Reconstruction of Macroeconomics: Methods of Statistical Physics, and Keynes' Principle of Effective Demand

Hiroshi Yoshikawa, 2022-10-29 This book explains how standard micro founded macroeconomics is misguided and proposes an alternative method based on statistical physics The Great Recession following the bankruptcy of Lehman Brothers in September 2015 amply demonstrated that mainstream micro founded macroeconomics was in trouble The new approach advanced in this book reasonably explains important macro problems such as employment business cycles growth and inflation deflation The key concept is demand failures which modern micro founded macroeconomics has ignored It Chapter 3 captures analytically a good part of the intuition that underlies the Keynesian economics of people like Tobin and me Robert Solow Emeritus Institute Professor of Economics Massachusetts Institute of Technology Nobel Laureate in Economics 1987 Professor Hiroshi Yoshikawa provides a unique synthesis of statistical physics and macro economic theory in order to confront the dismal failure in economics and in finance to understand how an economy or a financial market works given the heterogeneous decision making of many different individual interacting actors Economics has failed in this regard with the naive and often misleading concept of representative agents The author presents many insights on the historical development concepts and errors made by the most illustrious economists in the past This book should be essential readings for any economics students as well as academic researchers and policy makers who should learn to bring back good sense thinking in their impactful decisions Didier Sornette Professor on the Chair of Entrepreneurial Risks at the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology Zurich ETH Zurich

Handbook of Banking and Finance in Emerging Markets Nguyen, Duc K.,2022-10-14 Emerging markets are increasingly facing significant challenges from a slowdown in productivity rising debt and trade tensions to the adverse effects of proliferating global uncertainty on domestic financial systems This incisive Handbook examines the ongoing dynamics of global financial markets and institutions within the context of such rising uncertainty and provides a comprehensive overview of innovative models in banking and finance

Population Age Structure and the Budget Deficit Derek Hung Chiat Chen,2004 Chen focuses on the effects of age structure changes on the size of budget deficits of national governments More specifically he determines whether differences in age structure can account for the observed differences in budget deficits across countries as well as across time By way of an extension of the untested theory of negative bequest motives advocated by Cukierman and Meltzer 1989 the author argues that the commonly accepted notion that population aging tends to increase the budget deficits of economies is theoretically consistent. However, preliminary results from country and time fixed effects panel regressions estimated from 1975 to 1992 over 55 industrial and developing countries indicate statistical evidence for this postulation is present only in the developing countries but not in the industrial countries. This paper is a product of the Knowledge for Development Program, World Bank Institute, is part of a larger effort in the institute to study the economic and social effects of population aging. Land Management & Economics Kim Hin Ho, 2020-07-21

This book is concerned with a unique overall land policy optimization model under active government policy resulting in the sustainable effectiveness and efficiency of land policy. Such a model distinguishes it from the highly specific urban planning land use optimization model meant for optimizing land use specification, strategic land uses, land use restrictions, and control like zoning. Policy input is concerned with a hierarchical and structural definition of policy, while Additionality looks at land policy output outcome variables impacting broader land policy efficiency and effectiveness goals, their associated output indicators, and the interaction with the macroeconomy. Long run urban policy macroeconomy interaction is modeled in a contemporaneous cointegration model estimation involving different sectors of the economy. The model looks at the equilibrium and optimal land using economic activities. A dynamic interaction of land policy outcomes and their economic implications is discussed via cointegration tests and modelling. This book develops a rigorous system dynamics based computable general equilibrium model for direct real estate market uncertainty, i.e. the frequent mismatch between office demand and supply under the impact of limited land constraint, the domestic common stock market, the macro economy, and macroeconomic policy. Such dynamic interaction is structured under the demand side and supply side aspects. The book looks at the binomial option pricing model by Cox, Ross, and Rubinstein to model the risk neutral process for short term interest rates, common stock prices, and Housing Development Board (HDB) resale flat prices. Singapore's Main Upgrading Program (MUP) is a heavily subsidized and highly targeted. Since 1992, the HDB has budgeted some S$ 3 billion to finance the MUP policy. A positive impact is the asset value enhancement of the HDB flats within the upgraded precincts. MUP subsidies vary significantly with the corresponding option premium. A 3 Room HDB flat owner is more inclined to opt for upgrading while the option premium is deemed to be less attractive for upgrading by the 4 Room HDB flat owner. Residents' satisfaction level with town council (TC) services are examined under different political parties. The concern is to ascertain a housing finance model which analyzes the affordability of household borrowers for purchasing resale public housing. With Central Provident funds (CPF) usage, total interest paid over the loan life is significantly reduced. CPF as a financial buffer significantly reduces default risks for lender and household borrower.
