Race, Nation, Translation Zoë Wicomb, 2018-01-01 The first collection of nonfiction critical writings by one of the leading literary figures of post apartheid South Africa The most significant nonfiction writings of Zo Wicomb one of South Africa s leading authors and intellectuals are collected here for the first time in a single volume This compilation features essays on the works of such prominent South African writers as Bessie Head Nadine Gordimer Njabulo Ndebele and J M Coetzee as well as on a wide range of cultural and political topics including gender politics sexuality race identity nationalism and visual art Also presented here are a reflection on Nelson Mandela and a revealing interview with Wicomb In these essays written between 1990 and 2013 Wicomb offers insights into her nation s history politics and people In a world in which nationalist rhetoric is on the rise and right wing populist movements are the declared enemies of diversity and pluralism her essays speak powerfully to a host of current international issues

Race, Nation, and Empire in American History James T. Campbell, 2009-07-27 While public debates over America s current foreign policy often treat American empire as a new phenomenon this lively collection of essays offers a pointed reminder that visions of national and imperial greatness were a cornerstone of the new country when it was founded In fact notions of empire have long framed debates over western expansio

Race, nation and empire Catherine Hall, Keith McClelland, 2024-06-04 The essays in this collection show how histories written in the past in different political times dealt with considered or avoided and disavowed Britain s imperial role and issues of difference Ranging from enlightenment historians to the present these essays consider both individual historians including such key figures as E A Freeman G M Trevelyan and Keith Hancock and also broader themes such as the relationship between liberalism race and historiography and how we might re think British history in the light of trans national trans imperial and cross cultural analysis Britishness and what British history is have become major cultural and political issues in our time But as these essays demonstrate there is no single national story race empire and difference have pulsed through the writing of British history The contributors include some of the most distinguished historians writing today C A Bayly Antoinette Burton Saul Dubow Geoff Eley Theodore Koditschek Marilyn Lake John M MacKenzie Karen O Brien Sonya O Rose Bill Schwarz Kathleen Wilson

Race and Nation in Modern Latin America Nancy P. Appelbaum, Anne S. Macpherson, Karin Alejandra Roseblatt, 2003-11-20 This collection brings together innovative historical work on race and national identity in Latin America and the Caribbean and places this scholarship in the context of interdisciplinary and transnational discussions regarding race and nation in the Americas Moving beyond debates about whether ideologies of racial democracy have actually served to obscure discrimination the book shows how notions of race and nationhood have varied over time across Latin America s political landscapes Framing the themes and questions explored in the volume the editors introduction also provides an overview of the current state of the interdisciplinary literature on race and nation state formation Essays on the postindependence period in Belize Brazil Colombia Cuba Mexico Panama and Peru consider how popular and elite racial constructs have developed in relation to one another and to processes of nation building Contributors also examine how ideas regarding racial and national identities have been gendered and ask how racialized constructions of nationhood have shaped and limited the citizenship rights of subordinated groups The contributors are Sueann Caulfield Sarah C Chambers Lillian Guerra Anne S Macpherson Aims McGuinness Gerardo Renique James Sanders Alexandra Minna Stern and Barbara Weinstein

Race, Nation, & Empire in American History (Volume 1 of 2) (EasyRead Super Large 20pt Edition) , Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature ,1922 Women Writing Race, Nation, and History Sonita Sarker,2022 Addresses questions of belonging nativism and nationalism in the writings of six early twentieth century women writers across Argentina England India Italy and the United States and explores themes of political and cultural citizenship in their work Race, Nation, Class Étienne Balibar,Immanuel Wallerstein,2020-05-05 Forty years after the defeat of Nazism and twenty years after the great wave of decolonization how is it that racism remains a growing phenomenon What are the special characteristics of contemporary racism How can it be related to class divisions and to the contradictions of the nation state And how far in turn does racism today compel us to rethink the relationship between class struggles and nationalism This book attempts to answer these fundamental questions through a remarkable dialogue between the French philosopher Etienne Balibar and the American historian and sociologist Immanuel Wallerstein Each brings to the debate the fruits of over two decades of analytical work greatly inspired respectively by Louis Althusser and Fernand Braudel Both authors challenge the commonly held notion of racism as a continuation of or throwback to the xenophobias of past societies and communities They analyze it instead as a social relation indissolubly tied to present social structures the nation state the division of labor and the division between core and periphery which are themselves constantly being reconstructed Despite their productive disagreements Balibar and Wallerstein both emphasize the modernity of racism and the need to understand its relation to contemporary capitalism and class struggle Above all their dialogue reveals the forms of present and future social conflict in a world where the crisis of the nation state is accompanied by an alarming rise of nationalism and chauvinism Constructing the Nation Mariana Ortega,Linda Martín Alcoff,2009-10-23 What does it mean today to be an American when one does not represent or embody the norm of Americanness because of one s race ethnicity culture of origin religion or some combination of these What is the norm of Americanness today how has it changed and how pluralistic is it in reality from the Introduction In this volume philosophers and social theorists of color take up these questions offering nuanced critiques of race and nationalism in the post 9 11 United States focused around the themes of freedom unity and homeland In particular the contributors examine how normative concepts of American identity and unity come to be defined and defended along increasingly racialized lines

in the face of national trauma and how nonnormative Americans experience the mistrust that their identities and backgrounds engender in this way The volume takes an important step in recognizing and challenging the unreflective notions of nationalism that emerge in times of crisis Jews, Antiquity, and the Nineteenth-century Imagination

Hayim Lapin,Dale B. Martin,2003 Essays on nineteenth century Christian understanding and use of biblical history and religion Studies and Texts in Jewish History and Culture The Joseph and Rebecca Meyerhoff Center for Jewish Studies University of Maryland no 12 Race, Nation, & Empire in American History (Volume 1 of 2) (EasyRead Comfort Edition) ,

Race, Nation, and Religion in the Americas Henry Goldschmidt,Elizabeth McAlister,2004-08-12 This collection of all new essays will explore the complex and unstable articulations of race and religion that have helped to produce Black White Creole Indian Asian and other racialized identities and communities in the Americas Drawing on original research in a range of disciplines the authors will investigate 1 how the intertwined categories of race and religion have defined and been defined by global relations of power and inequality 2 how racial and religious identities shape the everyday lives of individuals and communities and 3 how racialized and marginalized communities use religion and religious discourses to contest the persistent power of racism in societies structured by inequality Taken together these essays will define a new standard of critical conversation on race and religion throughout the Americas Race, Nation, and Refuge Doug Coulson,2017-10-01 From 1870 to 1940 racial eligibility for naturalization in the United States was limited to free white persons and aliens of African nativity and persons of African descent and many interpreted these restrictions to reflect a policy of Asian exclusion based on the conclusion that Asians were neither white nor African Because the distinction between white and Asian was considerably unstable however those charged with the interpretation and implementation of the naturalization act faced difficult racial classification questions Through archival research and a close reading of the arguments contained in the documents of the US Bureau of Naturalization especially those documents that discussed challenges to racial eligibility for naturalization Doug Coulson demonstrates that the strategy of foregrounding shared external threats to the nation as a means of transcending perceived racial divisions was often more important to racial classification than legal doctrine He argues that this was due to the rapid shifts in the nation s enmities and alliances during the early twentieth century and the close relationship between race nation and sovereignty A New Testament

Commentary for English Readers Charles John Ellicott,1878 Race, Nation, and Citizenship in Postcolonial Africa

Ronald Aminzade,2013-10-31 Nationalism has generated violence bloodshed and genocide as well as patriotic sentiments that encourage people to help fellow citizens and place public responsibilities above personal interests This study explores the contradictory character of African nationalism as it unfolded over decades of Tanzanian history in conflicts over public policies concerning the rights of citizens foreigners and the nation s Asian racial minority These policy debates reflected a history of racial oppression and foreign domination and were shaped by a quest for economic development racial justice and national self reliance Race, Nation, and Reform Ideology in Winnipeg, 1880s-1920s Kurt Korneski,2015-06-09

 During the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries a host of journalists ministers medical doctors businessmen lawyers labor leaders politicians and others called for an assault on poverty slums disreputable boarding houses alcoholism prostitution sweatshop conditions inadequate educational facilities and other social evils Although they represented an array of political positions and advocated a range of strategies to deal with what they deemed problems historians have come to term this impulse urban reform or the urban reform movement This book considers the history of reform ideology in Canada It does so by considering four leading reformers living in what might be described as the most Canadian of Canadian cities Winnipeg Manitoba While the book engages in discussions debates surrounding the particular individuals it considers its more general argument is that to understand the history of reform in Canada requires viewing reformers as simultaneously experiencing and responding to two basic phenomena simultaneously It requires understanding them as confronting the polarizing tendencies exploitation and sometimes grinding poverty that was central to the economic order they often unwittingly helped to impose in northern North America It also however requires seeing them as fundamentally shaped by the process and legacy of the dispossession of Aboriginal peoples and the changing nature of Aboriginal settler relations that were also central to the development of Canada Race, Nation, War Ayanna Yonemura,2019-06-10 This book examines international post 9 11 policies by connecting them to the US violations of Japanese Americans human rights during World War II Analysing the policies of the United States Race Nation War illustrates how ideas of race and masculinity shaped the indefinite leave policy which the government used to move Japanese Americans out of camps during the war With attention to recent American and European policies the author demonstrates that race gender and nation also converge in President Trump s policies on refugees and human rights the German and European migrant crises and related German policies and politics Assayed from a unique city and regional planning perspective Race Nation War will appeal not only to scholars of planning but also to those with interests in American Studies gender studies race and ethnicity sociology history and public policy Race, Nation, & Empire in American History (Volume 1 of 3) (EasyRead Super Large 24pt Edition) ,
Race and Nation Paul R. Spickard,2005 Race and Nation offers a comparison of the various racial ethnic systems that have developed around the world in locations that include China New Zealand Eritrea Jamaica
