read through emotionality and affect creating senses of belonging precarity and hope across a simultaneous multiplicity of worlds The volume offers a reframing of linguistics landscape research in a geohumanities framework emphasizing negotiations of self in place in LL studies building upon a rich body of LL research With over 40 illustrations it covers various methodological and epistemological issues such as the need for extended temporal engagement with landscapes a mobile approach to landscapes and how bodies engage with texts
