Building the Prison State Heather Schoenfeld, 2024-05-31 The United States incarcerates more people per capita than any other industrialized nation in the world about 1 in 100 adults or more than 2 million people while national spending on prisons has catapulted 400 percent Given the vast racial disparities in incarceration the prison system also reinforces race and class divisions How and why did we become the world's leading jailer And what can we as a society do about it Reframing the story of mass incarceration Heather Schoenfeld illustrates how the unfinished task of full equality for African Americans led to a series of policy choices that expanded the government's power to punish even as they were designed to protect individuals from arbitrary state violence Examining civil rights protests prison condition lawsuits sentencing reforms the War on Drugs and the rise of conservative Tea Party politics Schoenfeld explains why politicians veered from skepticism of prisons to an embrace of incarceration as the appropriate response to crime To reduce the number of people behind bars Schoenfeld argues that we must transform the political incentives for imprisonment and develop a new ideological basis for punishment And the Criminals with Him Will D. Campbell, Richard C. Goode, 2012-07-20 In 1972 Will Campbell published an issue of the Committee of Southern Churchmen's journal Katallagete to shed light on the US prison system None could anticipate how the system would expand exponentially in the next four decades Today the US operates the world's largest prison system incarcerating nearly 1 in every 100 American adults How did this expansion happen What is the human toll of this retributive system How might ambassadors of reconciliation respond to such a punitive institution Replicating the firsthand nature of Will Campbell's original Katallagete collection twenty new essays pull back the veil on today's prison industrial complex The plea throughout this collection is not for some better more progressive institution to exact justice Rather the invitation is to hear from voices of experience how the system functions listen to what the institution does to those locked in its cells consider what an execution involves and most importantly contemplate the scandalous call to be in reconciled community with those whom society discards and the system silences Our story is that there are neither good nor bad people neither felon nor free world We are all one Prison Legal News, 2005 American Furies Sasha Abramsky, 2007 In this dramatic expose of US penitentiaries and the communities around them Sasha Abramsky finds that prisons have dumped their age old goal of rehabilitation often for political reasons The new ideal unknown to most Americans is a punitive mandate marked by a drive toward vengeance Surveying this state of affairs life sentences for nonviolent crimes appalling conditions the growth of private prisons the treatment of juveniles Abramsky asks Does the vengeful impulse ennoble our culture or demean it What can become of people who are quarantined for years in a violent subculture California's Three Strikes law typifies the politics that exploit the grief of victims families and our fears of violent crime Brilliantly researched and compellingly told American Furies shows that the ethos of lock em up and throw away the key has enormous social costs The most urgent book of the season Sasha Abramsky provides us with an invaluable if harrowing audit of the cataclysmic damage inflicted upon American values by American prisons The lack of compassion in our national life and the gangrened hearts of our politicians pose greater threats to our children's futures than any overseas terrorist conspiracy Mike Davis professor of history at University of California Irvine and author of seven books including Planet of Slums and The Monster At Our Door A smart compassionate and tough minded look at the rise and impact of the tough on crime culture that has made America the world's foremost jailer By showing us how we got into this mess this revelatory book also holds out hope that we might find our way out Nell Bernstein former Soros Justice Media Fellow and author of All Alone in the World Children of the Incarcerated This is by far the most intelligent and haunting indictment of the American prison system that I have ever read Sasha Abramsky has shone an incandescent lamp on a shadowy underground universe that holds and in all too many cases brutalizes the lives of more than two million Americans He should be commended for doing so and his book made required reading for every legislator in the land bar none Simon Winchester author of A Crack in the Edge of the World

A Wild Justice: The Death and Resurrection of Capital Punishment in America Evan J. Mandery, 2013-08-19 A New York Times Book Review Editors Choice Drawing on never before published original source detail the epic story of two of the most consequential and largely forgotten moments in Supreme Court history For two hundred years the constitutionality of capital punishment had been axiomatic But in 1962 Justice Arthur Goldberg and his clerk Alan Dershowitz dared to suggest otherwise launching an underfunded band of civil rights attorneys on a quixotic crusade In 1972 in a most unlikely victory the Supreme Court struck down Georgia s death penalty law in Furman v Georgia Though the decision had sharply divided the justices nearly everyone including the justices themselves believed Furman would mean the end of executions in America Instead states responded with a swift and decisive showing of support for capital punishment As anxiety about crime rose and public approval of the Supreme Court declined the stage was set in 1976 for Gregg v Georgia in which the Court dramatically reversed direction A Wild Justice is an extraordinary behind the scenes look at the Court the justices and the political complexities of one of the most racially charged and morally vexing issues of our time
