Eschatology and the Use of Psalms in Hebrews Seth Whitaker, 2025-06-12 Seth Whitaker argues that the Psalm texts function as the structural and theological backbone of Hebrews from start to finish and that few scholars have examined the use of Psalms outside of quotations or connected the author of Hebrews' use of Psalms with his broader eschatological outlook Whitaker suggests that the author's eschatology is his dominating exegetical assumption allowing numerous psalms to be read with multiple meanings Whitaker further suggests that Psalms for the author of Hebrews not only provide messianic material for his exegetical commentary but also speak to a deeper interpretive tradition that is detectable through scriptural allusions shared motifs and narrative structures Whitaker examines three passages of Hebrews 1 5 13 12 18 28 and 13 15 which correspond to three perceived gaps in scholarship the relationship between quoted texts the author's cultural encyclopedia and the function of scriptural allusions By focusing on Psalms and the eschatological nature of the author of Hebrews exegesis Whitaker concludes that readers will be better suited to situate Hebrews in relation to other Second Temple and early Jewish interpretive traditions Rashi - Linguist Despite Himself Jonathan Kearney, 2010-08-26 The commentary on the Torah of the eleventh century French rabbi Solomon Yishaqi of Troyes better known as Rashi is one of the major texts of mediaeval Judaism Rashi's commentary has enjoyed an almost canonical status among many traditional Jews from mediaeval times to the present day The popularity of his Torah commentary is often ascribed to Rashi's skillful combination of traditional midrashic interpretations of Scripture with observations on the language employed therein In this respect Rashi is often presented as a linguist or grammarian This book presents a critical reappraisal of this issue through a close reading of Rashi's commentary on the book of Deuteronomy Falling into two major sections Part One Contexts presents a theoretical framework for the detailed study in Part Two Texts which forms the main core of the book by presenting a detailed analysis of Rashi's commentary on the book of Deuteronomy Jewish Concepts of Scripture Benjamin D Sommer, 2023-11-21 What do Jews think scripture is How do the People of the Book conceive of the Book of Books In what ways is it authoritative Who has the right to interpret it Is it divinely or humanly written And have Jews always thought about the Bible in the same way In seventeen cohesive and rigorously researched essays this volume traces the way some of the most important Jewish thinkers throughout history have addressed these questions from the rabbinic era through the medieval Islamic world to modern Jewish scholarship They address why different Jewish thinkers writers and communities have turned to the Bible and what they expect to get from it Ultimately argues editor Benjamin D Sommer in understanding the ways Jews construct scripture we begin to understand the ways Jews construct themselves

The Meanings of Death in Rabbinic Judaism David Kraemer, 2002-01-04 There are many books devoted to explicating Jewish laws and customs relating to death and mourning and a wealth of studies addressing the significance of death practices around the world However never before has there been a study of the death and mourning practices of the founders of Judaism the Rabbis of late antiquity The Meanings of Death in Rabbinic Judaism fills that gap The author examines the earliest canonical texts the Mishnah the Tosefta the Midrashim and the Talmud of the Land of Israel He outlines the rituals described in these texts from preparation for death to reburial of bones and the end of mourning David Kraemer explores the relationships between the texts and interprets the rituals to uncover the beliefs which informed their foundation He discusses the material evidence preserved in the largest Jewish burial complex in antiquity the catacombs at Beth Shearim Finally the author offers an interpretation of the Rabbis' interpretations of death rituals those recorded in the Babylonian Talmud The Meanings of Death in Rabbinic Judaism provides a comprehensive and illuminating introduction to the formation practice and significance of death rituals in Rabbinic Judaism The Cambridge Companion to Judaism and Law Christine Hayes, 2017-02-17 The Cambridge Companion to Judaism and Law explores the Jewish conception of law as an essential component of the divine human relationship from biblical to modern times as well as resistance to this conceptualization It also traces the political social intellectual and cultural circumstances that spawned competing Jewish approaches to its own divine law and the non divine law of others including that of the modern secular state of Israel Part I focuses on the emergence and development of law as an essential element of religious expression in biblical Israel and classical Judaism through the medieval period Part II considers the ramifications for the law arising from political emancipation and the invention of Judaism as a religion in the modern period Finally Part III traces the historical and ideological processes leading to the current configuration of religion and state in modern Israel analysing specific conflicts between religious law and state law Representing Jewish Thought Agata Paluch, 2021-01-18 Representing Jewish Thought originated in the conference convened in honour of Professor Ada Rapoport Albert on the theme of visual representations of Jewish thought from antiquity to the early modern period The volume encompasses essays on various modes and media of transmitting and re presenting thought pertinent to Jewish past and present It explores several approaches to the study of the transmission of ideas in historical sources zooming in on textual and visual hermeneutics to material and textual culture to performative arts The volume has brought together scholars from different subfields of Jewish Studies covering thousands of years of Jewish history who invite further scholarly reflection on the expression transmission and organisation of knowledge in Jewish contexts
