Class, Race, and Gender in American Education Lois Weis, 1988-07-08 Most educators might agree that the hidden agendas on class race and gender to a large extent condition and determine the form and the content of schooling But how much of this situation is due to school factors and how much to social background factors is heatedly discussed and debated by scholars working within both the mainstream and critical traditions in the field of education Class Race and Gender in American Education represents a groundbreaking overview of current issues and contemporary approaches involved in the areas of class race and gender in American education In this book the first to combine a consideration of these issues and to investigate the manner in which they connect in the school experience authors consider the particular situations of males and females of divergent racial and class backgrounds from their earliest childhood experiences through the adult university years While providing valuable original in depth ethnographic and statistical analyses the volume also incorporates some of the important current theoretical debates the debate between structuralists and culturalists is highlighted for example

Envisioning a Critical Race Praxis in K-12 Education Through Counter-Storytelling Tyson E.J. Marsh, Natasha N. Croom, 2016-08-01 While critical race theory is a framework employed by activists and scholars within and outside the confines of education there are limited resources for leadership practitioners that provide insight into critical race theory and the possibilities of implementing a critical race praxis approach to leadership With a continued top down approach to educational policy and practice it is imperative that educational leaders understand how critical race theory and praxis can assist them in utilizing their agency and roles as leaders to identify and challenge institutional and systemic racism and other forms manifestations of oppression Stovall 2004 In the tradition of critical race theory we are charged with the task of operationalizing theory into practice in the struggle for and commitment to social justice Though educational leaders and leadership programs have been all but absent in this process given their influence and power educational leaders need to be engaged in this endeavor The objective of this edited volume is to draw upon critical race counter stories and praxis for the purpose of providing leaders in training and practicing

K 12 leaders with tangible narratives that demonstrate how racism and its intersectionality with other forms of oppression manifest within K 12 schooling An additional aim of this book is to provide leaders with a working knowledge of the central tenets of critical race theory and the tools that are required in recognizing how they might be complicit in the reproduction of institutional and systemic racism and other forms of oppression More precisely this edited volume intends to draw upon and center the lived experiences and voices of contributors that have experienced racism in K 12 schooling Through the use of critical race methodology and counter storytelling Sol rzano Yosso 2002 contributors will share and interrogate their experiences while offering current and future educational leaders insight in recognizing how racism functions within institutions and how they can address it The intended goal of this edited volume is to translate critical race theory into practice while emphasizing the need for educational leaders to develop a critical race praxis and anti racist approach to leadership the edge of race can be used both as a description and as a response to two key concerns. The first of these is that while race is increasingly on the periphery of education policy with a growing disregard shown for racist inequities as education systems become dominated by market driven concerns it is important that we map the shifting relations of race in neoliberal politics and policies. The second concern is that at this time within and outside the spaces of the academy even to mention race equity is to risk condemnation, marginalization and ridicule. The authors in this collection use the edge of race as a provocation in order to examine the concepts, methodologies, policies, politics, processes and practices associated with race and racism in education. The chapters offer empirical examples of the perpetuation and perniciousness of racism that point to the continued salience of research about race. Additionally, the chapters make contributions to conceptual and methodological understandings of race and racism. The contributors illustrate the contingency, productivity and fragility of race as a concept and point to how educational research continues to be a contested site in and from which to study race and education. This book was originally published as a special issue of Discourse Studies in the Cultural Politics of Education.

Race and Education Primer Aaron David Gresson, 2008. The Race and Education Primer introduces its topic as perspective, policy and pedagogy. It provides a thematic introduction to the guiding beliefs and major practices in the field with a special emphasis on critical, recurring themes. These include race and intelligence, the education gap, teacher education and cultural competence. Approaching race and education in global context, the primer covers topics of interest to both novice and advanced students. A glossary and suggested readings and resources add to the volume's value for students new to the field.

Cultivating Race Julia Tischler, 2025-02-17. Simultaneous to the rise of industrial capitalism, agriculture still the mainstay of most human communities around the globe in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries underwent dramatic changes. In many countries, including most settler economies, a large scale input heavy and increasingly mechanized commercial agricultural sector emerged while scores of struggling rural producers were squeezed off the land. The same period saw the rise of a global colour line, increasingly rigid social categorizations based foremost on skin colour. By considering agricultural progressivism as both a Pan Africanist and white supremacist movement, Julia Tischler here demonstrates how the agrarian question and the colour line intersected. Taking a uniquely transnational and comparative approach, the book explores these rural transformations through the lens of agricultural education, including agricultural colleges, extension services, children's clubs and domestic training. In so doing and by taking South Africa in the segregation period as its central case study, an extreme example of both rapid agrarian change and state sanctioned racism, the book offers important insights into global questions of rural reform and race politics, addressing all scholars and students who seek to understand the intricate links between race, knowledge and rural reform in the twentieth century.

Equity in Higher Education Samuel D. Museus, María C. Ledesma, Tara L. Parker, 2015-11-17 What does it mean to work toward racial equity in higher education in the 21st century This monograph answers just that with a synthesis of theory research and evidence that illuminate the ways in which racism shapes higher education systems and the experiences of people who navigate them Higher education leaders must move beyond vague notions of diversity and do the difficult work of pursuing systemic transformation and creating more inclusive environments in which racially diverse populations can thrive Such work necessitates a deep understanding of the historic and contemporary role of racism in shaping postsecondary access and opportunity This work will be of interest to those who recognize how advancing racial equity benefits all members of the campus community and larger society This is the 1st issue of the 42nd volume of the Jossey Bass series ASHE Higher Education Report Each monograph is the definitive analysis of a tough higher education issue based on thorough research of pertinent literature and institutional experiences Topics are identified by a national survey Noted practitioners and scholars are then commissioned to write the reports with experts providing critical reviews of each manuscript before publication

Cartographies of Race and Social Difference George J. Sefa Dei, Shukri Hilowle, 2018-12-04 This book critically examines how race is constructed globally to intersect gender class sexuality language ability and religion and answers some very important questions like how does anti black racism manifest itself within various contexts Chapters in the book use the Black and White paradigm as a lens for critical race analysis examining how for example the saliency of race and Blackness shape the post colony as well as the various post colonial nations The paradigm centers Whiteness as the lens of defining what and what is different The negative portrayal of difference is anchored in the sanctity of Whiteness It is through such analysis that we can understand how historically colour has been a permanent marker of differentiation even though it has not been the only one It is through conversations and dialogue in the classroom that the book was created given the current political shift in American and the rise of Anti Blackness anti Indigeneity Islamophobia and xenophobia The book critically examines White supremacy racialization of gender post racial false narratives and other contemporary issues surrounding race

Racism in American Public Life Johnnetta Betsch Cole, 2021-02-16 For some in our society diversity is a threat Others feel society should be more inclusive if only out of fairness But as Johnnetta Cole argues in her new book embracing diversity and inclusiveness is more than a virtuous ideal it is essential to a healthy productive society Focusing on higher education and other arenas of cultural development Cole explores our institutions vulnerability to the influence of racism and the wider implications for American society At the core of Cole's argument is the belief that increasing the representation of historically marginalized groups on college campuses and in museums media and other institutions is like the liberal arts vitally important to social progress Accompanying Cole's urgent calls to implement social change are vividly rendered experiences from her own remarkable life Cole issues a challenge for courageous conversations about race and racism and places unique responsibility and accountability on institutions of higher education in leading these conversations Race &
