Robert A. Prentky, Howard E. Barbaree, Eric S. Janus, 2015-06-26 Convicted sex offenders released from custody at the end of their criminal sentences pose a risk for re offense In many US states Sexually Violent Predator SVP laws have been enacted that allow for the post prison preventive detention of high risk sex offenders SVP laws require the courts to make dispositions that protect the public from harm while at the same time respecting the civil rights of the offender This book describes these SVP laws their constitutionality and aspects of their operation Courts hear expert risk testimony based heavily on the results of actuarial risk assessment Problems associated with this testimony include the lack of a theory of recidivism risk bias due to human decision making and the insularity of scholarship and practice along developmental lines The authors propose changes in legal standards as well as a unified developmental model that treats sexual violence as an evolving condition with roots traceable to childhood and paths that extend into adolescence and adulthood      Innovations and Advancements in Sex Offender Research Wesley Jennings, 2016-04-14 This book provides a comprehensive dissemination of theoretically grounded and empirically sound research on sex offenders and sex offending It uses diverse methodological approaches with implications for the research of criminal justice policy and practice The chapters derive from and focus on different geographical contexts and generate empirical evidence concerning sex offenders and sex offending including low sex recidivism rates a lack of sex offender specialization little to no evidence of sex offending continuity from adolescence to adulthood and a host of collateral consequences of sex offender registration and notification policies with limited deterrent effect or public safety benefit This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Crime Justice      Scoring the Risk for Sexual Violence Protocol (RSVP) Pamela Marie Yates, Drew A. Kingston, 2007      Physical Abusers and Sexual Offenders Scott Allen Johnson, 2006-07-13 Until recently professionals in both investigation and treatment have considered the fields of sexual violence and domestic abuse as separate and distinct Numerous studies have shown however that these fields may not be so neatly pigeonholed as once believed Statistics indicate that there is an overlap in both the level and type of violence exp      Sexual Offending Amy Phenix, Harry M. Hoberman, 2015-12-07 This expert reference provides a broad comprehensive review of the major domains of sexual offending Beginning with an integrated etiological model of sexual offending chapters follow addressing the primary predisposing conditions related to sexual offending e g pedophilic hebephilic paraphilic rape and non contact paraphilic disorders hyper sexuality and personality factors In addition special subgroups of sexual offenders females youth and the intellectually disable are considered Both broad and specific perspectives on the assessment of sexual offenders are provided Overviews are offered of clinical and forensic evaluations of such offenders and the utility of structured psychological assessment A novel conceptual model of risk assessment is proposed More specifically each of the primary approaches or instruments related to risk assessment of sexual offending are addressed the Static risk assessment measures the Sex Offender Risk Appraisal Guide structured professional judgment and the varied measures of dynamic or criminogenic needs assessment Finally multiple aspects of management of sexual offenders are discussed including models of psychosocial treatment the question of the effectiveness of such treatment biological interventions civil commitment circles of support and the containment approach to community management Chapters are authored by both prominent experts and experienced professionals for a breadth of perspective Among the topics covered Pedophilic Hebephilic Rape Paraphilic Disorders and the variety of Non Contact sexual offending conditions Personality related conditions their association with sexual offending motivators and disinhibition in context Disorders of hyper sexuality Assessments of sexual offenders including the role of psychological testing clinical interview approaches as well as forensic evaluations Conceptual models of risk assessment discussion of specific static dynamic structured clinical risk assessment approaches Models of reviews of treatment outcome with sexual offenders including psychotherapy psychopharmacology and castration the containment approach civil commitment circles of support Overview of public policy issues an evidence based perspective on sex offender registration and residential restrictions This breadth of material in Sexual Offenders will help practitioners gain multiple levels of clinical insight as well as giving them up to date practical tools and techniques for working with this problematic class of individuals

Sexual Violence Elizabeth L. Jeglic, Cynthia Calkins, 2016-10-24 The purpose of this edited volume is to examine the disconnect in the sexual violence prevention field between legislation research and practice The work is focused primarily on United States policies and initiatives with key case studies internationally Contributions show that current policies are mainly based on repeat offenders residence restrictions registration and notification statutes and post sentence initiatives While these initiatives address public fears they are not evidence based and do not necessarily reduce offending Research shows that post sentence policies may destabilize offenders and limit their ability to reintegrate with society at a critical period therefore increasing the chances of recidivism Furthermore the majority of sex crimes 95% are committed by first time offenders This innovative book is divided into two parts juxtaposing what is currently being done legislatively with what the research evidence suggests would be best practice
