

The background of the book cover features three distinct fossil plant specimens. In the top left, there is a dark, finely textured fossil, possibly a leaf or a seed, showing a central axis with lateral structures. In the top right, a lighter, more rounded fossil is visible, possibly a seed or a fruit. In the bottom half, a large, light-colored fossil shows a clear hexagonal cellular pattern, characteristic of plant tissue. The title and authors' names are overlaid on a yellow and black rectangular box in the center.
