Coulter,2014-05-02 Gao Xingjian has been lauded for his inventive use of Chinese culture in his paintings plays and cinema however he denies that his current work participates in any notion of Chinese This book traces the development of these forms and how they relate and interact in the French language plays of the Nobel Laureate Theatre Magazine ,1904 The Bilingual Text Jan Walsh Hokenson,Marcella Munson,2014-06-03 Bilingual texts have been left outside the mainstream of both translation theory and literary history Yet the tradition of the bilingual writer moving between different sign systems and audiences to create a text in two languages is a rich and venerable one going back at least to the Middle Ages The self translated bilingual text was commonplace in the multilingual world of medieval and early modern Europe frequently bridging Latin and the vernaculars While self translation persisted among cultured elites it diminished during the consolidation of the nation states in the long era of nationalistic monolingualism only to resurge in the postcolonial era The Bilingual Text makes a first step toward providing the fields of translation studies and comparative literature with a comprehensive account of literary self translation in the West It tracks the shifting paradigms of bilinguality across the centuries and addresses the urgent questions that the bilingual text raises for translation theorists today Is each part of the bilingual text a separate original creation or is each incomplete without the other Is self translation a unique genre Can either version be split off into a single language or literary tradition How can two linguistic versions of a text be fitted into standard models of foreign and domestic texts and cultures Because such texts defeat standard categories of analysis The Bilingual Text reverses the usual critical gaze highlighting not dissimilarities but continuities across versions allowing for dissimilarities within orders of correspondence and englobing the literary as well as linguistic and cultural dimensions of the text Emphasizing the arcs of historical change in concepts of language and translation that inform each case study The Bilingual Text examines the perdurance of this phenomenon in Western societies and literatures The Translator on Stage Geraldine

Brodie,2017-12-28 In today s theatre productions of plays that originated in another language are frequently distinguished by two characteristics the authorship of the English text by a well known local theatre specialist and the absence of the term translation generally in favour of adaptation or version The Translator on Stage investigates the creative processes that bring translated plays to the mainstream stage exploring the commissioning translation and development procedures that end with a performed play Through a sample of eight plays that span two thousand years and six languages including Festen Don Carlos Hedda Gabler and The UN Inspector and that were all staged within a three month period Geraldine Brodie brings in a wide range of theatre practitioners to discuss their roles in the translation process and the motivations that govern London theatre translation activities The Translator on Stage is informed by specially conducted interviews with the productions producers artistic directors directors literary managers playwrights and specialist translators including Michael Grandage Rufus Norris David Eldridge Juan Mayorga David Johnston and Mike Poulton It sheds new light not only on theatrical translation procedures but also on the place of translation in society today World Encyclopedia of Contemporary
