Excerpt from Private Forest Land Owners of the United States 1994 Analysis sample locations The remaining million acres of Alaska s private forest did not have ground samples directly associated by ownership but is owned primarily by the same Native corporations that own most of the state s private timberland This study uses million acres of private forest in Alaska for estimation purposes based on responses from Alaska owners About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works PRIVATE FOREST-LAND OWNERS OF THE NORTHERN UNITED STATES, 1994... RESOURCE BULLETIN NE-136... U.S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE. United States. Forest Service,1997* Understanding Key Issues of Sustainable Wood Production in the Pacific Northwest ,2005 Researchers involved with the Pacific Northwest PNW Research Station Sustainable Wood Production Initiative have outlined some of the barriers and opportunities for sustainable wood production in the region Sustainable wood production is defined as the capacity of forests to produce wood products and services on a long term basis and in the context of human activity and use The collective findings of these papers suggest that in the future the regions wood supply will primarily come from private land and the barriers and opportunities related to sustainable wood production will have more to do with future markets harvest potential land use changes and sustainable forestry options than with traditional sustained yield outputs Private lands in the PNW should be able to sustain recent historical harvest levels over the next 50 years but regional changes in sawmilling capacity and uncertain market conditions may affect wood production in the region Public perceptions of forestry land use changes and alternative forestry options are also discussed These papers present preliminary findings and proposals for future work designed to help us understand the key issues related to sustainable wood production Forest Biodiversity Olivier Honnay,2004 This book focuses on the diverse impact of forest history in general and of forest continuity fragmentation and past management in particular on the diversity and distribution of species The implications for the conservation of biodiversity in forests are also addressed Chapters have been developed from papers presented at a conference held in Leuven in January 2003 The emphasis is on temperate forests in Europe and

North America but the information may also be applicable to other regions or biomes The book will be of significant interest to researchers working within the areas of forestry ecology conservation and environmental history Proceedings 11th Central Hardwood Forest Conference, Columbia Missouri March 23-26, 1997...
