Meeting the Dietary Needs of Older Adults National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine,Health and Medicine Division,Food and Nutrition Board,2016-07-13

Older adults are a growing demographic group in the United States and a range of physical social financial and cultural factors affect their nutritional status

Metabolic and physiologic changes that accompany normal aging modify the nutritional requirements of older adults

An examination of evidence is needed to better understand how nutritional status is associated with aging and risk of mortality or chronic disease among older adults

Underpinning many if not most nutritional problems in older adults is socioeconomic status

Therefore understanding access challenges to healthy food including geographic financial and transportation barriers also is needed to better understand how to meet the nutritional needs of older adults

On October 28 29 2015 the Food and Nutrition Board convened a workshop Meeting the Dietary Needs of Older Adults in Washington DC

Participants examined factors in the physical social and cultural environment that affect the ability of older adults to meet their daily dietary needs

This report summarizes the presentations and discussions from the workshop

Faith-Based Initiatives and Aging Services James W Ellor,F. Ellen Netting,2012-12-06

Gain an understanding of the increased role religious congregations now play in providing social support to the elderly

Religious congregations and faith based organizations FBO from the Jewish Christian and Islamic traditions have worked on behalf of older adults for centuries

But the initiation of President Bush s Office of Faith Based Initiatives has raised many questions from both the traditional secular and sectarian services as well as many nontraditional services found in each community

Faith Based Initiatives and Aging Services addresses the issues of the separation of church and state the concerns involved in developing social services in religious congregations and the larger public policy implications of this office This unique book offers perspectives from traditional and nontraditional faith based groups as well as experts in volunteerism The enactment by Congress of the Charitable Choice section of the federal welfare reform law combined with the creation of the Center for Faith Based and Community Initiatives in the United States Department of Health and Human Services to signal a high level of interest in supporting faith based organizations Faith Based Initiatives and Aging Services focuses on the specific applications of services provided by religious congregations Editors F Ellen Netting and James W Ellor conducted an in depth interview with Elizabeth Seal Scott then Director of the Center for Faith Based and Community Initiatives an edited transcript of the interview is included in the book to help promote understanding of the development and implementation of faith based grass roots programs Faith Based Initiatives and Aging Services examines the separation of church and state Baptist perspectives on faith based initiatives and religious liberty managing older volunteers faith organizations and ethnically diverse elders the heritage of religion and spirituality in the field of gerontology faith related agencies and their implications for aging services the role of religious congregations in the social service system Faith Based Initiatives and Aging Services is an essential resource for anyone interested in developing programs for older adults in religious congregations for human services staffs seeking to work with faith based initiatives and for government workers in need of a better understanding of faith based services in their community Committee Prints United States. The Collective Spirit of Aging Across Cultures Halaevalu F.Ofahengaue Vakalahi,Gaynell M. Simpson,Nancy Giunta,2014-01-28 The collective inclusive and intersectional framework used in this book speaks to the significance of understanding aging across diverse cultures from multiple perspectives but still as a shared human experience The underlying message of the book is that although we are unique and different in our aging processes we are ultimately connected through this physical mental and spiritual experience of aging Thus regardless of whether we are service providers service recipients educators or merely fellow human beings it is important that we approach the aging experience through a collective lens for discovering and sharing resources as we age honoring the past while simultaneously accepting that the future is here A few select examples of key findings from this collaborative work are as follows First despite progress in the field certain issues remain to be addressed including the challenges of racism and sexism mistreatment the digital divide poverty and other social and economic crises in urban and rural communities as they relate to our aging population Second the need for sustaining a sense of independence among the aged and interdependence among supportive systems is warranted Third our elders continue to benefit from culturally competent services community based health interventions and social services that addresses normative and emerging challenges for them Fourth spirituality in both indigenous and contemporary perspectives remains important for our elders development and quality of life
