Private Cities , Private Cities Yue Li,Martin Rama,2023-06-15 Institutional constraints and weak capacity often hamper the ability of local governments in developing countries to steer urbanization As a result there are not enough cities to accommodate an unabated rural urban migration and many of those that exist are messy sprawling and disconnected The flipside is the emergence of entire cities more than gated communities or industrial parks led in whole or in part by private actors To date little systematic research has been conducted on the conditions that are necessary for such unusual entities to emerge on the roles played by private actors or on the consequences for efficiency and equity Private Cities Outstanding Examples from Developing Countries and Their Implications for Urban Policy aims to fill this gap Using an analytical framework that draws on urban economics and political science it includes inventories of private cities in the Arab Republic of Egypt India Indonesia and Pakistan and provides structured reviews of 14 outstanding examples across all developing regions Nongovernment actors turn out to be diverse they include not only major companies and large developers but also business associations civil society organizations and even foreign countries The way local governments interact with these nongovernment actors varies as well from deliberate neglect to joint ventures Private actors take on some but not all local government functions while at times embracing unconventional roles And while private cities tend to be economically successful they can lead to environmental degradation social segregation and even institutional secession Increasing the capacity of local governments in developing countries will take time Along the way inefficient spatial development patterns may be locked in There is a case for selectively tapping into the comparative advantage of significant private actors while actively using policy tools to avoid the potential shortcomings In the spirit of a publicprivate partnership for urbanization land value capture would be at the center of this approach Institutions and Incentives in Public Policy Rosolino A. Candela,Rosemarie Fike,Roberta Herzberg,2022-07-18 Institutions and Incentives in Public Policy An Analytical Assessment of Non Market Decision Making explores both in theory and in practice the consequences of using public policy as a tool to achieve specific individual and social goals as well as its impact on private solutions to address such goals The chapters examine the institutional incentives that operate in non market settings both governmental and non governmental using the theoretical frameworks of market process theory and public choice theory they analyze a diverse set of contemporary public policy issues at both the domestic and international levels Authored by individuals from a variety of disciplines with diverse interests in public policy this work includes discussions of topics such as foreign aid education policy environmental policy health care policy and the construction of private cities This volume is relevant to scholars students policymakers and knowledgeable citizens interested in the study of economics political science public policy as well as those interested in particular policies rather than specific disciplines Gated Communities Samer Bagaeen,Ola Uduku,2010-02-09 Gated Communities presents a collection of new writings by an international and interdisciplinary group of contributors which provides a historic socio political and contemporary cultural perspective of gated communities
