Prisoners Of Honor:

Prisoners of Honor David L. Lewis, 1973 The Dreyfus Affair began with the persecution of Alfred Dreyfus the French Army's most promising Jewish officer who was falsely accused of passing military secrets to Germany. It ended as the cause célèbre of the 19th century. Here is a stunning re-creation of this terrible act of injustice brilliantly told by a Pulitzer Prize winning author. The Delinquent, 1916 Annual Report of the Prison Association of New York for the Year ... Prison Association of New York, 1916 The American Prison Francis T. Cullen, Mary K. Stohr, 2014 For the first time in four decades prison populations are declining and politicians have reached the consensus that mass imprisonment is no longer sustainable. At this unique moment in the history of corrections the opportunity has emerged to discuss in meaningful ways how best to shape efforts to control crime and to intervene effectively with offenders. The American Prison: Imagining a Different Future by Francis T. Cullen, Cheryl Lero Johnson and Mary K. Stohr pulls together established correctional scholars to imagine what this prison future might entail. Each scholar uses his or her expertise to craft in an accessible way for students to read a blueprint for how to create a new penology along a particular theme. For example, one contributor writes about how to use existing research expertise to create a prison that is therapeutic and another provides insight on how to create a feminist prison. In the final chapter the editors pull together the lessons learned in a cohesive comprehensive essay. Annual Report of the Prison Association of New York Prison Association of New York, 1916 Proceedings of the Parliament of South Australia South Australia. Legislature, 1926 Restorative Justice in a Prison Community Cheryl Swanson, 2009-03-16 Americans are frustrated with prisons. They recognize the need for these institutions but at the same time they worry about whether the money used to build and maintain them is well spent. Older prisons are dirty, disgusting, and dangerous but even newer facilities come up lacking in terms of offering inmates opportunities to take responsibility for their crimes, support their loved ones, further their education, learn job skills, and develop positive relationships in healthy, safe, respectful communities. This book provides insight into the philosophy of restorative justice which aims to develop ways we can manage our prisons differently to achieve more positive outcomes. Using the case study of an honor dorm in a maximum security prison, the book posits that most of the inmates never learned the basic tools for living life productively and responsibly. They never thought much about their victims or how their actions affected others. They never learned how to get along with others, pick up after themselves, or how to be of service to their fellow man. Swanson uses the writings and reflections of inmates participating in a restorative justice program to demonstrate the challenges and transformative possibilities of this alternative approach to rehabilitation A Compilation of the Tennessee Statutes of a General Public Nature, in Force on the First Day of January, 1919 Tennessee,1917 Town & County Edition of The American City ,1917 Honor's Reward John Bevere,2008-11-16 In HONOR S REWARD bestselling author John Bevere unveils the power and truth of an often overlooked principle the spiritual law of honor Bevere explains that understanding the vital role of this virtue will enable readers to attract blessing both now and for eternity The Ohio Bulletin of Charities and Correction ... ,1916 Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature ,1913 The Joliet Prison Post ... ,1914 Criminology Edwin Hardin Sutherland,1924
