An Introduction to the Philosophy of Herbert Spencer William Henry Hudson,1894 Shadows and Reflections Roy Whenary,1982 The Question of Painting Jorella Andrews,2018-11-29 Since the latter half of the 20th century committed art has been associated with conceptual critical and activist practices Painting by contrast is all too often defined as an outmoded reactionary market led venture an ineffectual medium from the perspective of social and political engagement How can paintings change the world today The question of painting in particular fuelled the investigations of a major 20th century philosopher the French phenomenologist Maurice Merleau Ponty 1907 61 Merleau Ponty was at the forefront of attempts to place philosophy on a new footing by contravening the authority of Cartesian dualism and objectivist thought an authority that continues to limit present day intellectual imaginative and ethical possibilities A central aim of The Question of Painting is to provide a closely focused chronological account of his unfolding project and its relationship with art clarifying how painting as a paradigmatically embodied and situated mode of investigation helped him to access the fundamentally intercorporeal basis of reality as he saw it and articulate its lived implications With an exclusive and extended conversation about the contemporary virtues of painting with New York based artist Leah Durner for whom the work of Merleau Ponty is an important source of inspiration The Question of Painting brings today s much debated concerns about the criticality of painting into contact with the question of painting in philosophy Line Edmund Joseph Sullivan,1922

Perceptual Ephemera Thomas Crowther,Clare Mac Cumhaill,2018-06-03 Most research on perception has focused on the perceptual experience of three dimensional solid bounded and coherent material objects items like tables and tomatoes But as well as having perceptual experience of such objects we also experience such aspects of the world as for instance rainbows and surfaces shadows and absences things that are ephemeral by contrast with material objects This book presents fifteen new essays on the perceptual experience of such ephemera The editors introduction provides a detailed guide to the topic as a whole setting out the thematic background to this emerging area of research in contemporary philosophy of perception The volume winds a path through the ephemeral considering such topics as sounds smells transparency reflection camouflage solidity and ambient vision A general aim of the volume is to make a case that the broad range of ephemera it catalogues is far from marginal or insubstantial with respect to their philosophical interest and value Philosophical attention to perceptual ephemera may well suggest novel routes to arriving at a more developed understanding of perceptual experience at large and its characteristic features Strangers and Pilgrims Douglas R.
