

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a person's silhouette against a bright, colorful sky. The person is seen from the back, looking towards the horizon. The sky is a mix of blue, pink, and yellow, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The person's head is tilted back, and their arms are slightly raised. The overall mood is contemplative and dramatic.

books are Why Men Rebel and Violence in America Violence in Canada Jeffrey Ian Ross, Many people consider Canada particularly in comparison to its southern cousin as a peaceable kingdom However as the historical record demonstrates Canadians have never been a thoroughly non violent people Violence in Canada highlights from an interdisciplinary perspective the major areas and contexts where violence takes place Consisting of thirteen contributions the book forms an indispensable guide to the subject All of the authors are experts in their field many with international reputations and are drawn from the fields of sociology political science history and criminology The foreword by Ted Robert Gurr author of Violence in America is followed by an historical analysis of violence on the Canadian western frontier Other scholars describe contemporary violence by and against indigenous peoples women children and the elderly in labor related disputes homicide police and prison violence terrorism and discuss government responses and policy implications Each chapter specifically addresses the sociological and political dimensions of violence The authors make ample use of statistics and empirical research Jeffrey Ian Ross s introduction outlines the sociopolitical dynamics of violence and his summary chapter offers directions for future research When the book was first published in 1995 it was widely praised by scholarly journals and has since become a standard text in the study of violence and modern Canadian cultural studies The book is all the more valuable as its new introduction places its findings in the context of research that has been produced since the original publication Violence in Canada will be of interest to sociologists criminologists and political scientists Jeffrey Ian Ross is an associate professor in the Division of Criminology Criminal Justice and Social Policy and fellow with the Center for Comparative and International Law University of Baltimore His work has appeared in many academic journals and chapters in academic texts as well as articles in popular magazines in Canada and the United States He is the author co author editor or co editor of eight books Ted Robert Gurr is Distinguished University Professor at the University of Maryland Among his books are Why Men Rebel and Violence in America Forbidden Desires Edward Ksenych, 2003-09-08 This informative reader introduces students to the sociological imagination in a way that is informative and entertaining From a pedagogical standpoint this is an excellent reader for introductory level courses on the sociology of deviance and social control The collection of articles combines readings on sociological perspectives and theories with journalistic treatments of deviance and social control The focus is on the social construction of deviance and the legitimizing of social control The Montreal Massacre Peter Eglin, Stephen Hester, 2006-01-01 The Montreal Massacre A Story of Membership Categorization Analysis adopts an ethnomethodological viewpoint to analyze how the murder of women by a lone gunman at the Ecole Polytechnique in Montreal was presented to the public via media publication over a two week period in 1989 All that the public came to know and understand of the murders the murderer and the victims was constituted in the description and commentaries produced by the media What the murders became therefore was an expression of the methods used to describe and evaluate them and central to these methods was membership category analysis the human practice of perceiving people places and events as members of categories and to use these to explain actions This is evident in the various versions comprising the overall story of the Massacre it was a crime it was a tragedy it was a horror story The killer s story is also based on his own categorial analysis he said his victims were feminists The media commentators formulated the significance of the murders in categorial terms it implicated a wider problem that of violence against women and thus the reasons for the murders were shown to be categorial matters As a contribution to sociology and as a demonstration of the significance of ethnomethodology for understanding social life the book reveals the methodical and particularly categorial character of how sense is made of events such as this and how such methodical and categorial resources are central to human interaction

Women and Urban Crimes Doel Mukherjee,2005 The book deals with the magnitude of crimes against women in the developed and the developing World context Through two empirical case studies the spatial context of crime has been explained especially how socia economic parameters and the environment can play a role to promote crime and disorder in a city Crime remedy is through good legislation NGO s working on women s issues the government while making policies and the media need to find ways to strengthen legislation to protect the vulnerable women

Violence and the Female Imagination Paula Ruth Gilbert,2006-03-31 In the past twenty years Quebec women writers including Aline Chamberland Claire D Suzanne Jacob and H l ne Rioux have created female characters who are fascinated with bold sexual actions and language cruelty and violence at times culminating in infanticide and serial killing Paula Ruth Gilbert argues that these Quebec feminist writers are re framing gender Violence and the Female Imagination explores whether these imagined women are striking out at an external other or harming themselves through acts of self destruction and depression Gilbert examines the degree to which women are imitating men in the outward direction of their anger and hostility and suggests that such tough women may be mocking men in their macho exploits of sexuality and violence She illustrates the ways in which Quebec female authors are feminizing violence or re envisioning gender in North American culture Gilbert bridges methodological gaps and integrates history sociology literary theory feminist theory and other disciplinary approaches to provide a framework for the discussion of important ethical and aesthetic questions

Power and Resistance Wayne Antony,2020-05-06T00:00:00Z How do we make sense of the social problems that continue to plague Canadian society Our understanding of issues such as poverty racism violence homophobia crime and pollution stems from our view of how society is structured From the dominant neoliberal perspective social problems arise from individuals making poor choices From a critical perspective however these social troubles are caused by structural social inequalities Disparities in economic social and political power that is relations of power based on class race gender and sexual orientation are the central structural element of capitalist patriarchal colonialist societies The contributors to Power and Resistance use this critical perspective to explore Canadian social issues such as poverty colonialism homophobia violence against women climate change and so on This sixth edition adds chapters on the corporatization of higher education the lethal impacts of colonialism democracy the social determinants of health drug policy and sexual violence on campus

Understanding Societies Gillian Balfour, 2021-12-13T00:00:00Z This book is a collection of critical readings that animate contemporary sociological theory and research. Students will learn how sociology can be relevant in their everyday lives as they are introduced to scholars who challenge conventional thinking about how the world works. Designed as a companion reader for introductory sociology students, each reading is set in context with clear linkages to Joanne Naiman's How Societies Work. Students will read about racial profiling, wrongful convictions, homophobia, human trafficking, professional sports sweatshop labour, and residential schools. Each chapter illustrates how sociologists think about social inequality, power, and social transformation.

Investigating Cyber Law and Cyber Ethics: Issues, Impacts and Practices Dudley, Alfreda, Braman, James, Vincenti, Giovanni, 2011-09-30 Ethical values in computing are essential for understanding and maintaining the relationship between computing professionals and researchers and the users of their applications and programs. While concerns about cyber ethics and cyber law are constantly changing as technology changes, the intersections of cyber ethics and cyber law are still underexplored. Investigating Cyber Law and Cyber Ethics: Issues, Impacts and Practices discusses the impact of cyber ethics and cyber law on information technologies and society. Featuring current research, theoretical frameworks, and case studies, the book will highlight the ethical and legal practices used in computing technologies, increase the effectiveness of computing students and professionals in applying ethical values and legal statutes, and provide insight on ethical and legal discussions of real-world applications.

Force & Fear Frederick John Desroches, 2002 Eighty convicted bank robbers, the Canadian penitentiary service, and police departments across the country have all actively contributed to Desroches' quest to uncover why an individual embarks on a crime for which the proceeds are minimal, the arrest rate high, and the jail sentence long. The first book of its kind, Force and Fear: Robbery in Canada examines robbery not just as a crime but as a criminal event. The author looks at offender motivation and social background, responses to robberies by the criminal justice system, and interaction between robber and victim.

How Claims Spread Joel Best, Best's anthology examines for the first time how diverse social issues—road rage, the metric system, gun control, and abortion—are among those included, migrate across national boundaries, modifying themselves from place to place as a result of different claims, claimsmakers, and policy responses. This unique collection, assembled from new research by an international group of social problems scholars, will fill a gap in undergraduate and graduate-level studies in the constructionist analyses of social problems as well as in political science, public policy, and criminology. Claims concerning one social problem often influence those about another; claimsmakers borrow rhetoric and tactics from one another. In some cases, experienced claimsmakers join efforts to call attention to other social problems, compelling images (e.g., the threatened child or random violence) link claims about different problems, and reactions to one set of claims. These case studies describe very different processes, ranging from deliberate attempts to disseminate social problem claims to developments that were more inadvertent, from successes in which social problem constructions spread to new countries to failures in which claims were sown but failed to take root They are intended to suggest that the diffusion of social problems is neither simple nor automatic Joel Best is professor and chair Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice University of Delaware He has served as an editorial advisor for Aldine that has produced fifty titles

Aboriginal Voices and the Politics of Representation in Canadian Introductory Sociology Textbooks John Steckley,2003 The philosophical underpinnings of this textbook make it a most interesting read for scholars of Aboriginal Studies the social sciences humanities and cultural studies and humanistic curriculum development John Steckley s familiarity with and respect for the epistemology of the Huron Mohawk and Ojibwa peoples enlightens and enables his research In this book he provides a critical framework for assessing Aboriginal content in introductory sociology textbooks He defines what is missing from the seventy seven texts included in his study of the manifestation of cultural hegemony in Canadian sociology textbooks This critique is suitable for students and professors of sociology as Dr Steckley addresses the impact of the ellipses from the textbooks they have traditionally used

Unruly Women Karlene Faith,2011-07-26 Winner of the VanCity Book Prize Unruly Women The Politics of Confinement institutionalized violence and sexual abuse against incarcerated women women loving women in prison motherhood inside prison battered woman syndrome Hollywood s formulaic women in prison films political education in prisons and acts of resistance inside and out Karlene Faith challenges misconceptions of deviant women and celebrates the unruly woman the unmanageable woman who claims her own body and who cannot be silenced As the drug war wages on riddled with excessive and inequitable prison sentences the incarcerated population skyrockets toward 2 5 million up from less than 200 000 nationwide in 1970 and private prisons burgeon around the coasts now is a critical moment to educate ourselves about what is at stake with our prison system Faith s incisive work causes us to question the usefulness of the forced confinement and surveillance of mostly nonviolent people

Camouflaged Killer David A. Gibb,2011-10-04 He was a perfect man living a perfect life which made him a perfect killer Canadian Air Force Colonel Russell Williams commanded the largest Canadian Forces base in the country He had personally piloted prime ministers dignitaries and members of the British royal family and was one of the most respected and trusted soldiers in the military He was also a rapist and a murderer This is the disturbing true account of how one of Canada s highest ranking military officers became one of Canada s most notorious criminals including his ultimate capture trial and conviction for a twisted spree of sexual deviancy and two brutal rapes and murders

Juvenile Justice Systems John Winterdyk,2002 Annotation By the year 2000 more than 50% of the world population will be under the age of 15 9th UN Congress 1995 Youth crime is increasing around the worl d 9th UN Congress 1995 In September 1997 Canadian Justice Minister Anne McLellan declared youth justice as a top priority These and similar facts speak to the urgency for society to study youth crime and examine youth justice systems from a comparative perspective As our world gets smaller we discover the urgency and importance of sharing and learning at a global level This collection offers a unique opportunity to examine six different juvenile justice systems and youth crime around the world All eleven articles are original contributions from a distinguished set of experts on juvenile justice in their respective countries Each contribution examines a set of common elements defining delinquency describing the nature and extent of youth crime examining the administration of youth justice and discussing issues confronting youth crime This groundbreaking book will be of interest to students criminologists and criminal justice policy makers who are interested in improving the intervention treatment and prevention of youth crime and the administration of youth justice Everybody Does It! Thomas Gabor,1994-01-01 Gabor s analysis probes the whys and wherefores of crime and reveals why some people are labeled and processed as criminals while others are not Case studies raise crucial questions about law enforcement
