Private History Of Awe:

A Private History of Awe Scott Russell Sanders, 2007-05-15 An original and searching memoir from one of America's finest essayists Phillip Lopate When Scott Russell Sanders was four his father held him in his arms during a thunderstorm and he felt awe the tingle of a power that surges through bone and rain and everything He says The search for communion with this power has run like a bright thread through all my days A Private History of Awe is an account of this search told as a series of awe inspiring episodes his early memory of watching a fire with his father his attraction to the solemn cadences of the Bible despite his frustration with Sunday school religion his discovery of books and the body his mounting opposition to the Vietnam War and all forms of violence his decision to leave behind the university life of Oxford and Harvard and return to Indiana where three generations of his family have put down roots In many ways this is the story of a generation's passage through the 1960s from innocence to experience from euphoria to disillusionment But Sanders has found a language that captures the transcendence of ordinary lives while never reducing them to formula In his hands the pattern of American boyhood that was made classic by writers from Mark Twain to Tobias Wolff is given a powerful new charge Reimagining

Environmental History Christian Knoeller, 2017-10-11 Christian Knoeller presents a radical reinterpretation of environmental history set in the heartland of America In an excellent model of narrative based scholarship this book dynamically reimagines American environmentalism across generations of writers artists and scientists Knoeller starts out with Audubon and cites Thoreau's journals in the 1850s as he assesses an early 17th century account of New England's natural resources by William Wood showing the epic decline in game and bird populations in Concord This reading of environmental history is replicated throughout with a gallery of novelists poets essayists and other commentators as they explore ecological memory and environmental destruction In apt discussions of Matthiessen Lopez Wendell Berry William Stafford and many others Knoeller offers vibrant insights into literary history He also cites his own memoir of perpetual development on his family's farm in Indiana enriching the scholarship and making an urgent plea for the healing aesthetics of the imagination Reading across centuries and genres Knoeller gives us a vibrant new appraisal of Midwestern North American interior literary traditions and makes clear how vital environmental writing is to this region To date no one has written such an eloquent and comprehensive cross genre analysis of Midwestern environmental literature Earth Works

Scott Russell Sanders, 2012-02-01 In the hands of award winning writer Scott Russell Sanders the essay becomes an inquisitive and revelatory form of art In 30 of his finest essays nine never before collected Sanders examines his Midwestern background his father's drinking his opposition to war his literary inheritance and his feeling for wildness He also tackles such vital issues as the disruption of Earth's climate the impact of technology the mystique of money the ideology of consumerism and the meaning of sustainability Throughout he asks perennial questions What is a good life How do family and culture shape a person's character How should we treat one another and the Earth What is our role in the cosmos

Readers and writers alike will find wisdom and inspiration in Sanders's luminous and thought provoking prose Vital Signs Gregg Levoy, 2015-12-29 Explores what inspires passion and what defeats it How we lose it and how we get it back And ultimately examines the endless yet endlessly fruitful tug of war between freedom and domestication the wild in us and the tame our natural selves and our conditioned selves Satellite Simmons Buntin, 2025-03-04 How do we find a way to exist equitably in the world without exhausting our natural and cultural resources Exploring how to create belonging among both human and nonhuman animals is our essential work Parents have the added responsibility of conveying this charge to their children in a way that centers hope and empowerment over guilt and fear In Satellite Simmons Buntin delves into the idea of belonging in place time family and community in sixteen essays written over nearly two decades The pieces range throughout the desert Southwest on both sides of the U S Mexico border and as far afield as Mount Saint Helens eastern Montana northern Vermont Sweden and even the moon if a telescope atop Kitt Peak counts Buntin examines the beauty and challenges of raising a family and creating more sustainable communities in the Sonoran Desert and more broadly in any of America's diverse cultural and ecological landscapes How should community be defined How do we protect heritage in an age of globalization How do we find renewal following personal and place based trauma What forms may grace take and how can parents pass that dignity on to their children Fortunately it is a responsibility both shared and rewarding funny and phenomenal for at every turn there is a new discovery a new insight a new integration between ourselves and the world that culminates when we succeed in a vibrant sense of place Buntin searches for a balance between the built and natural environments and the beings that inhabit them in a way that enables us not only to survive but to thrive together
